Crabb, 2010-12-10 Major General William T Sherman s march from Savannah Georgia to Columbia South Carolina was marked by a battle with an unrelenting enemy the swamps of the Palmetto State For more than two weeks Sherman s veterans faced an unforgiving quagmire coupled by daily skirmishes with gallant bands of outnumbered Confederates Along the way a ruined countryside and wrecked towns marked the path of an army unlike any since the days of Julius Caesar It would take an army as adept with the axe as they were with the rifle to tame the rivers tributaries and swamps of the South Carolina Lowcountry Join historian Chris Crabb as he traces the steps of Sherman s sixty thousand man army in its amphibious march from Beaufort to Columbia Civil War Canon Thomas J. Brown, 2015-02-17 In this expansive history of South Carolina s commemoration of the Civil War era Thomas J Brown uses the lens of place to examine the ways that landmarks of Confederate memory have helped white southerners negotiate their shifting political social and economic positions By looking at prominent sites such as Fort Sumter Charleston s Magnolia Cemetery and the South Carolina statehouse Brown reveals a dynamic pattern of contestation and change He highlights transformations of gender norms and establishes a fresh perspective on race in Civil War remembrance by emphasizing the fluidity of racial identity within the politics of white supremacy Despite the conservative ideology that connects these sites Brown argues that the Confederate canon of memory has adapted to address varied challenges of modernity from the war s end to the present when enthusiasts turn to fantasy to renew a faded myth while children of the civil rights era look for a usable Confederate past In surveying a rich controversial and sometimes even comical cultural landscape Brown illuminates the workings of collective memory sustained by engagement with the particularity of place
