Money Laundering Counter-measures in the European Union Valsamis Mitsilegas, 2003-01-01 The past fifteen years witnessed the emergence globally of a plethora of legislative measures aimed at countering money laundering These developments have been inextricably linked with the growing international focus on newly perceived and or prioritised global security threats such as organised crime and terrorism with money laundering counter measures deemed essential to counter these threats Taking these developments into account this book examines in detail the evolution and content of money laundering counter measures in the European Union These measures constitute a new paradigm of security governance achieved through three principal methods criminalisation consisting in the emergence of new criminal offences responsabilisation consisting in the mobilisation of the private sector to co operate with the authorities in the fight against money laundering and the emphasis on the administration of knowledge through the establishment of new institutions the financial intelligence units with extensive powers to administer a wide range of information provided by the private sector This paradigm may pose significant challenges to fundamental legal principles and to well established social structures and the book attempts to address this balance This up to date analysis includes the provisions of the new EU money laundering Directive which was formally adopted in December 2001

The Transformation of Intergovernmental Satellite Organisations Patricia McCormick, Maury J. Mechanick, 2013-10-10 The Transformation of Intergovernmental Satellite Organisations Policy and Legal Perspectives offers a multifaceted analysis of the complex policy and legal issues associated with the privatisation or restructuring of the world's preeminent intergovernmental satellite organisations INTELSAT INMARSAT and EUTELSAT Maury Mechanick Christian Roisse and David Sagar each of whom were directly involved in these undertakings provide a unique perspective on the critical issues involved while Frans von der Dunk and Patricia McCormick offer a broader contextual assessment of their significance The contributors insights regarding the restructuring of these satellite organisations and the intergovernmental organisations which oversee public services represent valuable reflections on those developments as well as on changes occurring following privatisation regarding those entities ownership profiles and service provisions

State Measures Distorting Free Competition in the EC Carl Michael Quitzow, 2001-08-15 This study deals with issues of particular importance in the EMU perspective State measures may occur in the sense that they exclude market access for opt out state economic operators and preventing them from competing with domestic economic operators i e restrictions on free movement After the removal of such barriers there might still be state measures that may negatively affect competition within the common market Such distortions of competition may occur due to differences between national legislation or other forms of state intervention on the market They affect the prerequisites for the carrying out of economic activities and may often result in the fact that out of state economic operators have to work in a market where a domestic competitor has notable advantages due to support by authorities legislation or economic support This may threaten the efficiency and proper functioning of the EMU The remaining question is how such distortions can be dealt with Which distortions are to be regarded as serious threats against the market integration and must be removed Which priorities have to be made The study aims at giving possible solutions to the above mentioned issues thus contributing to a field which as yet has only been examined by legal scholars to a minor extent A New Force at a New Frontier Kevin Madders,2006-11-02 This book will provide a comprehensive source of information for space specialists and others having a close interest in European space affairs Written by an acknowledged expert and former space agency official the work opens up a vital component of Europe s technostucture and the world s space programs Its mass of information will serve the insider as a handy reference while its lively analysis will assist public judgment of European space efforts The book first explores the Space Age s origins and Europe s response up to the 1970s It then devotes its bulk to the present scene by investigating ESA Eutelsat Arianespace Eumetsat ASTRA national agencies and other bodies How this scene works what has been achieved how space technology is made and used and how policy is formed are main concerns but of interest too are various crises including recently Europe s man in space program The book identifies challenges for the space community business and the EU and how they may be met Wiring Europe Giorgio Natalicchi,2001 Involving both integration and liberalization the state of telecommunications in Europe has undergone radical change in the past few years Natalicchi political science U of Florence Italy examines the external and internal forces of change originating from international national and European Union levels He argues that the EU is a polycentric and multilayered polity and that multiple mechanisms determine integrative steps and policy outcomes Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR European Transport and Communication Networks David Banister,Roberta Capello,Peter Nijkamp,1995-12-12 Europe is undergoing fundamental change as barriers and borders are broken down as new technologies are introduced and as the European Union expands This study provides an overview of the present state of affairs It has been written for a non technical market and covers spatial economic telecommunications and political issues The theoretical material is illustrated with individual case studies from a variety of European countries Diversity in Secondary Rules and the Unity of International Law K. C. Wellens,L.A.N.M. Barnhoorn,2023-11-27 This book is a direct result of the publication of the 1994 Netherlands Yearbook of International Law published in 1995 It was decided that the publication of the 25th Yearbook should be marked by a special volume written by current and former members of the Board of Editors omitting the usual documentation sections The central theme of this special volume is whether the secondary rules form a potential risk constituting a threat to the global unity and efficacy of the international legal order As many fields of international law as possible have been included diplomatic law the law of war human rights environmental law and the law of international organizations e g GATT WTO and the European Communities The research methods used are presented in an introductory paper and results and conclusions are provided The UN legal system is also accorded its rightful place in the research
