Hezel,2011-09-30 Summoning the Powers Beyond collects and reconstructs the old religions of preindustrial Micronesia It draws mostly from written sources from the turn of the nineteenth century and the period immediately after World War II reports of the Hamburg South Sea Expedition of 1908 1910 articles by German Roman Catholic missionaries in Micronesia included in the journal Anthropos and reports by the Coordinated Investigation of Micronesian Anthropology CIMA and the American Board of Commissioners of the Foreign Missions ABCFM A detailed introduction and an overview of Micronesian religion are followed by separate chapters detailing religion in the Chuukic speaking islands Pohnpei Kosrae the Marshall Islands Yap Palau Kiribati and Nauru The Chamorro speaking group of the Marianas is omitted because lengthy periods of intense military and missionary activity eradicated most of the local religion The Polynesian outliers Nukuoro and Kapingamarangi are discussed at the end primarily to underscore the contrasts between Polynesian and Micronesian religion In a concluding chapter the author highlights the similarities and differences between the areas within Micronesia and then attempts an appreciation or evaluation of Micronesia religion Finally he addresses the evidence of a tentative hypothesis that Micronesian religion is sufficiently different from that of Polynesia and Melanesia to justify the continued claim of a separate Micronesian religion Micronesian Legends Bo Flood,Beret E. Images of the Wildman in Southeast Asia Gregory Forth,2008-12-10 The book examines wildmen images of hairy humanlike creatures known to rural villagers and other local people in Southeast Asia and elsewhere Sometimes described in considerable detail the creatures are reported as still living or as having survived until recent times The aim of the book is to discover the source of these representations and their status in local systems of knowledge partly in relation to distinct categories of spiritual beings known animals and other human groups It explores images of the wildman from throughout Southeast Asia focusing in particular on the Indonesian islands and beyond including the Asian mainland Africa North America Africa Australia and Oceania The book reveals how in Southeast Asia and elsewhere wildmen cannot readily be explained as imaginary constructs rooted in cultural values and social institutions nor as simply another kind of spirit Also critically examined is a view of such figures as fundamentally similar expressions of a pan human mental archetype Forth concludes that many Asian and African figures are grounded in experience or memories of anthropoid apes supplemented by encounters with ethnic others Representations developed among European immigrants including the North American sasquatch are in part similarly traceable to an indirect knowledge of primates informed by long standing European representations of hairy humans that have coloured western views of non western peoples and which may themselves originate in ancient experience of apes At the same time the book demonstrates how Indonesian and other Malayo Polynesian images cannot be explained in the same way and explores the possibility of these reflecting an ancient experience of non sapiens hominins

Monsters David D. Gilmore,2012-05-26 The human mind needs monsters In every culture and in every epoch in human history from ancient Egypt to modern Hollywood imaginary beings have haunted dreams and fantasies provoking in young and old shivers of delight thrills of terror and endless fascination All known folklores brim with visions of looming and ferocious monsters often in the role as adversaries to great heroes But while heroes have been closely studied by mythologists monsters have been neglected even though they are equally important as pan human symbols and reveal similar insights into ways the mind works In Monsters Evil Beings Mythical Beasts and All Manner of Imaginary Terrors anthropologist David D Gilmore explores what human traits monsters represent and why they are so ubiquitous in people s imaginations and share so many features across different cultures Using colorful and absorbing evidence from virtually all times and places Monsters is the first attempt by an anthropologist to delve into the mysterious frightful abyss of mythical beasts and to interpret their role in the psyche and in society After many hair raising descriptions of monstrous beings in art folktales fantasy literature and community ritual including such avatars as Dracula and Frankenstein Hollywood ghouls and extraterrestrials Gilmore identifies many common denominators and proposes some novel interpretations Monsters according to Gilmore are always enormous man eating gratuitously violent aggressive sexually sadistic and superhuman in power combining our worst nightmares and our most urgent fantasies We both abhor and worship our monsters they are our gods as well as our demons Gilmore argues that the immortal monster of the mind is a complex creation embodying virtually all of the inner conflicts that make us human Far from being something alien nonhuman and outside us our monsters are our deepest selves
