The Seedtime, the Work, and the Harvest Jeffrey L. Littlejohn, Reginald K. Ellis, Peter B. Levy, 2019-10-07 This volume's contributors expand the chronology and geography of the black freedom struggle beyond the traditional emphasis on the Jim Crow South and the years between 1954 and 1968. Beginning as far back as the nineteenth century and analyzing case studies from southern, northern, and border states, the essays in The Seedtime, the Work, and the Harvest incorporate communities and topics not usually linked to the African American civil rights movement. The collection opens with a biographical sketch of Thomas DeSaile Tucker, an educational pioneer who served as the first president of Florida State Normal and Industrial School for Colored Students. It then highlights the work of black women, including Bostonian publisher Josephine St. Pierre Ruffin, who defied local governments during the Progressive Era by disseminating medical information and providing access to medical professionals. Next, the collection explores the life and work of Norfolk civil rights attorney James F. Gay, who helped to democratize the political establishment in Virginia's largest city but became a victim of his own success. The collection then moves to York, Pennsylvania, to examine a 1969 riot that went mostly unnoticed until the town's mayor was charged more than thirty years later with the riot-related murder of Lillie Belle Allen. Also featured is an essay examining the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee's Food for Freedom campaign that aimed to complement voter registration work in Mississippi by providing everyday sustenance to African Americans. Addressing more recent issues, this volume considers the politics of public memory in Baltimore, Maryland, a city divided by racial riots in 1968 and in 2015. It then examines the Black Lives Matter movement that gained international attention for its response to Michael Brown's death at the hands of police in Ferguson, Missouri, as well as the Sandra Bland Movement inspired by the arrest of Bland and her subsequent death in the Waller County jail in rural Texas. These chapters connect the activism of today, shaped in so many ways by social media, student activism, and grassroots organization to a deeply historical, wide-ranging fight for equality.

Power, Patronage, and Memory in Early Islam Alain George, Andrew Marsham, 2018 When the Umayyads the first Islamic dynasty rose to power shortly after the death of the Prophet Muhammad d 632 the polity of which they assumed control had only recently expanded out of Arabia into the Roman eastern Mediterranean Iraq and Iran A century later by the time of their downfall in 750 the last Umayyad caliphs governed the largest empire that the world had seen stretching from Spain in the West to the Indus valley and Central Asia in the East By then their dynasty and the ruling circles around it had articulated with increasing clarity the public face of the new monotheistic religion of Islam created major masterpieces of world art and architecture some of which still stand today and built a state apparatus that was crucial to ensuring the continuity of the Islamic polity Within the vast lands under their control the Umayyads and their allies ruled over a mosaic of peoples languages and faiths first among them Christianity Judaism and the Ancient religion of Iran Zoroastrianism The Umayyad period is profoundly different from ours yet it also resonates with modern concerns from the origins of Islam to dynamics of cultural exchange Editors Alain George and Andrew Marsham bring together a collection of essays that shed new light on this crucial period Power Patronage and Memory in Early Islam elucidates the ways in which Umayyad elites fashioned and projected their self image and how these articulations in turn mirrored their own times The authors combining perspectives from different disciplines present new material evidence introduce fresh perspectives about key themes and monuments and revisit the nature of the historical writing that shaped our knowledge of this period Learning and Memory
