Outlaw Tales of Arizona Jan Cleere, 2012-03-06 True stories of the Grand Canyon state's most infamous robbers rustlers and bandits

100 Western Women Jan Cleere, 2025-03-12 History books record scant contributions women made in settling and developing the new territory of Arizona Yet women were an integral part of civilizing the rough rowdy often dangerous land For more than ten years Jan Cleere has written about the women who influenced the growth and development of Arizona in her column Western Women that appears monthly in the Arizona Daily Star newspaper The famous infamous and those not so well known are featured each with a compelling story of surviving and thriving under less than ideal circumstances Warriors basket weavers ranchers artists innkeepers schoolteachers politicians and entrepreneurs from a remarkable variety of backgrounds and cultures influenced the growth of Arizona Read about Larcena Pennington who had to crawl down a mountain to escape her Indian captors Hopi artist Nampeyo continued to make exquisite pots even after she started losing her eyesight Carmen Vasquez built a theater and brought in shows from as far away as Spain Elizabeth Hudson Smith ran a successful hotel until the color of her skin turned a town against her And Sarah Gorby allowed injured animals to live in her home until they could return to their desert habitats The 100 Western women featured between these pages are just a handful of those who came before and after them as the territory emerged and flourished into an amazing and diverse state unlike any other in the nation

Winning Their Place Heidi J. Osselaer, 2016-05-26 In January 1999 five women were elected to the highest offices in Arizona including governor secretary of state attorney general treasurer and superintendent of public instruction The Fab Five as they were dubbed by the media were sworn in by U S Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor herself a former member of the Arizona legislature Some observers assumed that the success of women in Arizona politics was a result of the modern women's movement but Winning Their Place convincingly demonstrates that these recent political victories have a long and fascinating history This landmark book chronicles for the first time the participation of Arizona women in the state's early politics Incorporating impressive original research Winning Their Place traces the roots of the political participation of women from the territorial period to after World War II Although women in Arizona first entered politics for traditional reasons to reform society and protect women and children they quickly realized that male politicians were uninterested in their demands Most suffrage activists were working professional women who understood that the work place discriminated against them In Arizona they won the vote because they demanded rights as working women and aligned with labor unions and third parties that sympathized with their cause After winning the vote the victorious suffragists ran for office because they believed men could not and would not represent their interests Through this process these Arizona women became excellent politicians Unlike women in many other states women in Arizona quickly carved out a place for themselves in local and state politics even without the support of the reigning Democratic Party and challenged men for county office the state legislature state office Congress and even for governor This fascinating book reveals how they shattered traditional notions about a woman's place and paved the way for future female politicians including the Fab Five and countless others who have changed the course of Arizona history

Southwest Train Robberies Doug Hocking,2023-05-01 In 1854 the United States acquired the roughly 30 000 square mile region of present day southern Arizona and southwestern New Mexico from Mexico as part of the Gadsden Purchase This new Southern Corridor was ideal for train routes from Texas to California and soon tracks were laid for the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe rail lines Shipping goods by train was more efficient and for desperate outlaws and opportunistic lawmen robbing trains was high risk high reward The Southern Corridor was the location of sixteen train robberies between 1883 and 1922 It was also the homebase of cowboy turned outlaw Black Jack Ketchum's High Five Gang. Most of these desperadoes rode the rails to Arizona's Cochise County on the US Mexico border where locals and lawmen alike hid them from discovery. Both Wyatt Earp and Texas John Slaughter tried to clean them out but it took the Arizona Rangers to finish the job. It was a time and place where posses were as likely to get arrested as the bandits. Some of the Rangers and some of Slaughter's deputies were train robbers. When rewards were offered there were often so many claimants that only the lawyers came out ahead. Southwest Train Robberies chronicles the train heists throughout the region at the turn of the twentieth century and the robbers who pulled off these train jobs with daring deceit and plain dumb luck. Many of these blundering outlaws escaped capture by baffling law enforcement. One outlaw crew had their own caboose Number 44 and the railroad shipped them back and forth between Tucson and El Paso while they scouted locations. Legend says one gang disappeared into Colossal Cave to split the loot leaving the posse out front while they divided the cash and escaped out another entrance. The antics of these outlaws inspired Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid to blow up an express car and to run out guns blazing into the fire of a company of soldiers.

Arizona Territory 1899 Ruby Fortune faces an untenable choice murder her abusive husband or continue to live with bruises that never heal. One bullet is all it takes. Once known as Girl Wonder on the Wild West circuit Ruby is now a single mother of four boys in her hometown of Jericho an end of the world mining town north of Tucson. Here Ruby opens a roadside inn to make ends meet. Drifters grifters con men and prostitutes plow through the hotel's doors and their escapades pepper the local newspaper like buckshot. An affair with an African American miner puts Ruby's life and livelihood at risk but she can't let him go. Not until a trio of disparate characters her dead husband's sister a vindictive shopkeeper and the local mine owner she once swindled threaten to ruin her does Ruby face the consequences of her choices but as usual she does what she needs to in order to provide for herself and her sons. Set against the breathtaking beauty of Arizona's Sonoran Desert and bursting with Wild West imagery history suspense and adventure Hardland serves up a tough fast talking shoot from the hip heroine who goes to every length to survive and carve out a life for herself and her sons in one of the harshest places in the American West.

The Sonoran Desert Eric Magrane, Christopher Cokinos, 2016-05-05 A land of austerity and bounty the Sonoran Desert is a place that captures imaginations and hearts. It is a place where barbs snag thorns prick and claws scratch. A place where lizards scramble and pause hawks hunt like wolves and bobcats skulk in creosote. Both literary anthology and hands on field guide The Sonoran Desert is a groundbreaking book that melds art and science. It captures the stunning biodiversity of the world's most verdant desert through words and images. More than fifty poets and writers including Christopher Cokinos Alison Hawthorne Deming Ken Lamberton Eric Magrane Jane Miller Gary Paul Nabhan Alberto R os Ofelia Zepeda and many others have composed responses to key species of this striking desert. Each creative contribution is joined by an illustration by award winning artist Paul Mirocha and scientific information about the creature or plant authored by the book's editors.

From the saguaro to the mountain lion from the black tailed jackrabbit to the mesquite the species represented here have evoked compelling and creative responses from each contributor Just as writers such as Edward Abbey and Ellen Meloy have memorialized the desert this collection is sure to become a new classic offering up the next generation of voices of this special and beautiful place the Sonoran Desert
