Lanzinha,Jianhui Hu,2023-12-15 All of us are dependent on a built environment constructed and maintained by civil and hydraulic engineers and for those working in these fields keeping up to date with the latest technological developments is vital for the safe and efficient design and operation of this infrastructure This book presents the proceedings of HCET 2023 the 8th International Technical Conference on Frontiers of Hydraulic and Civil Engineering Technology held from 25 27 September 2023 in Wuhan China HCET is an international conference which aims to enhance the development of hydraulic and civil engineering in China with a focus on high end intelligent and green technologies It seeks to do this by consolidating global wisdom and achievements and providing scientific support HCET also offers an excellent opportunity for scientists researchers and engineers from around the world to exchange their findings and discuss developments establishing a basis for national and international collaboration A total of 316 contributions were received for the 2023 edition of which 187 were ultimately accepted after a rigorous review process and checks for quality and plagiarism Topics covered include the research and development of concrete structure design and analysis structural mechanics and structural engineering building and future materials hydraulic engineering geological exploration and earthquake engineering building technology urban planning road bridge and traffic engineering energy infrastructure environmental engineering and advanced engineering technologies and interdisciplinary sciences and applications Covering a wide range of subjects related to hydraulic engineering and civil engineering technology and associated transdisciplinary sciences the book will be of interest to all those working in the field On the Feasibility of TBM Drives in Squeezing Ground and the Risk of Shield Jamming Marco Ramoni,2010 Squeezing ground represents a challenging operating environment as it may slow down or obstruct TBM operation Due to the geometrical constraints of the equipment relatively small convergences of 10 20 cm may lead to considerable difficulties in the machine area sticking of the cutter head jamming of the shield or in the back up area e g jamming of the back up equipment inadmissible convergences of the bored profile damage to the tunnel support Depending on the number and the length of the critical stretches squeezing conditions may even call into question the feasibility of a TBM drive On account of this and bearing in mind the steady increase in the number of tunnels excavated with TBMs through so called difficult ground conditions the topic investigated in this PhD thesis is of great practical relevance Based upon case histories reported in the literature Part I sets out firstly to give an overview of the specific problems of TBM tunnelling under squeezing conditions Part II presents a computational model which simulates accurately and efficiently the advancing TBM and the installed tunnel support in one single computational step applying the so called steady state method Part III advances a number of theory based decision aids which will support rapid initial assessments to be made of thrust force requirements Part IV investigates the complex problem of the interaction between the advancing TBM the consolidating ground and the lining Emphasis is thereby placed on the effect of the gross advance rate and the effect of ground permeability on shield loading during regular TBM operation the boring process including short standstills and during a long standstill
