Mother Death:

Grieving the Death of a Mother Harold Ivan Smith, 2024 Written by grief counselor Harold Ivan Smith this book is for those who have loved and lost their mom Drawing on personal and professional experience Smith guides readers through grief from death to burial to honoring the memory of their mother

Flowers for Mother's Grave; or, Thoughts on Mother's Love, Mother's Death, Mother's Grave, and Mother's Home in Heaven John McCoy, Daniel H.

Wever, 2025-07-12 Reprint of the original first published in 1883 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage

Death and the Mother from Dickens to Freud Carolyn Dever, 1998-05-14 The cultural ideal of motherhood in Victorian Britain seems to be undermined by Victorian novels which almost always represent mothers as incapacitated abandoning or dead Carolyn Dever argues that the phenomenon of the dead or missing mother in Victorian narrative is central to the construction of the good mother as a cultural ideal Maternal loss is the prerequisite for Victorian representations of domestic life a fact which has especially complex implications for women When Freud constructs psychoanalytical models of family gender and desire he too assumes that domesticity begins with the death of the mother Analysing texts by Dickens Collins Eliot Darwin and Woolf as well as Freud Klein and Winnicott Dever argues that fictional and theoretical narratives alike use maternal absence to articulate concerns about gender and representation Psychoanalysis has long been used to analyse Victorian fiction Dever contends that Victorian fiction has much to teach us about psychoanalysis

A Mother's Death L. M. Gautreaux, 2013-10 What does a mother do when death comes too early What does a mother do when she knows she may lose her life at the worst possible moment right as her daughter enters high school I am one of those mothers and I chose to write my daughter a letter I share my favorite memories with her and then move on to the milestones in her life I may miss I say the things I would've said about boys high school making mistakes marriage and other important events I may not be there for We still have hope that I will survive we see the doctors at the Mayo Clinic on October 15 2013 As I wrote my letter I realized it could be a resource for another dying parent or bereft child I hope my husband never has to give this letter to my daughter but it will be there if I die That's the only thing this mother could think to do This is a short memoir and is slightly over 10 000 words

African American Daughters and Elderly Mothers Sharon Hines Smith, 2021-12-12 First published in 1998 The death of an elderly person and its impact on an adult child is considered so normal that it has attracted scant attention This study attempts to fill that gap by examining a specific slice of a specific ethnic group and looking at the meaning of elderly mothers' deaths for their adult African American daughters from the perspective of those daughters

The Mother's Legacy in Early Modern England Ms Jennifer Heller, 2013-05-28 Using printed and manuscript texts composed between 1575 and 1672 Jennifer Heller defines the genre of the mother's legacy as a distinct branch of the advice tradition in early modern England that takes the form of a dying mother's pious counsel to her children. Reading these texts in light of specific cultural contexts, social trends, and historical events, Heller explores how legacy writers used the genre to secure personal and family status, to shape their children's beliefs and behaviors, and to intervene in the period's tumultuous religious and political debates. The author's attention to the fine details of the period's religious and political swings, drawn from sources such as royal proclamations, sermons, and first-hand accounts of book burnings, creates a fuller context for her analysis of the legacies. Similarly, Heller explains the appeal of the genre by connecting it to social factors, including mortality rates and inheritance practices. Analyses of related genres, such as conduct books and fathers' legacies, highlight the unique features and functions of mothers' legacies. Heller also attends to the personal side of the genre, demonstrating that a writer's education, marriages, children, and turns of fortune affect her work within the genre.

