Modern Love David Shumway,2003-08 My ideas of romance came from the movies said Woody Allen and it is to the movies as well as to novels advice columns and self help books that David Shumway turns for his history of modern love Modern Love argues that a crisis in the meaning and experience of marriage emerged when it lost its institutional function of controlling the distribution of property and instead came to be seen as a locus for feelings of desire togetherness and loss Over the course of the twentieth century partly in response to this crisis a new language of love intimacy emerged not so much replacing but rather coexisting with the earlier language of romance Reading a wide range of texts from early twentieth century advice columns and their late twentieth century antecedent the relationship self help book to Hollywood screwball comedies and from the relationship films of Woody Allen and his successors to contemporary realist novels about marriages Shumway argues that the kinds of stories the culture has told itself have changed Part layperson s history of marriage and romance part meditation on intimacy itself Modern Love will be both amusing and interesting to almost anyone who thinks about relationships and who doesn t The New Psychology of Love Robert J. Sternberg,Karin Sternberg,2019 This is a much needed update on the latest theory and research on love supplied by leading scientific experts It is suitable for psychologists neuroscientists anthropologists sociologists and anyone with an interest in love and what has been learned from scientific studies of it Monte Carlo Methods Adrian Barbu,Song-Chun Zhu,2020-02-24 This book seeks to bridge the gap between statistics and computer science It provides an overview of Monte Carlo methods including Sequential Monte Carlo Markov Chain Monte Carlo Metropolis Hastings Gibbs Sampler Cluster Sampling Data Driven MCMC Stochastic Gradient descent Langevin Monte Carlo Hamiltonian Monte Carlo and energy landscape mapping Due to its comprehensive nature the book is suitable for developing and teaching graduate courses on Monte Carlo methods To facilitate learning each chapter includes several representative application examples from various fields The book pursues two main goals 1 It introduces researchers to applying Monte Carlo methods to broader problems in areas such as Computer Vision Computer Graphics Machine Learning Robotics Artificial Intelligence etc and 2 it makes it easier for scientists and engineers working in these areas to employ Monte Carlo methods to enhance their research Old Stories, New Readings Miriam López-Rodríguez,Alfonso Ceballos Muñoz,Inmaculada Pineda-Hernández,2015-02-27 Whether imaginary or based on real events stories are at the core of any culture Regardless of their length their rhetoric strategies or their style humans tell stories to each other to express their innermost fears and needs to establish a point within an argument or to engage their listeners in a fabricated composition Stories can also serve other purposes such as being used for entertainment for education or for the preservation of certain cultural traits Storytelling is at the heart of human interaction and as such can foster a dialogic narrative between the person creating the story and their audience In literature this dialogue has been traditionally associated with narrative in general and with the novel in particular However other genres also make use of storytelling including drama This volume explores the ways in which American theatre from all eras deals with this how stories are told onstage what kinds of stories are recorded in dramatic texts and how previously neglected realities have gained attention through the American playwright s telling or retelling of an event or action The stories unfolded in American drama follow recent narratology theories particularly in the sense that there is a greater preference for those so called small stories over big stories Despite the increase in the production of this type of texts and the growing interest in them in the field of narratology small stories are literary episodes that have been granted less critical attention particularly in the analysis of drama As such this volume fills a void in the study of the stories presented on the American stage

Bible and Cinema Adele Reinhartz, 2022-03-30 Bible and Cinema An Introduction is a comprehensive examination of how the Bible has been used and represented in mainstream cinema to develop its plots characters and themes The book considers two general types of films Bible movies that retell biblical stories such as the Exodus and the life of Jesus and Bible related movies that make use of biblical books stories verses and figures and Bibles themselves to tell non biblical often fictional narratives Topics covered include the contribution of Bible and Bible related movies to the history of the Bible s reception the ways in which filmmakers make use of scripture to address and reflect their own time and place the Bible as a vehicle through which films can address social and political issues reflect human experiences and emotions explore existential issues such as evil and death and express themes such as destruction and redemption the role of the Bible as a source of ethics and morality and how this role is both perpetuated and undermined in a range of contemporary Hollywood films and film as a medium for experiences of transcendence and the role of the Bible in creating such experiences This thoroughly updated second edition includes insightful analysis of films such as Noah Gods and Men Mary Magdalene and The Shawshank Redemption paying attention to visual and aural elements as well as plot character and dialogue The book also includes pedagogical resources including discussions of film theory as well as key words and discussion questions Teachers students and anyone interested in the intersection of Bible and cinema will find this an invaluable guide to a growing field

Zocco,2021-01-18 The fourth volume of the collected papers of the ICLA congress The Many Languages of Comparative Literature includes articles that study thematic and formal elements of literary texts Although the question of prioritizing either the level of content or that of form has often provoked controversies most contributions here treat them as internally connected While theoretical considerations inform many of the readings the main interest of most articles can be described as rhetorical in the widest sense given that the ancient discipline of rhetoric did not only include the study of rhetorical figures and tropes such as metaphor irony or satire but also that of topoi which were originally viewed as the places where certain arguments could be found but later came to represent the arguments or intellectual themes themselves Another feature shared by most of the articles is the tendency of undeclared thematology which not only reflects the persistence of the charge of positivism but also shows that most scholars prefer to locate themselves within more specific often interdisciplinary fields of literary study In this sense this volume does not only prove the ongoing relevance of traditional fields such as rhetoric and thematology but provides contributions to currently flourishing research areas among them literary multilingualism literature and emotions and ecocriticism
