Mortification Writers Stories Of Their Public Shame:

Mortification: Writers' Stories of their Public Shame Robin Robertson, 2012-08-30 A collection of stories from some of the world's greatest writers about their own public humiliation

Mortification Robin Robertson, 2004-03-30 A writer's public life is not as is often thought a round of glamorous parties prize acceptance speeches and triumphant readings to amphitheatres full of loyal cheering fans it is in fact a grim treadmill of humiliation and neglect Mortification sets the record straight once and for all A collection of seventy specially commissioned contributions true stories of public indignity by some of our finest living writers this is a celebration of defeat and a chance to indulge in that most malicious of pleasures schadenfreude You will read about dashed hopes and collapsing bowels thwarted desire and unimpeded drinking of fans queuing up for Stephen King's blood Margaret Drabble bidding at a mock slave auction in Dallas Louis de Bernières and the S A L Kennedy's disintegrating trousers William Boyd endorsing Shake n Vac Margaret Atwood's on air brush with the Colostomy Association about an author wanting to kill a member of her audience or another succeeding accidentally in killing his host's beloved pet These are the best kind of stories those told against the teller While readers may be transfixed by the baroque twists of fate the toe curling embarrassments the body's betrayals and the mind's vanishing acts they will also wonder at these writers brave acknowledgment of their own vulnerability and the willingness to expose their shame a second time before the public

Mortification Robin Robertson, 2003

The Deleted World Tomas Tranströmer, 2014-11-25 A short selection of haunting meditative poems from the winner of the 2011 Nobel Prize in Literature Tomas Tranströmer can be clearly recognized not just as Sweden's most important poet but as a writer of international stature whose work speaks to us now with undiminished clarity and resonance Long celebrated as a master of the arresting suggestive image Tranströmer is a poet of the liminal drawn again and again to thresholds of light and of water the boundaries between man and nature wakefulness and dream A deeply spiritual but secular writer his skepticism about humanity is continually challenged by the implacable renewing power of the natural world His poems are epiphanies rooted in experience spare luminous meditations that his extraordinary images split open exposing something sudden mysterious and unforgettable

