The Right of Hot Pursuit in International Law Nicholas M Poúlantzas, 2002-10-23 In three Parts the author examines the right of hot pursuit on land in the international law of the sea and in international air law He critically analyzes the development of the right its present status and position in the future Hence solutions are proposed to present problems of international law in connection with the right of hot pursuit as well as to problems which may arise in the future Thus the doctrine of hot pursuit is placed within the framework of modern international law and examined in the light of recent developments These extensively discussed developments include not only consideration of the right of hot pursuit in connection with guerilla warfare techniques and conflicts not amounting to war but also all recent evolutions in the international law of the sea including inter alia problems appertaining to fisheries exploration and exploitation of the continental shelf pirate radiostations and pollution of the sea In addition the right of hot pursuit in international air law is examined in connection with all modern situations for instance recent interception techniques of intruding aircraft contiguous air space limits hijacking of aircraft and air piracy This work is an extended and updated edition of the book first published in 1969

Economics for an Information Age Patrick Spread, 2018-10-08 Economics for an Information Age examines the central role of information within economics and society The neoclassical economic model taught as mainstream economics in universities around the world relies on a mathematical model of resource allocation in which private advantage gives rise to public advantage in the shape of an optimal allocation of resources However this model assumes perfect information In the present information age such an assumption is even farther from the reality than it was in the past People disseminate and manipulate information to further their interests This book explains economic behaviour in terms of a theory of money bargaining and political and intellectual support bargaining in which the dissemination of information plays a central role It uses this lens to explain how information is created manipulated disseminated organised understood interpreted used bought and sold This book will be of interest to mainstream and heterodox economists alike as well as historians of economic thought and anyone who seeks to better understand the impact of the information age on economic behaviour
