Moving Target What Every Marketer Should Know About Women:

The Moving Target Rena Bartos, 1982 Marketing and Feminism Miriam Catterall, Pauline Maclaran, Lorna Stevens, 2013-11-05 This cutting edge innovative volume offers the best of current scholarship on feminist perspectives in marketing Through many exciting and often controversial discussions it highlights and challenges assumptions about women and gender in marketing theory and practice from both historical and current contexts Key issues and debates include the dark side of female consumption women and marketing in Socialist economies women and advertising ecofeminism and marketing gender marketing and cultural diversity marketing sex and sexuality Written by internationally recognised experts in marketing and feminism this book makes a unique contribution to marketing scholarship Defining Women Julie D'Acci, 2000-11-09 Defining Women explores the social and cultural construction of gender and the meanings of woman women and femininity as they were negotiated in the pioneering television series Cagney and Lacey starring two women as New York City police detectives Julie D Acci illuminates the tensions between the television industry the series production team the mainstream and feminist press various interest groups and television viewers over competing notions of what women could or could not be not only on television but in society at large Cagney and Lacey which aired from 1981 to 1988 was widely recognized as an innovative treatment of working women and developed a large and loyal following While researching this book D Acci had unprecedented access to the set to production meetings and to the complete production files including correspondence from network executives publicity firms and thousands of viewers She traces the often heated debates surrounding the development of women characters and the representation of feminism on prime time television shows how the series was reconfigured as a woman s program and investigates questions of female spectatorship and feminist readings Although she focuses on Cagney and Lacey D Acci discusses many other examples from the history of American television Feminists, Feminisms, and Advertising Kim Golombisky, Peggy J. Kreshel, 2017-10-16 Women and advertising are both globally ubiquitous Yet advertising remains one of the most unabashedly misogynist heterosexist and racist industries This edited volume of original unpublished chapters is the first ever to offer explicitly feminist views on advertising Feminists Feminisms and Advertising provides feminist analyses of the historical relationships between the advertising industry and the women s movement in the United States Contributors consider the ways that advertisers encode race ethnicity gender and heteronormativity into advertising practices and messages exported around the world They further explore the ways that intersectional audiences such as women of color Latinas and lesbian and gay audiences decode reinterpret resist and subvert advertising With this book the editors and contributors address the present lack of feminist scholarship research knowledge or curriculum in advertising and begin a more honest dialogue about diversity and intersectional gender in the advertising academy as well as the advertising industry Living Room Wars Ien Ang, 2006-07-13 Living Room Wars brings together Ien Ang s recent writings on television audiences and in response to recent criticisms of cultural studies argues that it is possible to study audience pleasures and popular television in a way that is not naively populist Ang examines how the makers and marketers of television attempt to mould their audience and looks at the often unexpected ways in which the viewers actively engage with the programmes they watch Living Room Wars highlights the inherent contradictions of a politics of pleasure of television consumption Ang moves beyond the traditional focus on textual meanings to explore the structural and historical representations of television audiences as an integral part of modern culture Her wide ranging and illuminating discussion takes in the battle between television and its audiences the politics of empirical audience research new technologies and the tactics of television consumption ethnography and radical contextualism in audience studies television fiction and women's fantasy feminist desire and female pleasure in media consumption and the transnational media system

TV Family Values Alice Leppert, 2019-03-15 During the 1980s US television experienced a reinvigoration of the family sitcom genre In TV Family Values Alice Leppert focuses on the impact the decade's television shows had on middle class family structure These sitcoms sought to appeal to upwardly mobile career women and were often structured around non nuclear families and the reorganization of housework Drawing on Foucauldian and feminist theories Leppert examines the nature of sitcoms such as Full House Family Ties Growing Pains The Cosby Show and Who's the Boss against the backdrop of a time period generally remembered as socially conservative and obsessed with traditional family values