Stories About Storytellers Douglas Gibson, 2011-10-01 The legendary Canadian book editor presents this remarkable four decade romp through the back rooms of publishing Toronto Sun Scottish born Douglas Gibson was drawn to Canada by the writing of Stephen Leacock and eventually made his way across the Atlantic to find a job in book publishing where he edited a biography of none other than Leacock But over the decades his stellar career would lead him to work with many more of the country's leading literary lights This memoir shares stories of working and playing alongside writers including Robertson Davies Mavis Gallant Brian Mulroney Val Ross W O Mitchell and many more Gibson reveals the projects he brainstormed for Barry Broadfoot how he convinced future Nobel Prize winner Alice Munro to keep writing short stories his early morning phone call from a former prime minister and his recollection of yanking a manuscript right out of Alistair MacLeod's reluctant hands which ultimately garnered the author one of the world's most prestigious prizes for fiction. Insightful and entertaining, this collection of tales goes behind the scenes and between the covers to divulge a treasure trove of literary adventures. He makes his life in publishing sound like great fun. The Globe and Mail Toronto Live Literature Ellen Wiles, 2021-05-21. This ground-breaking book explores the phenomenal growth of live literature in the digitalizing 21st century. Wiles asks why literary events appeal and matter to people and how they can transform the ways in which fiction is received and valued. Readers are immersed in the experience of two contrasting events: a major literary festival and an intimate LGBTQ salon. Evocative scenes and observations are interwoven with sharp critical analysis and entertaining conversations with well-known author-performers, reader audiences, producers, critics, and booksellers. Wiles's experiential literary ethnography represents an innovative and vital contribution not just to literary research but to research into the value of cultural experience across art forms. This book probes intersections between readers and audiences, writers and performers, texts and events, bodies and memories, and curation and reception. It addresses key literary debates from cultural appropriation to diversity in publishing, the effects of social media, and the quest for authenticity. It will engage a broad audience from academics and producers to writers and audiences. Beyond Coincidence Martin Plimmer, Brian King, 2013-09-10. Ever wonder what the odds are of being struck by lightning? Or winning the lottery? Or meeting someone from Timbuktu with the same middle name as you? BEYOND COINCIDENCE recounts and analyzes over 200 amazing stories of synchronicity: the likes of Laura Buxton, age ten, releases a balloon from her back yard. It lands 140 miles away in the backyard of another Laura Buxton, also age ten. Two sisters in Alabama decide independently to visit the other. En route, their identical jeeps collide and both sisters are killed. A British cavalry officer was fighting in the last year of World War One when he was knocked off his horse by a flash of lightning. He was paralyzed from the waist down. The man moved to Vancouver, Canada, where six years later, while fishing in a river, lightning struck him again, paralyzing his right side. Two years later, he was sufficiently recovered to take walks in a local park when, in 1930, lightning sought him out again, this time permanently paralyzing him. He died soon after. Four years later, lightning destroyed his tomb. The Digital Literary Sphere Simone Murray, 2018-10-01. How has the Internet changed literary culture? 2nd Place N Katherine Hayles Award for Criticism of Electronic Literature by The Electronic Literature Organization. Reports of the book's death have been greatly exaggerated. Books are flourishing in the Internet era, widely discussed and reviewed in online readers' forums and publicized through book trailers and author blog tours. But over the past twenty-five years, digital media platforms have undeniably transformed book culture. Since Amazon's founding in 1994, the whole way in which books are created, marketed, publicized, sold, reviewed, showcased, consumed, and commented upon has changed dramatically. The digital literary sphere is no mere appendage to the world of print; it is where literary reputations are made, movements are born, and readers passionately engage with their favorite works and authors. In The Digital Literary Sphere, Simone Murray considers the contemporary book world from multiple viewpoints By examining reader engagement with the online personas of Margaret Atwood John Green Gary Shteyngart David Foster Wallace Karl Ove Knausgaard and even Jonathan Franzen among others Murray reveals the dynamic interrelationship of print and digital technologies Drawing on approaches from literary studies media and cultural studies book history cultural policy and the digital humanities this book asks What is the significance of authors communicating directly to readers via social media How does digital media reframe the live author reader encounter And does the growing army of reader reviewers signal an overdue democratizing of literary culture or the atomizing of cultural authority In exploring these questions The Digital Literary Sphere takes stock of epochal changes in the book industry while probing books and digital media s complex contemporary coexistence Handbook of Creative Writing Steven Earnshaw,2014-04-14 In this new edition 54 chapters cover the central pillars of writing creatively the theories behind the creativity the techniques and writing as a commercial enterprise With contributions from over 50 poets novelists dramatists publishers editors tutors critics and scholars this is the essential guide to writing and getting published DT A 3 in 1 text with outstanding breadth of coverage on the theories the craft the business of creative writing DT Includes practical advice on getting published making money from your writing New for this edition DT Chapters on popular topics such as self publishing and the rise of the indie author social media flash fiction song lyrics creative critical hybrids and collaboration in the theatre DT New and updated exercises to help you practice your writing DT Up to date information on teaching copyright writing for the web earning a living as a writer DT Updated Glossary of Terms Moving Targets Margaret Atwood,2006 The most precious treasure of this collection is that it gives us the rich back story and diverse range of influences on Margaret Atwood s work From the aunts who encouraged her nascent writing career to the influence of George Orwell s Nineteen Eighty Four on The Handmaid s Tale we trace the movement of Atwood s fertile and curious mind in action over the years Atwood s controversial political pieces Napoleon s Two Biggest Mistakes and Letter to America both not so veiled warnings about the repercussions of the war in Iraq also appear alongside pieces that exhibit her active concern for the environment the North and the future of the human race Atwood also writes about her peers John Updike Marina Warner Italo Calvino Marian Engel Toni Morrison Angela Carter Gabriel Garcia Marquez Mordecai Richler Elmore Leonard and Ursula Le Guin This is a landmark volume from a major writer whose worldwide readership is in the millions and whose work has influenced and entertained generations Moving Targets is the companion volume to Second Words The Constant Art of Being a Writer N.M.
