More Than Altruism The Politics Of Private Foreign Aid:

More Than Altruism Brian H. Smith, 2014-07-14 As government officials and political activists are becoming increasingly aware international nonprofit agencies have an important political dimension although not self serving these private voluntary organizations PVOs and nongovernmental organizations NGOs seek social changes of which many of their financial contributors are unaware As PVOs and NGOs receive increasing subsidies from their home governments in the United States Canada and Europe they are moving away from short term relief commitments in developing countries and toward longer term goals in health education training and small scale production Showing that European and Canadian NGOs focus more on political change as part of new development efforts than do their U S counterparts Brian Smith presents the first major comparative study of the political aspect of PVOs and NGOs Smith emphasizes the paradoxes in the private aid system both in the societies that send aid and in those that receive it Pointing out that international nonprofit agencies are in some instances openly critical of nation state interests he asks how these agencies can function in a foreign aid network intended as a support for those same interests He concludes that compromises throughout the private aid network and some secrecy make it possible for institutions with different agendas to work together In the future however serious conflicts may develop with donors and nation states Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 The Politics of International Economic Relations Jeffrey A. Hart, Joan Edelman Spero, 2013-06-17 The first and definitive book of its kind Joan Spero's The Politics of International Economic Relations has been fully updated to reflect the sweeping changes in the international arena With the expertise of co author Jeffrey Hart the fifth edition strengthens the coverage of political and economic relations since the end of the Cold War economic polarization in developing nations and the roots of economic decline in centrally planned economies A new chapter on industrial policy and competitiveness debates further illustrates the changing dynamics of International Political Economy Ideal as a supplement to the International Relations course or as the core text in International Political Economy Spero and Hart's The Politics of International Economic Relations continues to give students the breadth and depth of scholarship needed to understand the politics of world economy Foreign Aid in the Middle East Beáta Paragi, 2019-02-28 What do we mean by gifts in International Relations Can foreign aid be conceptualized as a gift Most foreign aid transactions are unilateral and financially unreciprocated yet donors expect to benefit from them Previous research dealing with foreign aid has analyzed the main donor motives and interests in providing financial support This book offers an in depth analysis of the invisible political or social exchange taking place between recipient countries and donors when a grant agreement is signed Focusing on Egypt Jordan Palestine and Israel the main beneficiaries of Western foreign aid the book uses gift theories and theories of social exchange to show how international social bonds are shaped by foreign aid and in what ways recipient countries are obliged to return the gift they receive Foreign aid is a means of buying stability or democracy in the region but Beata Paragi is interested here to understand the actual feasibility of Western assistance Looking at the context of the Arab Spring the book examines how aid impacts on a recipient country s domestic political events such as war the quest for self determination the struggle against occupation and the fight for dignity An original contribution to Middle East Studies and International Relations the research presents an alternative interpretation of foreign aid and show how external funds interact with local developments and realities The

International Commission of Jurists Howard B. Tolley, Jr.,2010-11-24 Since its founding in 1952 the International Commission of Jurists has inspired the international human rights movement with persistent demands that governments obey the rule of law The Art of Peace Juliana Geran Pilon,2017-07-05 Sun Tzu author of The Art of War believed that the acme of leadership consists in figuring out how to subdue the enemy with the least amount of fighting a fact that America s Founders also understood and practiced with astonishing success For it to work however a people must possess both the ability and the willingness to use all available instruments of power in peace as much as in war US foreign policy has increasingly neglected the instruments of civilian power and become overly dependent on lethal solutions to conflict The steep rise in unconventional conflict has increased the need for diplomatic and other non hard power tools of statecraft The United States can no longer afford to sit on the proverbial three legged national security stool military diplomacy development where one leg is a lot longer than either of the other two almost forgetting altogether the fourth leg information especially strategic communication and public diplomacy The United States isn t so much becoming militarized as DE civilianized According to Sun Tzu self knowledge is as important as knowledge of one s enemy if you know neither yourself nor the enemy you will succumb in every battle Alarminglly the United States is deficient on both counts And though we can stand to lose a few battles the stakes of losing the war itself in this age of nuclear proliferation are too high to contemplate

Borders among Activists Sarah S. Stroup,2012-05-15 In Borders among Activists Sarah S Stroup challenges the notion that political activism has gone beyond borders and created a global or transnational civil society Instead at the most globally active purportedly cosmopolitan groups in the world international nongovernmental organizations INGOs organizational practices are deeply tied to national environments creating great diversity in the way these groups organize themselves engage in advocacy and deliver services Stroup offers detailed profiles of these varieties of activism in the United States Britain and France These three countries are the most popular bases for INGOs but each provides a very different environment for charitable organizations due to differences in legal regulations political opportunities resources and patterns of social networks Stroup s comparisons of leading American British and French INGOs Care Oxfam M decins sans Fronti res

Human Rights Watch Amnesty International and FIDH reveal strong national patterns in INGO practices including advocacy fund raising and professionalization These differences are quite pronounced among INGOs in the humanitarian relief sector and are observable though less marked among human rights INGOs Stroup finds that national origin helps account for variation in the transnational advocacy networks that have received so much attention in international relations For practitioners national origin offers an alternative explanation for the frequently lamented failures of INGOs in the field INGOs are not inherently dysfunctional but instead remain disconnected because of their strong roots in very different national environments