Breast Cancer Julianne S. Oktay, J. Dianne Garner, 2013-12-16. I will always and forever feel I have a hole in my life where my mother once existed. I think when you have to think about the fact you might have to take care of your parents someday and juggle kids at the same time, it's a scary proposition. We had open communication during and before the breast cancer. But then after the breast cancer, I was often afraid to bring things up in trying to protect Mom. This insightful book tells the stories of women whose mothers had breast cancer. It uses their own voices to express the common fears and expectations of daughters in the periods before and during their mothers' illnesses, involving genetic risks, death, and dying, and changes in their relationships. The case studies, tables, and figures, and two appendices will benefit health professionals and counselors, while the poignant narratives will help mothers and daughters better understand their experiences with breast cancer. I was kind of surprised to be alive and free of cancer at age 42 when, at this point, my mother was crippled by metastases. When I get to be 43, the age at which my mother died, or maybe when I get to 44, it's like, what do I do? I have this life that I didn't expect to have. Breast Cancer Daughters Tell Their Stories presents the results of a qualitative grounded theory study of breast cancer survivors, providing in-depth information about an aspect of breast cancer that has been previously overlooked. The book examines the daughters' experiences through four phases: the period prior to mother's illness, the period during mother's illness and treatment, the period following mother's death, and the long-term impact. From this study, recommendations are compiled for providing or improving services for tomorrow's daughters. The radical mastectomy left her scarred and disfigured below her nightgown. It was bruised and nasty-looking. That was kind of scary. I think that has terrified me since. Sometimes I'll have pains in my left breast, and that's what I visualize. It's terrifying. I'm not really obsessed about dying of cancer. I'm more along the line of, if this is going to happen to me and there's a chance it's going to, I'm gonna survive. I'm not going to die from it. From an empathetic perspective, this book reveals how many daughters react to and deal with their mothers' diagnoses, depending on their age and family situation at the time of their mothers' illnesses. It shows how daughters can gain a more accurate idea of their level of risk by providing educational materials and developing new strategies for communication. It also helps breast cancer survivors see how their illnesses can shape their daughters future outlook offering new inspiration for resolving and preventing family crises Memoir of Mother Mary Rose Columba Adams, O.P. William Robert Brownlow,1895 Believing the Impossible Before Breakfast Osho,2024-05-03 Tao is the name for that which cannot be named a name for the nameless just like god or dhamma or truth or logos These are not really names but human helplessness We have to call it something we have to address it Tao is one of the most beautiful names given to the unknown because it is utterly meaningless God has become very meaningful hence it has lost significance My Mother's Hip Luise Margolies,2004 Some 400 000 hip fractures occur every year the vast majority among the elderly all too often these fractures are associated with death or severe disability After her mother s double hip fracture Luisa Margolies immersed herself in identifying and coordinating the services and professionals needed to provide critical care for an elderly person She soon realized that the American medical system is ill prepared to deal with the long term care needs of our graying society The heart of My Mother s Hip is taken up with the author s day to day observations as her mother s condition worsened then improved only to worsen again while her father became increasingly anxious and disoriented As both a devoted daughter and a skilled anthropologist Margolies vividly renders her interactions with physicians nurses hospital workers nursing home administrators the Medicare bureaucracy home care providers and her parents In the Lessons chapter that follows each episode she discusses in a broader context the weighty decisions that adult children must make on their parents behalf and the emotional toll their responsibility takes Here she addresses the complex practical issues that commonly arise in such situations understanding the consequences of hip fracture and its treatment preparing health care proxies and advanced directives enabling elders to remain at home and the heartbreaking dilemma of prolonging life Like many adult children Margolies learned her lessons about eldercare in the midst of crises This book is intended to ease the information gathering and decision making processes for others involved in eldercare Move Over Manic Depression A. Brocklesby,2011-06 By Anne Brocklesby ISBN 9781847471017 Published 2007 Pages 165 Key Themes manic depression bi polar disorder medication empowerment Description A sincere and moving autobiography about a mother of two whose life is turned upside down by post natal depression and bi polar Anne suffered severe side effects from taking prozac but fought back through CBT studying poetry and writing about her condition Anne s personal transformation from sufferer to empowered and confident woman gives new hope to fellow sufferers Anne s bravery is an example to us all this book is an inspiration to sufferers carers and professionals alike About the Author Anne Brocklesby was born in 1951 in Epsom Surrey She was educated in Wimbledon and Scotland before studying social sciences at Edinburgh University She has now returned to live in Wimbledon where she has worked for many years in the voluntary sector She is involved in the Make Poverty History campaign and takes an active interest in mental health issues trying to promote a more positive image and challenging discrimination and stigma Book Extract I think I developed a separation anxiety at a very early age and had the enduring feeling that in fact I was an orphan My mother told me that I was sent for 3 weeks to my aunt and uncle s house with two of their children to spend time being looked after by them when my mother was giving birth to my sister Kay her second child Of course I do not remember any of this but I am conscious of a feeling of separation which I can only trace to this time My mother said that when I returned I looked like a neglected orphan because my hair seemed a tangled mass as though it had not been brushed or combed
