The Sociology of Community Connections John G. Bruhn,2011-07-18 Many of our current social problems have been attributed to the breakdown or loss of community as a place and to the fragmentation of connections due to an extreme value of individualism in the Western world particularly in the United States Not all scholars and researchers agree that individualism and technology are the primary culprits in the loss of community as it existed in the middle decade of the 20th century Nonetheless people exist in groups and connections are vital to their existence and in the daily performance of activities The second edition of the Sociology of Community Connections will identify and help students understand community connectedness in the present and future

British-born Black African Youth and Educational Social Capital Alganesh Messele,2020-11-29 This book examines the extent to which British born Black African youth have access to opportunities and support during their pre school primary school and secondary school years Through the voice of British born Black African youth this book explores why and how some racial ethnic and linguistic minority students fail academically while students from other linguistic minorities excel despite coming from similar socio economic backgrounds Drawing on interpretive qualitative research analysis the author demonstrates the racial dimension of social capital in education that challenges the traditional social capital theory which recodes structural notions of racial inequality as primarily cultural social and human capital processes and interactions In contrast to the focus on achievement gaps the concept of opportunity gaps shows how and why language policies have shaped the educational experiences and outcomes of linguistic minority students This book will be of interest to policy makers practitioners and scholars of Multicultural Education Black and African Diaspora Studies and Educational Sociology
