Moslem Noble His Land People With Some:

Communal Violence in the British Empire Mark Doyle, 2016-08-11 Joint winner of the North American Conference on British Studies 2017 Stansky Book Prize for the best book on British Studies since 1800 Communal Violence in the British Empire focuses on how Britons interpreted, policed and sometimes fostered violence between different ethnic and religious communities in the empire. It also asks what these outbreaks meant for the power and prestige of Britain among subject populations. Alternating between chapters of engaging narrative and chapters of careful cross colonial analysis, Mark Doyle uses outbreaks of communal violence in Ireland, the West Indies and South Asia to uncover the inner workings of British imperialism, its guiding assumptions, its mechanisms of control, its impact and its limitations. He explains how Britons used communal violence to justify the imperial project even as that project was creating the conditions for more violence. Above all, this book demonstrates how communal violence exposed the limits of British power and in time helped lay the groundwork for the empire's collapse. This book shows how violence and the British state's handling thereof was a fundamental part of the imperial experience for colonizer and colonized alike. It offers a new perspective on the workings of empire that will be of interest to any student of imperial or world history. Bibliotheca Orientalis Luzac & Co, 1916 Bradshaw's railway &c. through route and overland guide to India, Egypt, and China; or The traveller's manual [&c. Born and raised in India, Moin Mir has worked extensively in the fields of advertising and brand consulting across Europe and Asia. Driven by his passion for History, Sufism and cultural revivalism and restoration, Mir began by working on the translation of Mirza Ghalib's India's foremost Urdu poet's letters into English, a project that inspired him to pursue his interests in History even further. Mir is a descendant of Hazrat Modud Chishti, one of the stalwart founders of the Chishti Sufi order. He is also a scion of the Nawab family of Surat and next in line to succeed his father as the Darbar of Kamandiyah, Gujarat, India. He lives in London with his fiancé Leonie Moschner. Alphabetical Finding List Princeton University Library, 1921 Melancholy and Other Poems Thomas Cox (poet.), 1857 Year After Year Caroline Clive, 1858 Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle, 1857 The Colonel's Daughters; Or, Life is But a Dream; a Tale E. In the colonial context of South Asia there is a glaring asymmetry in the written records of the interaction between the Bengali women and their European counterparts which is indicative of the larger and the overall asymmetry of discursive power including the flow and access to information between the colonizers and their subjects This book explores the idea of gazing through literature in Colonial India Based on literary and historical analysis it focuses on four different genres of literary writing where nineteenth century Bengali women writers look back at the British colonizers In the process the European culture becomes a static point of reference and the chapters in the book show the ideological social cultural political and deeper emotional interactions between the colonized and the colonizer The book also addresses the lack of sufficient primary sources authored by Bengali women on their European counterparts by anthologizing different available genres Taking into account literary narratives from the colonized and the less represented side of the divide such as a travelogue fantasy fiction missionary text and journal articles the book represents the varying opinions and perspectives vis vis the European women Using an interdisciplinary approach charting the fields of Indology colonial studies sociology literature literary historiography South Asian feminism and cultural studies this book makes an important contribution to the field of South Asian Studies studies of empire and to Indian women s literary history Subject-index to the author-catalogue. 1908-10. 2 v Imperial Library, Calcutta,1908
