Property Social Structure And Law In The Modern Middle East:

Property, Social Structure, and Law in the Modern Middle East Ann E. Mayer, 1985-09-01 For too long the study of law and society in the modern Middle East has been left to specialists in narrow subcategories of law or the social sciences. Property Social Structure and Law in the Modern Middle East lays the groundwork for a new field of scholarship in which analysis of the social dimensions of law and the legal dimensions of social structure are integrated. It offers the stimulus of a variety of new models of scholarship by a distinguished international group of contributors whose work shares a common focus on regimes of property in the societies of the modern Middle East. The case studies examine the regulations of many kinds of property in relation to the social structures of selected Middle Eastern communities from the eighteenth century to the present. Most of the societies studied are subjected to pressures for rapid modernization and adjustment to major economic transformations. The book features comparisons of property rights and relations under regimes of Islamic and customary law as well as modern statutory law. Highlighted are new patterns of intervention by modern Middle Eastern states to alter traditional regimes of property and to transform the accompanying social structures. Their implications for development are also considered. The book's notes and bibliographies constitute a valuable resource for anyone interested in further research.

The Life of the Law Laura Nader, 2002-02-28 Nader traces the evolution of the plaintiff's role in the United States in the second half of the twentieth century and convincingly argues that the atrophy of the plaintiff's power during this period undermines democracy.

Kinship, Islam, and the Politics of Marriage in Jordan Geoffrey F. Hughes, 2021-06-01 In Kinship Islam and the Politics of Marriage in Jordan Geoffrey Hughes sets out to trace the marriage crisis in Jordan and the Middle East. Rapid institutional, technological, and intellectual shifts in Jordan have challenged the traditional notions of marriage and the role of powerful patrilineal kin groups in society by promoting an alternative ideal of romantic love between husband and wife. Drawing on many years of fieldwork in rural Jordan, Kinship Islam and the Politics of Marriage in Jordan provides a firsthand look at how expectations around marriage are changing for young people in the Middle East even as they are still expected to raise money for housing, bridewealth, and a wedding. Kinship Islam and the Politics of Marriage in Jordan offers an intriguing look at the contrasts between the traditional values and social practices of rural Jordanians around marriage and the challenges and expectations of young people as their families negotiate the concept of kinship as part of the future of politics, family dynamics, and religious devotion.

Housing Policy Matters Shlomo Angel, 2000 This book is an extended essay on the myriad relationships between housing policy and housing market performance. The main thesis is that significant differences in important housing outcomes are attributable at least in part to differences in the housing policy regimes of cities and countries.

Tournaments of Value Anne Meneley, 2016-08-12 A significant contribution to our understanding of the varied experience of women in the Islamic Middle East, Tournaments of Value gives a careful description of a world of female socializing and the velocity, energy, and elaborateness of this remarkable female social world Meneley's data challenges assumptions about the cross cultural validity of a division between household and community between domestic and public domains She demonstrates the fluidity of social life the shifting nature of community organization and in doing so provides a welcome counterpoint to more rigid formulations of Middle Eastern social structure usually expressed in ethnographies Tournaments of Value incorporates vignettes to illustrate more analytical points and to enliven the text allowing the reader to enter fully into the rich world of Zabid in Yemen This expanded 20th anniversary edition introduces this seminal work on Middle Eastern ethnography and women's studies to a new generation of readers

Contrarian Anthropology Laura Nader, 2018-01-08 Analyzing the workings of boundary maintenance in the areas of anthropology energy gender and law Nader contrasts dominant trends in academia with work that pushes the boundaries of acceptable methods and theories Although the selections illustrate the history of one anthropologist's work over half a century the wider intent is to label a field as contrarian to reveal unwritten rules that sometimes hinder transformative thinking and to stimulate boundary crossing in others

In the Time of Oil Mandana Limbert, 2010-06-07 Compelling ethnography Mandana Limbert offers unusual insights into contemporary Arabian Peninsula society This is an exemplary book for a region in which such books are few and far between Dale F Elckelman Dartmouth College

The Politics of Water Kai Wegerich, Jeroen Warner, 2010-07-20 This authoritative reference work gives timely information on the global politics of water Readers will find case studies on a variety of complex water situations from the Okavango River that flows through Angola Namibia and Botswana to the Euphrates Tigris of the Upper Persian Gulf With the current threat of climate change and increasing demand on water resources the book gives valuable insight into an increasingly politicized topic Politics of Water is a welcome addition to Routledge's extensive The Politics of reference series Readers will benefit from essays on major topics in water politics from a variety of contributors thirteen in all including Is water politics Towards international water relations and The politics of water and mining in South Africa sensitive debate on gender issues reflecting the fact that in many cultures men are responsible for the supply of water and women as cultivators and house keepers are the major users an A Z glossary of key terms issues organizations etc in water politics information on selected major river basins of the world including maps detailing water consumption and resources The Politics of Water is a useful guide to the politics surrounding the availability and provision of water on a world wide scale It will prove to be a useful reference source for anyone interested in or studying the politics of water and climate change

Managing and Transforming Water Conflicts Jerome Delli Priscoli, Aaron T. Wolf, 2010-02-04 What is the one thing that no one can do without Water Where water crosses boundaries be they economic legal political or cultural the stage is set for disputes between different users trying to safeguard access to a vital resource while protecting the natural environment Without strategies to anticipate address and mediate between competing users intractable water conflicts are likely to become more frequent more intense and more disruptive around the world In this book Delli Priscoli and Wolf investigate the dynamics of water conflict and conflict resolution from the local to the international They explore the inexorable links between three facets of conflict management and transformation Alternative Dispute Resolution ADR public participation and institutional capacity This practical guide will be invaluable to water management professionals as well as to researchers and students in engineering economics geography geology and political science who are involved in any aspects of water management

Trade and Enterprise Gad Gilbar, 2022-10-31 Until recently the historiography of Middle Eastern economic elites during the first globalization has ignored the significant role played by Muslim tujj r big merchant entrepreneurs Foreign firms and local minorities were considered the prime agents of economic change and the initiators of economic growth The 12 studies in this volume show that the Muslim tujj r played a major economic role in various regions of the Middle East during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Their investments mainly in commercial agriculture resulted in economic growth and changed economic structures and social relations in many Middle Eastern communities They were also involved in political developments some of which had a dramatic effect on the history of their countries as for instance in late Qajar Iran They also played a unique role in the process of cultural change Although they supported the ulam financially they also contributed to the establishment of new educational and cultural institutions The story of the tujj r is unique in the sense that it was the only indigenous elite group in the pre World War I Middle East to bridge between traditional forces and concepts and Western attitudes and practices CS 1108