The Rise of Japanese NGOs Kim D. Reimann, 2009-12-04 Looking at domestic politics transnational diffusion the state's relationship with civil society and societal actors the book demonstrates how and why NGOs active in global issues have become more visible in Japan and are now established players in the policy making process

NGOs and Transnational Networks William E. DeMars, 2005-04-20 Non Governmental Organisations and their networks are proliferating in all regions of the world They address every transnational issue from population to peace human rights to species rights genocide to AIDS Supporters claim NGOs are effective in achieving their goals while detractors counter that NGO power is paltry compared to governments and corporations Challenging both views DeMars irreverently reveals the political claims implicit in every transnational NGO They are best conceptualised he argues not in terms of either principles or power but through the partners they make in transnational society and politics NGOs and transnational networks institutionalise conflict as much as cooperation and reshape states and societies often inadvertently NGOs have overthrown dictators provided life support for collapsed states and reengineered the family Their historical origins contrast sharply with current realities and show signs of radical change in the future

The Politics of Development Co-operation Lisa Aubrey, 2002-11-01 First Published in 2004 The Politics of Development Cooperation interrogates the politics of interorganizational development cooperation examining issues of power autonomy and dependence Focusing on Kenya and in particular on Maendeleo Ya Wanawake MYWO the largest national women's organization and its partners in its relational environment this book probes the relationships between foreign donors grassroots development organizations and governments Aubrey examines whether it is possible for the North and the developing world to be engaged in genuine development partnerships the influence resource contributions financial and technical have on agenda formulation and compromises and whether organizations such as MYWO are truly NGOs as they claim to be or whether they remain an extension of the state exploited by patriarchal party politics Gender is central to the analysis of this book with issues reflecting and reintroducing the politics of unequal resources in development cooperative partnerships Differences in status among women are also systematically examined because the politics of development affect elite and grassroots women differently

Building Democracy in Contemporary Russia Sarah L. Henderson, 2018-07-05 Can foreign donors help build new democracies In the 1990s public and private organizations such as USAID and the Soros Foundation poured huge amounts of money and expertise into Russia to help build the dream of a vibrant democratic society Sarah L Henderson argues that despite the altruistic intentions of foreign assistance agencies and domestic activists foreign aid designed to spur civic growth has had unintended consequences Drawing on extensive field work survey research and work experience for several funding agencies in Moscow in the late 1990s Henderson focuses on donor efforts to support the emerging community of nongovernmental organizations and in particular on efforts to build a functioning women s movement in Russia Her intimate knowledge of Russia s growing NGO community informs a worrisome finding foreign aid has made a tremendous difference but not in altogether expected or positive ways New Russian civic groups serve either the needs of an indigenous clientele or the demands of the foreign aid bureaucracy but rarely both Henderson s research and experience show that while aid has kept a fledgling civic community alive it is a civic community that is disconnected from its own domestic audience The book suggests that large flows of foreign aid have in some ways damaged the long term prospects for democratization in Russia

The Oxford Handbook of International Political Economy, 2025-01-17 The field of International Political Economy IPE has rapidly developed into a central pillar in the study of International Relations and its interdisciplinary roots make it a rich and productive area of scholarly interest This Oxford Handbook analyses and evaluates the state of the art in IPE research Bringing together leading experts from a wide geographical and theoretical spectrum the Handbook provides accessible and comprehensive surveys on topics central to the study of International Political Economy As IPE scholarship evolves to explore global events such as financial crises and trade wars examining how politics is both a cause and a consequence of economics it highlights the practical and problem driven nature of the field The Handbook considers the purported European North American divide and the impact of the surrounding debate on the approach taken to the field The chapters review the scholarly literature outline future research opportunities and consider the ways in which world events have contributed to new research in the field The Handbook covers both the theoretical and methodological foundations of the field as well as substantive topics within it including regulation foreign aid migration NGOs capital political military relations and many others The Oxford Handbooks of International Relations is a twelve volume set of reference books offering authoritative and innovative engagements with the principal sub fields of International Relations The series as a whole is under the General Editorship of Christian Reus Smit of the University of Melbourne and Duncan Snidal of the University of Oxford with each volume edited by specialists in the field The series both surveys the broad terrain of International Relations scholarship and reshapes it pushing each sub field in challenging new directions Following the example of Reus Smit and Snidal s original Oxford Handbook of International Relations each volume is organized around a strong central thematic by scholars drawn from different perspectives reading its sub field in an entirely new way and pushing scholarship in challenging new directions

