Love War Remembrance:

Love, War & Remembrance Rosemarie Werkman, 1992

Memorials of the Great War in Britain Alex

King, 2014-03-04 Taking as its focus memorials of the First World War in Britain this book brings a fresh approach to the study of public symbols by exploring how different motives for commemorating the dead were reconciled through the processes of local politics to create a widely valued form of collective expression It examines how the memorials were produced what was said about them how support for them was mobilized and behaviour around them regulated These memorials were the sites of contested multiple and ambiguous meanings yet out of them a united public observance was created The author argues that this was possible because the interpretation of them as symbols was part of a creative process in which new meanings for traditional forms of memorial were established and circulated The memorials not only symbolized emotional responses to the war but also ambitions for the post war era Contemporaries adopted new ways of thinking about largely traditional forms of memorial to fit the uncertain social and political climate of the inter war years This book represents a significant contribution to the study of material culture and memory as well as to the social and cultural history of modern warfare

War and Remembrance in the Twentieth Century Jay Winter, Emmanuel Sivan, 2000-08-27

How war has been remembered collectively is the central question in this volume War in the twentieth century is a vivid and traumatic phenomenon which left behind it survivors who engage time and time again in acts of remembrance This volume containing essays by outstanding scholars of twentieth century history focuses on the issues raised by the shadow of war in this century The behaviour not of whole societies or of ruling groups alone but of the individuals who do the work of remembrance is discussed by examining the traumatic collective memory resulting from the horrors of the First World War the Spanish Civil War the Second World War and the Algerian War By studying public forms of remembrance such as museums and exhibitions literature and film the editors have succeeded in bringing together a volume which demonstrates that a popular kind of collective memory is still very much alive

The Vietnam Veterans Memorial at Angel Fire

Steven Trout, 2020-04-07 A great white angel spreading her wings across the Moreno Valley this is how one visitor described the memorial standing atop a windswept prominence in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains near Taos New Mexico A de facto national Vietnam veterans memorial built by one family more than a decade before the Wall in Washington DC and without aid or recognition from the US government the chapel at Angel Fire is a testament to one young American's sacrifice but also to the profound determination of his family to find meaning in their loss In The Vietnam Veterans Memorial at Angel Fire Steven Trout tells the story of Marine Lieutenant David Westphall who was killed near Con Thien on May 22 1968 and of the Westphall family's subsequent struggle to create and maintain a one of a kind memorial chapel dedicated to the memory of all Americans lost in the Vietnam War and to the cause of world peace Focused primarily on a life lost amid our nation's most controversial conflict and on the Westphalls desperate battle to keep their chapel open between 1971 and 1982 the book's brisk and moving narrative traces the memorial's evolution from a personal act of family remembrance to its emergence as an iconic pilgrimage destination for thousands of Vietnam veterans Documenting the chapel's shifting messages over time which include a momentary and controversial recognition of the dead on both sides of the war The Vietnam Veterans Memorial at Angel Fire spotlights one American soldier's tragic story and the monument to hope and peace that it inspired

Ireland, the Great War and the Geography of Remembrance Nuala C. Johnson, 2003-05-29
 Nuala C Johnson explores the complex relationship between social memory and space in the representation of war in Ireland The Irish experience of the Great War and its commemoration is the location of Dr Johnson's sustained and pioneering examination of the development of memorial landscapes and her study represents a major contribution both to cultural geography and to the historiography of remembrance Attractively illustrated this book combines theoretical perspectives with original primary research showing how memory literally took place in post 1918 Ireland and the various conflicts and struggles that were both a cause and effect of this process Of interest to scholars in a number of disciplines Ireland The Great War and The Geography of Remembrance shows powerfully how Irish efforts to collectively remember the Great War were constantly in dialogue with issues surrounding the national question and the memorials themselves bore witness to these tensions and ambiguities

Very Long War Margaret Reeson, 2016-10-18 A Very Long War is about the experiences of the families of men missing in the New Guinea islands during World War 2 many of whom never returned When Japan entered the Pacific war the Australian Government evacuated all Australian women and children from the Territory of New Guinea The women found themselves suddenly alone and solely responsible for the welfare of their families Back in Australia they were cut off from letters and reliable news for three and a half years Rumours abounded adding to their trauma and anxiety Like the families of POWs they lived in a limbo of waiting For many of them the effects of the mystery and the trauma have continued to the present day A Very Long War is a calm respectful narrative beautifully told never over written Its poignant sometimes shocking stories are treated with insight and restraint Through the voices of those who provided oral testimony it echoes the common condition of all people struggling to deal with trauma and loss
