Mother In and French Literature:

The Mother in/and French Literature ,2021-11-22 The essays in this volume investigate maternity and the figure of the mother in French literature from France Switzerland Quebec and Africa from the seventeenth century to the present Drawing on cultural history psychoanalysis and feminist theory as well as more traditional methods they present maternity as a source of frustration and of joy mothers as repressed and revered daughters as wounded and loving sons as domineering and dependent Indeed few things are simple where mothers and especially where writing about mothers are concerned

Mother's Milk and Male Fantasy in Nineteenth-Century French Narrative Lisa Algazi Marcus,2022-05-13 Should all mothers breast feed their children This question remains controversial in the twenty first century In an interview with the newspaper Liberation in 2010 feminist philosopher Elisabeth Badinter claimed that the pressure to breast feed signified a reduction of woman to the status of an animal species as though we were all female chimpanzees The debate over maternal nursing held even more urgency before pasteurization provided a safe alternative in the early 1900s While scholars of literary criticism and art history have described the abundance of breast feeding imagery following the publication of Rousseau's Emile in 1762 little has been written on its manifestations in the nineteenth century Despite an ongoing propaganda campaign to encourage mothers to nurse reflected in such diverse sources as medical theses paintings and fictional cautionary tales French mothers continued to entrust their infants to wet nurses more often and for longer than was the norm in other European countries throughout the nineteenth century and well into the twentieth This book examines representations of breast feeding in French literature and culture from 1800 to 1900 and their apparent dissonance with the socio historical realities of French mothers
