Phillips, 2019-06-28 This book centres on the use of the Bible within contemporary digital social media culture and gives an overview of its use online with examples from brand new research from the CODEC Research Centre at Durham University UK It examines the shift from a propositional to a therapeutic approach to faith from a sociological standpoint The book covers two research projects in particular the Twitter Gospels and Online Moralistic Therapeutic Deism It explores the data as they relate to Abby Day's concept of performative belief picking up on Mia L. Viehm's challenge to see how this concept works out in digital culture and social media It also compares the data to various construals of contemporary approaches to faith performative faith including Christian Smith and Melissa Lundquist Denton's concept of moralistic therapeutic deism Other research is also compared to the findings of these projects including a micro project on Celebrities and the Bible to give a wider perspective on these issues in both the UK and the USA As a sociological exploration of Digital Millennial culture and its relationship to sacred texts this will be of keen interest to scholars of Biblical studies religion and digital media and contemporary lived religion Caught in the Current Sam Reimer, 2023-04-15 Evangelical Christianity is known for its defence of traditional Christian teachings and resistance to liberalizing trends Many Western evangelicals themselves do not yet realize how their faith is being reshaped by the modern zeitgeist Caught in the Current explores how and why Western evangelicals are changing Church attendance is declining conservative moral positions are unpopular and young people are drifting away from the faith Evangelism is avoided so few are joining congregations Yet these surface changes are only symptoms of a more profound shift that church leaders have not fully apprehended Drawing upon 125 interviews with British and Canadian clergy and active laity Sam Reimer argues that evangelicals have been deeply influenced by a post Christian culture that has rejected institutional religious authority and embraced self spirituality As individual evangelicals struggle to navigate these waters and to distance themselves from politicized evangelicalism in the United States they are caught between conformity and resistance between faithfulness to church moral teachings and accommodation of secular values Many are responding by turning inward to define their Christian beliefs for themselves The ironic result is that the decline of institutional religious authority is not happening just in Western culture but within evangelical churches as well Caught in the Current is an insightful and nuanced assessment of how British and Canadian evangelicals are navigating a post Christian culture often in ways that are distinct from how their counterparts in the United States approach it Association Men, 1919 Sacramental Theology Bruce T. Morrill, 2019-11-18 Throughout the second half of the twentieth century sacramental theology has evolved as a discipline advancing comprehensive theories of sacraments and sacramentality as integral to the Christian faith while also studying the history and theology of the particular rites Now in the twenty first century the need for attention to the actual performance and specific social settings of sacramental worship has become well established This makes the work of sacramental theology necessarily engaged with multiple cross disciplinary theories attentive to particular contexts whether local national or global Still the divine human encounter at the heart of Christian symbol and ritual likewise beckons to philosophical theological reflection The essays in this volume begin with profound philosophical perspectives on the personal and communal sacramental experience expanding from traditional cosmology to evolutionary and chaos theories of our planetary existence continuing with shifts especially among youth to interreligious and non institutional perspectives consideration of change in popular notions of guilt and social ethical issues in relation to liturgical theology and practice so as finally to return to fundamental theological reflection on human sacramentality and divine revelation Reimagining Christian Education
