Depner,2012-12-06 What regulation shall we have for the operation Shall a man transfuse he knows not what to correct he knows not what God knows how l Dr Henry Stubbs Royal College of Physicians circa 1670 If dialysis therapy were a new pharmaceutical product being evaluated by the FDA now it might not be approved for marketing The recommended dose its potential toxicity the side effects of under or over dialysis as well as its efficacy have been the subject of very few studies The high mortality rate associated with the treatment may raise a few eyebrows That it is a life saving modality of treatment is undoubtedly true for more than 100 000 patients in the United States and for more than a million patients world wide Because dialysis has extended the lives of many people by a variable period of time most nephrologists have rested on their laurels and did not vigorously pursue studies to optimize these treatments But facts have a way of intruding in all our lives and the facts are that the overall mortality rate of dialysis patients in the United States is rising and stands close to 25% per year and is closer to 33% per year for patients between the ages of 65 and 74 2 These mortality figures are considerably higher for age adjusted dialysis populations in Europe and particularly in Japan and certainly for the age adjusted nonnal population      Cardiovascular Disorders in Hemodialysis Claudio Ronco,Alessandra Brendolan,Nathan W.

Levin,2005-01-01 Hemodialysis therapy has become a well established form of renal replacement and due to continuous improvements in technology a series of new biomaterials and techniques for the clinical routine have been developed Nevertheless cardiovascular disorders in hemodialysis and uremia represent one of the most important aspects of modern nephrological care This publication is therefore dedicated to cardiovascular risk factors the role of the endothelium problems related to mineral disorders and finally to the possible impact of new technologies on the final outcome in hemodialysis Being a state of the art appraisal of today's technology and current issues in hemodialysis with special regard to cardiovascular disorders and risk factors this book is a synthesis between an educational effort aimed at the newer generations of physicians and nurses in the field of hemodialysis and a state of the art description of the most advanced technologies in this field At the same time the lessons learned from large international trials either already completed or to be completed in the years to come are presented      Hemodialysis Technology C. Ronco,Claudio Ronco,G. La Greca,2002-07 This publication is a collection of the papers presented at the First International Course on Hemodialysis Technology Vicenza June 2002 It covers a wide range of topics including aspects of vascular access and new forms of monitoring access function Moreover anticoagulation strategies and antimicrobial treatment are debated with special emphasis on temporary catheters and prosthetic devices Membrane composition and structure their methods of sterilization and performance are discussed by experts and manufacturers bringing together in a unique way science theory and manufacturing procedures The same synthesis is achieved with respect to hemodialyzers adsorbent devices dialysis techniques and machines A new issue is the possibility of computer assisted data collection and management This subject is discussed by experts in electronic data management together with managers of large dialysis networks concentrating on matters of quality assurance and continuous quality improvement programs Special attention is given to dialysate and water purity since this is the starting point for newer dialytic techniques such as online hemodiafiltration Moreover the results obtained from the IDOPPS study are incorporated into the discussion of different practice patterns and anemia management Finally future trends are explored including automatic sensors and biofeedback monitors Covering various aspects of hemodialysis technology this book will be a helpful tool for physicians and nurses both for education and information
