More Than Human 1st Edition:

More-than-Human Sociology O. Pyyhtinen, 2016-02-09 More than Human Sociology is a call for a bolder more creative sociology Olli Pyyhtinen argues that to make sociology responsive to life in the 21st century we need a new sociological imagination one that addresses connectivity understands the world in which we live as both a human and non human world and is sensitive to the multiple scales on which things exist A fresh and innovative take on the promise of sociology this book will appeal to scholars and students both within sociology and the social sciences more broadly

Non-representational and more-than-human research Phillip Vannini, 2025-09-05 This book fosters new links between non representational theories and more than human perspectives Offering multidisciplinary perspectives from geography and anthropology to social theory and qualitative research methodologies it reimagines the boundaries of research by arguing for a new concept of data Original bold and creative contributions provocatively push us to reimagine what is meant by data No longer something we can unproblematically understand as an empirical given the notion of data is reimagined as the relational outcome of encounters engagements attachments and more than human relations As such the book expands the field of non representational scholarship challenging the ideas of data collection analysis and representation This innovative book provides a courageous contemporary theoretical and methodological intervention It will be valuable for students researchers and arts practitioners across the social sciences and will serve as the beginning of new methodological dialogues for years to come

More-Than-Human Design in Practice Anton Poikolainen Rosén, Antti Salovaara, Andrea Botero, Marie Louise Juul Søndergaard, 2024-11-29 This book provides an overview of the diverse multidisciplinary field of more than human design offering a philosophical grounding of more than human design in posthumanism while putting practical design examples and methods to the forefront There is an urgent need to radically re imagine design as its current processes are contributing to global warming pollution deforestation ocean acidification ozone layer depletion loss of biodiversity and species extinction Given this need more than human design has emerged as a perspective that widens our thinking beyond solely human oriented considerations and needs such as animals plants and microbes The book explores the relationship between sustainability and design touching on topics such as AI systems thinking futures studies and pedagogy and discusses a range of case study projects that are grounded in more than human thinking demonstrating how this can be incorporated into practice This easily accessible and theoretically grounded book will provide design researchers and educators an excellent introduction to more than human thinking It will also be of interest to students and scholars studying design more broadly sustainability environmental studies and service design as well as to practicing designers interested in sustainability Chapters Introduction 7 10 and 15 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Participatory Research in More-than-Human Worlds Michelle Bastian, Owain Jones, Niamh Moore, Emma

Roe,2016-12-01 Socio environmental crises are currently transforming the conditions for life on this planet from climate change to resource depletion biodiversity loss and long term pollutants The vast scale of these changes affecting land sea and air have prompted calls for the ecologicalisation of knowledge This book adopts a much needed more than human framework to grasp these complexities and challenges It contains multidisciplinary insights and diverse methodological approaches to question how to revise reshape and invent methods in order to work with non humans in participatory ways The book offers a framework for thinking critically about the promises and potentialities of participation from within a more than human paradigm and opens up trajectories for its future development It will be of interest to those working in the environmental humanities animal studies science and technology studies ecology and anthropology Reimagining the More-Than-Human City Jamie Wang,2024-10-01 An exploration of the multifaceted urban environmental issues in Singapore through a more than human lens calling for new ways to think of and story cities As climate change accelerates and urbanization intensifies our need for more sustainable and livable cities has never been more urgent Yet the imaginary of a flourishing urban ecofuture is often driven by a specific version of sustainability that is tied to both high tech futurism and persistent economic growth What kinds of sustainable futures are we calling forth and at what and whose expense In Reimagining the More Than Human City Jamie Wang attempts to answer these questions by critically examining the sociocultural political ethical and affective facets of human environment dynamics in the urban nexus with a geographic focus on Singapore Widely considered a model for the future of urbanism and an emblematic new world city Singapore Wang contends is a fascinating site to explore how modernist sustainable urbanism is imagined and put into practice Drawing on field research this book explores distinct and intrarelated urban imaginaries situated in various sites from the futuristic authoritarian Supertree Grove positioned as a technologically sustainable solution to a velocity charged and singular urban transportation system to highly protected nature reserves and to the cemeteries where graves and memories continue to be exhumed and erased to make way for development Wang also attends to more contingent yet hopeful alternatives that aim to reconfigure current urban approaches In the face of growing enthusiasm for building high tech sustainable and natural cities Wang ultimately argues that urban imaginings must create space for a more relational understanding of urban environments Design For More-Than-Human Futures Martín Tironi,Marcos Chilet,Carola Ureta Marín,Pablo Hermansen,2023-09-18 This book explores the work of important authors in the search for a transition towards more ethical design focused on more than human coexistence In a time of environmental crises in which the human species threatens its own survival and the highest level of exacerbation of the idea of a future and technological innovation it is important to discard certain anthropocentric categories in order to situate design beyond the role that it traditionally held in the capitalist world creating opportunities to create more just and sustainable worlds This book is an invitation to travel new paths for design framed by ethics of more than human coexistence that breaks with the unsustainability installed in the designs that outfit our lives Questioning the notion of human centered design is central to this discussion It is not only a theoretical and methodological concern but an ethical need to critically rethink the modern colonialist and anthropocentric inheritance that resonates in design culture The authors in this book explore the ideas oriented to form new relations with the more than human and with the planet using design as a form of political enquiry This book will be of interest to academics and students from the world of design and particularly those involved in emerging branches of the field such as speculative design critical design non anthropocentric design and design for transition

