Golden Age In the period 1916-1966 during its so called Golden Age Hollywood developed a passion for the ancient world and produced many epic movie blockbusters. The studios used every device they could find to wow audiences with the spectacle of antiquity. In this unique study Lloyd Llewellyn Jones shows how Hollywood carefully and skilfully created the popular modern perception of the ancient world. He analyses how producers, art directors, costumiers, publicity agents, movie stars and inevitably a cast of thousands literally designed and crafted the ancient world from scratch. This lively book offers a technical as well as a theoretical guide to a much neglected area of film studies and reception studies that will appeal to anyone working in these disciplines. Key Features Lavishly illustrated with film stills and examples of rare and fascinating marketing material. Explores the archaeology of stardom, examining the onscreen and offscreen images of Elizabeth Taylor, Charlton Heston and Rita Hayworth. Includes a filmography, chronological outline and study aids.

Visualizing Law and Authority Leif Dahlberg, 2012-12-06 The volume Visualizing Law and Authority: Essays on Legal Aesthetics brings together revised papers from the international conference Law and the Image held in Stockholm 24-25 September 2010. The participants/contributors belong to the disciplines of Art history, Cultural studies, Literary and Media studies and Law. The contributions discuss the complex relations between law, media and visual phenomena. The common theme of the essays consists in an examination of the scopic field and of regimes of visibility in phenomenological terms, arguing that law constitutes a cognitive and aesthetic field of normative world-making. Rather than merely inverting Shelley's dictum that the poets are the unacknowledged legislators of the world, the essays argue in different ways for the necessity to develop a legal aesthetics. The most immediate way of pursuing such a legal aesthetics consists in examining law itself as an aesthetic object. For instance, the power of law to produce icons in the sense of unreadable texts or textiles. Martin Kayman, Gary Watt. Several essays focus on the way that visual art and media can be used to constitute and represent political power, but also to question it and to put it into question. Chiara Battisti, Leif Dahlberg, Elina Druker, Sidia Fiorato, Paul Raffield. Other essays investigate legal structures inherent in the artwork and the artworld itself. Ari Hirvonen, Max Liljefors, Christine Poggi, Karen Margrethe Simonsen. Finally, there are two essays focusing on the use of images and imagery in the legal process, explicitly arguing for the need of a legal aesthetics. Daniela Carpi, Richard Sherwin. Although diverse, the individual essays are interconnected with each other in fruitful and critical ways, making both explicit and implicit references to each other.

Containment Culture Alan Nadel, 1995-11-20

Alan Nadel provides a unique analysis of the rise of American postmodernism by viewing it as a breakdown in Cold War cultural narratives of containment. These narratives, which embodied an American postwar foreign policy charged with checking the spread of Communism, also operated within a wide spectrum of cultural life in the United States to contain atomic secrets, sexual license, gender roles, nuclear energy, and artistic expression. Because these narratives were deployed in films, books, and magazines at a time when American culture was for the first time able to dominate global entertainment and capitalize on global production, containment became one of the most widely disseminated and highly privileged national narratives in history.

Examining a broad sweep of American culture from the work of George Kennan to Playboy Magazine from the movies of Doris Day and Walt Disney to those of Cecil B. DeMille and Alfred Hitchcock from James Bond to Holden Caulfield, Nadel discloses the remarkable pervasiveness of the containment narrative. Drawing subtly on insights provided by contemporary theorists including Baudrillard, Foucault, Jameson, Sedgwick, Certeau, and Hayden White, he situates the rhetoric of the Cold War within a gendered narrative powered by the unspoken potency of the atom. He then traces the breakdown of this discourse of containment through such events as the Bay of Pigs invasion and the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley and ties its collapse to the onset of American postmodernism typified by works such as Catch 22 and The Man Who Shot Liberty Valence.

An important work of cultural criticism, Containment Culture links atomic power with postmodernism and postwar politics and shows how a multifarious national policy can become part of a nation's cultural agenda and a source of meaning for its citizenry.
