Rolling Back The Market Hc:

The Automotive Gray Market John B. Hege, 2022-04-05 In the 1970s as car enthusiasts in the U S grew bored with models manufactured under tightening pollution and safety regulations some innovative dealers exploited a legal loophole designed to allow U S soldiers and diplomats to return from abroad with their vehicles to import exotic cars never intended for sale in America During the 1980s a rise in the value of the dollar made car shopping in Europe a bargain hunter s dream A network of unauthorized gray market importers and conversion shops emerged bypassing factory channels and retrofitting cars to meet U S regulations and emission standards at least in theory These cars had to pass through U S customs a system equipped to handle only a few independent imports annually As applications ballooned the regulatory system collapsed This is the story of a misunderstood but fascinating period in the automotive industry when creative importers found ways to put American motorists in new Ferraris while the EPA and DOT were backed up with mounds of paperwork Global Instability S. McBride, L. Dobuzinskis, Marjorie Griffin Cohen, J. Busumtwi-Sam, 2002-12-31 Global Instability Uncertainty and New Visions in Political Economy presents a series of papers that address the political consequences of globalization for states and their populations while exploring the issue of alternatives to the model of globalization we are presently experiencing The focus moves from the world of international agreements to the national and sub national dilemmas that are posed by attempting to manage a set of global developments within a given territory The initial chapter by Daniel Drache explores a still born post war international organization the International Trade Organization that offers a different vision of how a globally integrated economy might operate A number of papers then explore the challenges posed by today s globalization including currency instability in an environment of financial deregulation the rights conferred on investors by the North American Free Trade Agreement and the progressive liberalization of trade in services built into the General Agreement on Trade in Services National Roll Back Malaria Strategy, 2000-2005, Zambia Zambia, 2000 The New Political Economy of Disability Georgia van Toorn, 2021-02-22 This book addresses the ways in which individualised market based models of disability support provision have been mobilised in and across different countries through cross national investigation of individualised funding IF as an object of neoliberal policy mobility Combining rich theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives with extensive empirical research the book provides a timely examination of the policy processes and mechanisms driving the spread of IF amongst countries at the forefront of disability policy reform It is argued that IF s mobility is not attributable to neoliberalism alone but to the complex intersections between neoliberal and emancipatory agendas and to the transnational networks that have blended the two agendas in new ways in different institutional contexts The book shows how disability rights struggles have synchronised with neoliberal agendas which explains IF s propensity to move and mutate between different jurisdictions Featuring first hand accounts of the activists and advocates engaged in these struggles the book illuminates the consequences and risks of the dangerous liaisons and political trade offs that seemed necessary to get individualised funding on the policy agenda for disabled people It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in disability studies social policy sociology and political science more generally Institutional Barriers to Sustainable Transport Carey Curtis,Nicholas Low,2016-06-03 In a world seeking to tackle global environmental problems such as climate change the importance of local and national institutional change to deal most effectively with these issues is critical This book presents an investigation of the institutional barriers preventing the development of a new vision for urban transport compatible with these realities and in those terms sustainable Through an examination of transport planning in Australia the book challenges conventional wisdom by showing through original research how car dependence is as much an institutional as a technical phenomenon The authors case studies in three metropolitan cities show how transport policy has become institutionally fixated on a path dominated by private road based transport and how policy systems become encrusted around investment to accommodate private cars erecting an impenetrable barrier against more sustainable mobility and accessibility solutions Representing a new approach to understanding transport policy this book brings sophisticated political institutional analysis to what has traditionally been the domain of engineering and technology The authors connect the empirical content to this theory and the issue of sustainability making the findings applicable to most cities of the developed world and to fields beyond transport planning A strategy and program of action is outlined to take advantage of changing public perceptions and aimed at creating a new vision for urban transport Shoe and Leather Reporter ,1879 Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis ,1985-07 International Responses to Issues of Credit and Over-indebtedness in the Wake of Crisis Therese Wilson,2016-04-22 This book explores the political economic and regulatory context in which credit regulation is taking place following the global financial crisis It suggests that current neoliberal economic policies favour multi national corporations rather than consumers and examines regulatory responses to the internationalization of consumer finance protection Detailing how EU consumers have been affected by national economic conditions the book also analyses the lending regimes of Europe Australia the US and South Africa and offers suggestions for responsible lending to avoid over indebtedness and corrupt mortgage lending Finally new approaches and directions for consumer credit regulations are outlined such as protection for small businesses protection against risky credit products reorganization of mortgage securitization and the possibility of a partnership model to address financial exclusion The book includes contributions from leading names in the field of consumer law and will be invaluable to those interested in banking business and commercial law Chilton's Iron Age ,1981 Congressional Record United States. Congress,1973