More-Than-Human Aesthetics Melanie Sehgal,Alex Wilkie,2025-05-20 In a present marked by planetary crisis a radical rethinking of aesthetics is necessary This inspirational collection proposes a new way of thinking about aesthetics as fundamental to cultivating more liveable futures Drawing on the philosophies of Alfred North Whitehead and Félix Guattari the book develops aesthetics as central to all more than human forms of experience including knowledge practices Each contribution invites readers on an adventure to explore how this broader view of aesthetics can reshape areas including biomedicine geological forensics nuclear waste race as well as arts and education This is an agenda setting contribution to understanding the significance of aesthetics in science and technology studies as well social and cultural research more broadly

Walking Methodologies in a More-than-human World Stephanie Springgay,Sarah E. Truman,2017-12-22 As a research methodology walking has a diverse and extensive history in the social sciences and humanities underscoring its value for conducting research that is situated relational and material Building on the importance of place sensory inquiry embodiment and rhythm within walking research this book offers four new concepts for walking methodologies that are accountable to an ethics and politics of the more than human Land and geos affect transmaterial and movement The book carefully considers the more than human dimensions of walking methodologies by engaging with feminist new materialisms posthumanisms affect theory trans and queer theory Indigenous theories and critical race and disability scholarship These more than human theories rub frictionally against the history of walking scholarship and offer crucial insights into the potential of walking as a qualitative research methodology in a more than human world Theoretically innovative the book is grounded in examples of walking research by WalkingLab an international research network on walking www.walkinglab.org The book is rich in scope engaging with a wide range of walking methods and forms including long walks on hiking trails geological walks sensory walks sonic art walks processions orienteering races protest and activist walks walking tours drives peripatetic mapping school based walking projects and propositional walks The chapters draw on WalkingLab's research creation events to examine walking in relation to settler colonialism affective labour transspecies participation racial geographies and counter cartographies youth literacy environmental education and collaborative writing The book outlines how more than human theories can influence and shape walking methodologies and provokes a critical mode of walking with that engenders solidarity accountability and response ability This volume will appeal to graduate students artists and academics and researchers who are interested in Education Cultural Studies Queer Studies Affect

Studies Geography Anthropology and Post Qualitative Research Methods      More-than-Human Jamie Lorimer, Timothy Hodgetts, 2024-04-09 This text offers the first book length introduction to more than human geography exploring its key ideas main debates and future prospects An opening chapter traces the origins and emergence of this field of enquiry and positions more than human geography as a response to a set of intellectual and political crises in Western thought and politics It identifies key literatures and thinkers and reflects on the varying usages and meanings of the idea of the more than human Three subsequent sections explore cross cutting themes that draw together the disparate strands of more than human geography examining new materialisms developed in the field analysing knowledge practices and methodologies and finally reflecting on the political and ethical implications of a more than human approach A final chapter examines the tensions between this approach and cognate work in environmental geography to review the strengths and the limitations of more than human geographies and to speculate as to their near future development Introducing the key idea of more than human geography this book will be an important resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students of human geography environmental geography cultural and social geography and political geography      The Routledge International Handbook of More-than-Human Studies Adrian Franklin, 2023-11-24 This volume provides a state of the art overview of the field of more than human studies bringing together contemporary and essential content from leading authors across the discipline With attention to the intellectual history of the field its developments and extensions its applications and its significance to contemporary society it presents empirical studies and theoretical work covering long established disciplines as well as new writing on art history politics planning architecture research methodology and ethics An elaboration of the various dimensions of more than human studies The Routledge International Handbook of More than Human Studies constitutes essential reading for anyone studying or researching in this field      Designing More-than-Human Smart Cities Sara Heitlinger, Marcus Foth, Rachel Clarke, 2024-07-12 Climate change rapid urbanisation pandemics as well as innovations in technologies such as blockchain AI and IoT are all impacting urban space One response to such changes has been to make cities ecologically sustainable and smart The eco smart city for instance uses networked sensing cloud and mobile computing to optimise control and regulate urban processes and resources From real time bus information to autonomous electric vehicles smart parking and smart street lighting such initiatives are often presented as a social and environmental good Critics however increasingly argue that technologically driven and efficiency led approaches are too simplistic to deal with the complexities of urban life Sustainability in the smart city is predominantly performed in limited ways that leave little room for participation and citizen agency despite government efforts to integrate innovative technologies in more equitable ways More importantly there is a growing awareness that a human centred notion of cities in which urban space is designed for and inhabited by humans only is no longer tenable Within the age of the Anthropocene a term used to refer to a new geological era in which human activity is transforming Earth systems accelerating climate change and causing mass