The Ambivalence of the Sacred Scott R. Appleby, 2000 This text explains what religious terrorists and religious peacemakers share in common and what causes them to take different paths in fighting injustice      International Perspectives on Voluntary Action David Lewis,2013-11-05 This text presents a perspective on the third sector Rather than considering non governmental development organizations and voluntary agencies separately it explores the similarities differences and growing connections between them in both northern and southern contexts Authors in the field consider the differences in scale and priority that exist between different types of third sector organizations in different settings as well as the common challenges of accountability legitimacy effectiveness and governance Models of learning and communication including southern ideas such as micro credit provision are also examined as are the continuing barriers      Boundless Faith Robert Wuthnow,2010-10-12 Robert Wuthnow shows that American Christianity is increasingly influenced by globalization and is in turn playing a larger role in other countries and in US policies and programmes abroad

Philanthropists and Foundation Globalization Joseph Kiger,2017-07-28 The modern American foundation as an instrumentality for charitable and philanthropic giving is in many ways a unique and complex social economic political institution This is particularly the case for foundations with large assets As a social phenomenon the foundation has deep roots in the past At the beginnings of any degree of civilization charitable giving and rudimentary forms of foundations emerge This is the case in many regions of the world The pattern is consistent once enough property or wealth beyond primitive human needs is accumulated some of it begins to be set aside for what the donors of such wealth consider worthwhile purposes The serious literature contributing greatly to public perception of philanthropy and foundations has been relatively sparse Much of what is available is quantitative and statistical in nature There has been limited objective attention to the motives or reasons spurring individual philanthropists to engage or not to engage in creating foundations such motivation needs historical and comparative analysis Major investigations and studies of foundations together with ancillary national regional and international organizations to facilitate such study have received spotty consideration Philanthropists and Foundation Globalization addresses three interrelated aspects of foundation history First it reviews biographical historical profiles of the founding philanthropists and their heirs engaged in international giving Second it discusses major governmental and non governmental investigations and studies of foundations including domestic ones and also foreign ones in which U S participants have played a prominent role spanning the period 1912 to the present Third it chronicles foundation developments and activities in Europe at the close of the twentieth century The volume provides a historical account of some U S foundations international activity in a particular region in a specific time period and their a

Private Action and the Public Good Walter W. Powell,Elisabeth S. Clemens,1998-03-30 Governments around the world are turning over more of their services to private or charitable organizations as politicians and pundits celebrate participation in civic activities But can nonprofits provide more and higher quality services than governments or for profit businesses Will nonprofits really increase social connectedness and civic engagement This book a sequel to Walter W Powell s widely acclaimed The Nonprofit Sector A Research Handbook brings together an original collection of writings that explores the nature of the public good and how private nonprofit organizations relate to it The contributors to this book eminent sociologists political scientists management scholars historians and economists examine the nonprofit sector through a variety of theoretical and methodological lenses They consider the tensions between the provision of public goods and the interests of members and donors in nonprofit organizations They contrast religious and secular nonprofits as well as private and nonprofit provision of child care mental health services and health care And they explore the growing role of nonprofits in the United States France Germany and Eastern Europe the contribution of nonprofits to economic development and the forms and strategies of private action

Islam in Contemporary Egypt Denis Joseph Sullivan, Sana Abed-Kotob, 1999 Tracing the development of Islam as a multidimensional force in Egypt Sullivan political science Northeastern U and Abed Kotob associate editor Middle East Journal analyze the role it plays in governance and opposition to political authority in social relations including between women and men and Muslims and Christians and in the often overlooked area of socioeconomic development They conclude by weighing the potential for cooperation between a secular regime and a resurgent religious society Many of the references are translated from Arabic Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

International Organizations and Development, 1945-1990 M. Frey, S. Kunkel, C. R. Unger, 2014-08-19 This volume explores how international organizations became involved in the making of global development policy and looks at the driving forces and dynamics behind that process critically assessing the consequences their policies have had around the world

The Politics of NGOs in Indonesia Bob S. Hadiwinata, 2003-08-29 This book deals with two major issues how Indonesian NGOs survived under Suharto's authoritarian rule and how NGOs contributed to the promotion of democracy in the post Suharto era If NGOs are to change from development to movement in democratic post Suharto Indonesia they must adjust not only their management and working style but also their very ideology This comprehensive study will be an important book for scholars interested in Asian studies Indonesian politics and development studies

Surrogates of the State Michael Jennings, 2008 Uses an instructive historical event to show how NGOs with good intentions are sometimes capable of supporting harmful government policies A fascinating picture of the players involved in misguided development program In Surrogates of the State Jennings explores the delicate relationship between development NGOs and the states they work in using his exhaustive and illuminating case study of Tanzania in the 1960s and 70s During that time Tanzania instituted the rural socialist Ujamaa program resulting in the forced resettlement of 6 million people to villages transforming the map of the country Rather than questioning this policy NGOs working in the area as typified by Oxfam became surrogates of the state helping to carry out the program Jennings argues that the NGO community was seduced by its own interpretations of what Ujamaa represented and was consequently blinded to the dark realities of resettlement Bound by ideological chains of their own forging organizations that in other contexts have criticized over mighty states and the use of overt force NGOs committed themselves fully to Tanzania and its development policy Through this study the book uncovers not just the story of development in Tanzania in this critical period but the history of the NGO itself And in doing so raises questions about the future direction of this institution which has become so prominent in international development
