Performing Unification Matt Cornish, 2019-07-08 Since the moment after the fall of the Berlin Wall important German theater artists have created plays and productions about unification Some have challenged how German history is written while others opposed the very act of storytelling Performing Unification examines how directors playwrights and theater groups including Heiner Müller Frank Castorf and Rimini Protokoll have represented and misrepresented the past confronting their nation's history and collective identity Matt Cornish surveys German language history plays from the Baroque period through the documentary theater movement of the 1960s to show how German identity has always been contested then turns to performances of unification after 1989 Cornish argues that theater in its structures and its live gestures on pages stages and streets helps us to understand the past and its effect on us our relationships with others in our communities and our futures Engaging with theater theory from Aristotle through Bertolt Brecht and Hans Thies Lehmann's postdramatic theater and with theories of history from Hegel to Walter

Benjamin and Hayden White Performing Unification demonstrates that historiography and dramaturgy are intertwined