extinctions scholars and practitioners are working generatively by acknowledging the entanglements between human and non human others including plants animals insects as well as soil water and sensors and their data in urban life In Designing More than Human Smart Cities renowned researchers and practitioners from urban planning architecture environmental humanities geography design arts and computing critically explore smart cities beyond a human centred approach They respond to the complex interrelations between human and non human others in urban space Through theory policy and practice past and present and thinking speculatively about how smart cities may evolve in the future the book makes a timely contribution to lively contemporary scientific and political debates on genuinely sustainable smart cities The City Is

More Than Human Frederick L. Brown, 2016-10-03 Winner of the 2017 Virginia Marie Folkins Award Association of King County Historical Organizations AKCHO Winner of the 2017 Hal K Rothman Book Prize Western History Association Seattle would not exist without animals Animals have played a vital role in shaping the city from its founding amid existing indigenous towns in the mid nineteenth century to the livestock friendly town of the late nineteenth century to the pet friendly livestock averse modern city When newcomers first arrived in the 1850s they hastened to assemble the familiar cohort of cattle horses pigs chickens and other animals that defined European agriculture This in turn contributed to the dispossession of the Native residents of the area However just as various animals were used to create a Euro American city the elimination of these same animals from Seattle was key to the creation of the new middle class neighborhoods of the twentieth century As dogs and cats came to symbolize home and family Seattleites relationship with livestock became distant and exploitative demonstrating the deep social contradictions that characterize the modern American metropolis Throughout Seattle s history people have sorted animals into categories and into places as a way of asserting power over animals other people and property In The City Is More Than Human Frederick Brown explores the dynamic troubled relationship humans have with animals In so doing he challenges us to acknowledge the role of animals of all sorts in the making and remaking of cities More-Than-Human Choreography Moritz Frischkorn, 2023-08-04 In the global context of the Great Acceleration things and people have been on the move more than ever before Moritz Frischkorn takes a fresh look at recent performing arts practices that deal with everyday objects on and beyond the stage Contrasting these practices with the business field of logistics he examines the aesthetic and ethical concerns of moving things Drawing on concepts from performance as well as Black studies and philosophy and based on an artistic research methodology the book formulates a notion of more than human choreography as an ecologically informed infinitely indebted practice of living within the material world

More-than-Human Aging Cristina Douglas, Andrew Whitehouse, 2024-10-11 What does later life look like when it is lived in the companionship of other species Similarly how do other species age or not with humans and what sort of symmetries if any are brought to light around how we understand and think about aging So far aging has been investigated in the social sciences in purely human terms This is the first collection of original work that considers aging as taking place in relation to other species This volume aims to start a conversation about aging by taking its more than human participants seriously that is not only as a support for or context of human aging but also more symmetrically as agents and subjects in the process of aging The contributors draw upon richly descriptive ethnographic accounts including moments of connection between seniors and dogs in a long term care facility human care for aging laboratory animals and robotic companionship in later life The ethnographies in this volume not only enrich our understanding of more than human companionship during the human aging process but also challenge and urge us to rethink what it means to live later in life in ecologically entangled social and moral worlds

Wanted, More than Human Intellectual Property Johanna Gibson, 2024-12-27 This book analyses animal creativity in order to unsettle the dominant assumptions that underpin current ideas of authorship and ownership in intellectual property Drawing upon theories of animal behaviour and cognitive ethology the book exposes and disrupts the anthropocentrism that informs prevailing assumptions about creativity intentionality and authorship within the field of intellectual property towards a new theory of authorship and personhood through play and the playful Moving on to challenge the invocation of a more general human nonhuman distinction in this context the book also engages the challenge to this distinction posed by artificial intelligence Incorporating critical animal studies behavioural science ethology critical legal studies and legal philosophy the book presents a new idea of creativity which undermines the kind of rivalrous models now common in the field of intellectual property This book will be of considerable interest to those studying and teaching in the area of intellectual property as well as in animal law It will also appeal to legal theorists and others working in the social sciences in the areas of posthumanism and animal studies

