The Cutting-Off Way Wayne E. Lee, 2023-08-10 Incorporating archeology anthropology cartography and Indigenous studies into military history Wayne E Lee has argued throughout his distinguished career that wars and warfare cannot be understood by a focus that rests solely on logistics strategy and operations Fighting forces bring their own cultural traditions and values onto the battlefield In this volume Lee employs his cutting off way of war COWW paradigm to recast Indigenous warfare in a framework of the lived realities of Native people rather than with regard to European and settler military strategies and practices Indigenous people lacked deep reserves of population or systems of coercive military recruitment and as such were wary of heavy casualties Instead Indigenous warriors sought to surprise their targets and the size of the target varied with the size of the attacking force A small war party might cut off individuals found getting water wood or out hunting while a larger party might attempt to attack a whole town Once revealed by its attack the invading war party would flee before the defenders reinforcements from nearby towns could organize Sieges or battles were rare and fought mainly to save face or reputation After discussing the COWW paradigm including a deep look at Native logistics and their associated strategic flexibility Lee demonstrates how the system worked and evolved in five subsequent chapters that detail intra tribal and Indigenous colonial warfare from pre contact through the American Revolution
