Huffman, 2018-04-30 A sweeping work of original scholarship Down and Out in Late Meiji Japan examines the daily lives of Japan's hinmin poor people particularly urban slum dwellers in the late 1800s and early 1900s James Huffman draws on newspaper articles official surveys and reminiscences to recreate for readers life as experienced by the poor themselves something not attempted before in scholarship on this era He begins by explaining the causes behind the fast increasing numbers of poor neighborhoods in major cities after the late 1880s and goes on to describe in fascinating detail what those neighborhoods looked like and what their inhabitants did for a living collecting night soil weaving textiles making match boxes and other piecework pulling rickshaws building the structures that made Japan modern and supplying much of the era's entertainment including sex He also explores what hinmin did outside of work what they ate where they did their wash how they stretched their meager budgets by using pawn brokers and how they dealt with illness and other disasters and grappled with the painful necessity of sending children to work rather than to school Huffman argues that despite the tremendous challenge of day to day living hinmin confronted life as energetic agents embracing it as avidly as members of the more affluent classes Reading sources carefully and often against the grain he reveals that many of the poor found meaning in their work took an active and even influential part in their cities politics and nursed ambitions for a better life And nearly all took part in the pleasures and festivities that urban neighborhoods offered Later chapters examine poverty outside the cities and the large scale emigration of indigent farmers to Hawai'i's sugar plantations beginning in 1885 In his conclusion Huffman looks at late Meiji hardship in light of twenty first century poverty and the global income disparity that has captured the public's attention in recent years     A Concordance to the Poems of Robert Browning Leslie Nathan Broughton, Benjamin Franklin Stelter, 1925     Optical Radiometry and Satellite Validation Agnieszka Bialek, David Doxaran, Vittorio Ernesto Brando, Clemence Goyens, Kevin Ruddick, Ana Ines Dogliotti, 2025-08-26 Strict quality control is essential to ensure that the satellite data products routinely used for environmental monitoring of water and land surfaces are fit for purpose A crucial step in this process is the validation of the water and land surface reflectances from which the final end user products are derived The topic of radiometric validation is growing rapidly in importance both because of the advent of operational satellite missions for routine environmental monitoring and because of the rapid expansion in the number of satellite missions including CubeSat constellations with limited cal val resources This enhanced need for radiometric validation data covering a wide VIS NIR SWIR range e.g. 380-2400nm preferably with a hyperspectral resolution must be met by new techniques and hardware particularly ground based automated radiometry     Regular Expressions Cookbook Jan Goyvaerts, Steven Levithan, 2009-05-22 Regular Expressions Cookbook provides 126 recipes written for today's most popular programming languages including C Java JavaScript Perl PHP and Python NET Readers can save valuable time with this huge library of proven solutions to difficult real world problems     The Daily News Almanac and Political Register for ..., 1925     Wisconsin Statutes, 1959