More-Than-Human Literacies in Early Childhood Abigail Hackett, 2021-03-25 More Than Human Literacies in Early Childhood draws on a long term ethnographic research into the role of place materiality and the body in the literacies of young children aged 12-36 months It builds a picture of how children participate in or become caught up in literacies and language in the contexts of their everyday lives Throughout the book recognised understandings of young children are decentred in favour of experiential knowing of parents and communities body place knowing and ordinary affects Abigail Hackett argues that young children's literacies are always more than human involving sounds gestures and movements between humans and nonhuman places and things By paying close attention to the more than human nature of these literacies which rely on bodies places animals humans objects and atmospheres for their ongoingness a case is made for the decentring of young children The book will be of particular interest to researchers looking at feminist new materialism posthumanism affect theory and critical literacy in early childhood settings

Biopolitics of the More-Than-Human Joseph Pugliese, 2020-10-23 In Biopolitics of the More Than Human Joseph Pugliese examines the concept of the biopolitical through a nonanthropocentric lens arguing that more than human entities from soil and orchards to animals and water are actors and agents in their own right with legitimate claims to justice Examining occupied Palestine Guantanamo and sites of US drone strikes in Afghanistan Pakistan Somalia and Yemen Pugliese challenges notions of human exceptionalism by arguing that more than human victims of war and colonialism are entangled with and subject to the same violent biopolitical regimes as humans He also draws on Indigenous epistemologies that invest more than human entities with judicial standing to argue for an ethico legal framework that will enable the realization of ecological justice Bringing the more than human world into the purview of justice Pugliese makes visible the ecological effects of human war that would otherwise remain outside the domains of biopolitics and law

Routledge Handbook of Mobile Technology, Social Media and the Outdoors Simon Kennedy Beames, Patrick T. Maher, 2024-08-29 This is the first book to explore the numerous ways in which mobile technologies and social media are influencing our outdoor experiences Across the fields of outdoor education outdoor recreation and leisure and nature based tourism the book considers how practices within each of those domains are being influenced by dramatically shifting interactions between technology humans the natural world and wider society Drawing on cutting edge research by leading scholars from around the world and exploring key concepts and theory as well as developments in professional practice the book explains how digital technology and media are no longer separate from typical human and social activity Instead the broader field of outdoor studies can be viewed as a world of intertwined socio technical assemblages that need to be understood in more diverse ways The book offers a full spectrum view of this profound shift in our engagement with the world around us by presenting new work on subjects including networked spaces in residential outdoor education digital competencies for outdoor educators the use of social media in climbing communities and the impact of digital technologies on experiences of adventure tourism This is essential reading for anybody with an interest in outdoor studies outdoor education adventure education leisure studies tourism environmental studies environmental education or science technology and society studies

Climate Change in the Age of Artificial Intelligence Alexandru Balasescu, 2025-06-14 This book invites the reader to follow seemingly unrelated paths towards the same goal making sense of what it means to be human in a world that casually blends discourses on nature technology and biology with ideas of progress optimization and their capitalization at the centre The author critically analyses current thinking which often looks at technological solutions to the challenges posed by climate change and where artificial intelligence is instrumental in fulfilling the promise of ecological capitalism He instead advocates that we take a closer look at the politics of optimization within and outside managerial perspectives which could reveal that one of the main sources of our repeated failures related to governance and climate change lies not intrinsically in the qualities of the tools we use but in the underlying assumptions with which we design and in the scope of their use Therefore the book looks at possible solutions for humanity that may lie between the rock of technology and the hard place of nature That is it asks for a revision in our implicit assumptions for building our tools critiques the thinking about our relationships with them and re assesses their use Richly documented imaginatively argued and captivantly written this book explores unexpected entanglements of nature culture and technology that emerge in AI's unruly and unforeseen trajectories George Paul Meiu Professor of Anthropology University of Basel Balasescu develops wide ranging thick descriptions that provocatively draw together lotus flowers and data banks snakes and algorithms to delve into how bodies cultures and power are invisibly ensconced in every aspect of the digital realm Susan Ossman Distinguished Professor of Anthropology University of California Riverside This important work traces the evolution and development of the paradigms that made artificial intelligence possible and perhaps even inevitable Guy Nasmyth Associate faculty Royal Roads University Alec Balasescu skillfully broadens our horizons for not just nuanced thinking and diverse ways of knowing but in a fast changing landscape how we might more consciously choose to act and relate to nature Wanda Krause award winning author program head Global Leadership and associate professor Royal Roads University
