German Sports, Doping, and Politics Michael Krüger, Christian Becker, Stefan Nielsen, 2015-04-09 In the Cold War era sport was not just a symbol of the power and strength of a nation state but of certain ideological systems of politics With the pressure for athletes to succeed at its zenith many East German athletes were given anabolic steroids by their country s own sport federation While doping in East Germany has been intensely researched in the past decades the state of West German athletics during this time has remained largely a mystery In fact doping was a common practice on both sides of the Iron Curtain But how many athletes were involved And who knew about these practices In order to answer these questions the Federal Institute for Sport Science in Germany supported a research project to shed light on the other West German side of doping history Based on analyses of authentic documents and archives German Sports Doping and Politics A History of Performance Enhancement is a unique study spanning from 1950 2007 Translated from its original German and supplemented with new material written especially for an international audience this innovative book addresses many important questions about a topic with worldwide implications Part I deals with the history of doping in the post war period of the 1950s and 60s Part II focuses on the apex of doping as well as the beginnings of the anti doping movement and Part III considers the development of doping since the

Spitting in the Soup Mark Johnson, 2016-07-01 Doping is as old as organized sports From baseball to horse racing cycling to track and field drugs have been used to enhance performance for 150 years For much of that time doping to do better was expected It was doping to throw a game that stirred outrage Today though athletes are vilified for using performance enhancing drugs Damned as moral deviants who shred the fair play fabric dopers are an affront to the athletes who don't take shortcuts But this tidy view swindles sports fans While we may want the world sorted into villains and victims putting the blame on athletes alone ignores decades of history in which teams coaches governments the media scientists sponsors sports federations and even spectators have played a role The truth about doping in sports is messy and shocking because it holds a mirror to our own reluctance to spit in the soup that is to tell the truth about the spectacle we crave In Spitting in the Soup sports journalist Mark Johnson explores how the deals made behind closed doors keep drugs in sports Johnson unwinds the doping culture from the early days when pills meant progress and uncovers the complex relationships that underlie elite sports culture the essence of which is not to play fair but to push the boundaries of human performance It's easy to assume that drugs in sports have always been frowned upon but that's not true Drugs in sports are old It's banning drugs in sports that is new Spitting in the Soup offers a bitingly honest clear eyed look at why that's so and what it will take to kick pills out of the locker room once and for all international athletes and also as a process of knowledge transfer This book was published as a special issue of Sport in History
