Douglas John Hall,2004-03-14 The deterioration of our natural environment under the impact of a rampant technological society is one of the major crises of our time For many analysts a primary cause of this crisis is the influence on Western culture of the Judaeo Christian concept of the human being as having dominion over the rest of creation In this book Douglas John Hall does not attempt to exonerate historical Christianity from that charge But he argues confession alone is not enough The crisis of nature forces us to rethink our whole understanding of the relation between humanity and nature an understanding that is based on the concept that human beings are created in the image of God imago Dei Hall carefully examines the biblical historical and theological meanings of this term which more than any other biblical expression became Christianity's symbolic way of designating the essence of the human. Hall argues that the image of God is not an endowment it is not something that human beings have rather it is a quality that pertains to our relationship with God. We should think of imago as a verb not a noun he says. The human vocation within the created order is to image the Creator. When this is applied in a consistent and serious way the idea of human dominion over all of nature must be radically reinterpreted. Taking the Lordship of Jesus as an authentic model for understanding our human relation to the natural order means that dominion is expressed not as mastery but as service sacrificial service of the others with and for whom one is responsible. Thus the concept of dominion as stewardship eschews any idea of ownership or superiority in relation to nature yet assumes a special accountability for its welfare. A provocative and original work. Hall's book retains the biblical centrality of homo sapiens while at the same time raising both nature and God to a new kind of prominence in the dialogue that is life. To Show and to

Hunter, 2004 Those Christians who work in missionary settings among non Christian groups learned an important lesson long ago about communicating the gospel You can build the church ring the bell and hope that folks will find their way to your doorstep Or you can immerse yourself in the culture build relationships and minister to people where they are Needless to say it is the latter route that bears the greatest fruit and the greatest similarity to Jesus own practice of proclaiming the gospel As churches in North America seek to grow and minister more effectively they would do well to remember that they too live in an increasingly non Christian culture The churches that will succeed in reaching out to the unchurched in this society are those who have learned how to encounter such people on their own territory Hence one congregation brings visitors into their building not through something foreign sounding like a narthex but through a coffee and espresso bar In this and dozens of other ways innovative congregations are reaching out to the unchurched Kent Hunter names such forms of ministry the Jesus Enterprise In this helpful book he tells the stories of churches where this kind of outreach has become the norm More important he also provides other churches the tools they need to identify the particular opportunities their context presents and ways to take advantage of those opportunities to present the gospel to those most in need of it Disciplines of a Godly Man (Updated Edition) R. express their own struggles and thoughts in response This 30 day devotional journal provides Scripture readings commentary notes and thought provoking questions Seekers in the Hands of an Elusive God Jeffery M.

Leonard, 2025-06-17 Some Christians experience the presence of God as readily as they feel a pleasant breeze or sunshine For others God's presence is often much more difficult to find Like the psalmists we struggle with asking Why O Lord do you stand far off Ps 10 1 At least part of the dynamic in this struggle lies in the fact that Scripture presents God as both everywhere and mysterious at the same time As Paul told the sages of the Areopagus In him we live and move and have our being yet it is God's will that we search for God grope for him and find him Acts 17 27 28 God is as present with his people as the tabernacle was with ancient Israel and yet even the tabernacle was meant to illustrate the fact that God cannot be pinned down contained or controlled We live in the tension of worshiping a God who is everywhere and yet must be sought Seekers in the Hands of an Elusive God explains the scriptural dynamic of this omnipresent but elusive God It is when we fail to search for God that our view of who God truly is becomes distorted and our own spiritual health diminishes when our relationship with God lacks this pursuit But how then are we called to seek God This book considers a variety of avenues in Scripture nature humanity worship silence doubt suffering death and joy In all these ways even those of us who wrestle with spiritual loneliness can join with saints of the past in pursuing the face of God
