unfortunately effective implementation of important provisions continues to be elusive In addition adults charged with McKinney Vento implementation in schools voice frustration with overload and lack of support or consistent resources Through interviews with youth experiencing homelessness Aviles de Bradley introduces readers to their remarkable resilience under fire and their determination to thrive despite the systemic inequities they encounter daily The book also explores how poor people of colour experience and interface with social institutions namely schools and uncovers important connections between homelessness and racism using a Critical Race Theory framework Readers are challenged to see McKinney Vento implementation not as charity but as an issue of legislated social justice and to work towards educational equity for students experiencing homelessness

Learning for Health Professions Educators Roger Edwards, Bobbie Ann Adair White, Ardi Findyartini, 2025-06-02 The health professions continue to evolve and change rapidly as more opportunities and challenges emerge. Hence health professions educators are required to be adaptive and nimble in their creation and adoption of teaching and learning innovations. These innovations have included teaching with technologies like virtual reality, gamification, online applications, and artificial intelligence. Innovations also include know-how such as emotional intelligence and ways of approaching the learning process through student-centered learning experiences grounded in the cognitive science of learning. Scholarship related to identification of the best uses of different innovations is difficult. The same innovations have proven to be engaging in some contexts and burdensome in others. Additionally, simulation-based education continues to incorporate innovations in how health professions educators are taught, with more focus on effectiveness of the simulation educator, including applications with distance simulation. Training and development for health professions and simulation educators is becoming more formalized, yet gaps on effectiveness of training and development efforts persist. Faculty effectiveness, especially as it relates to educational innovation adoption, is difficult to measure and demonstration of related competencies is in its infancy. The goal of this Research Topic is to bring together state-of-the-art examples of scholarship in health professions education related to the awareness and appropriate adoption of innovation, which is broadly defined as an idea, practice, technology, and know-how. Evidence about the current state of emerging innovations, effectiveness of innovations, and evidence about the competencies needed for teaching in our evolving environments are all areas of interest for this collection. All types of scholarship can support this focus, including analyses based on primary quantitative and qualitative data collection, secondary data analyses, literature reviews, and methodological infrastructure tool development. Additionally, scholarship investigating how these innovations have influenced health professions educators, including their training and development, is part of the goal of the collection. The scope of this collection covers any innovations that are applicable to professional development and implementation for health professions educators. More specifically, we invite scholarship related to how educators prepare themselves for meeting the needs of their students, given the changing roles and innovations available to both faculty and students across learning environments worldwide. Examples of topics of interest include: Analyses of innovation related to the evolving roles of health professions educators; Reviews of educational innovation adoption by health professions education faculty, especially related to artificial intelligence-linked applications; Exploring factors associated with professional development training and effective educational innovation adoption by faculty; Simulation-based educational innovation applications for faculty development; Faculty innovation in resource-constrained environments in low and middle-income countries; Methodological challenges associated with studying educational innovations by faculty in health professions education; and critical research needs associated with generating and evaluating educational innovations. Methodological considerations associated with health professions education faculty competencies. Theoretically focused analyses are welcome as long as they are linked to applications The Policy Analyst's Handbook Lewis G. Irwin, 2015-02-12 This rigorous but very accessible guide to the main concepts and techniques of policy analysis is intended for students and in service professionals who want to become more efficient and effective in their work The book equips readers with a structured and disciplined step by step approach to decision making defining issues and applying the powerful techniques of policy analysis always in the context of uncertainty and limited discretion Each chapter concludes with notes and a list of supplementary sources for further reading Risks of "Cyber-relationships" in Adolescents and Young People Iratxe Redondo, Juan Manuel Machimbarrena, Joana Jaureguizar, Sebastian Wachs, 2023-02-17 Dictionary of Qualitative Inquiry Thomas A. Schwandt, 2001-03-30 Schwandt provides a guide to the terms and phrases which help shape the nature logic meaning and methods of qualitative inquiry The dictionary fills an important gap by focusing on methodological aspects rather than the technical aspects Educational Research James B. Schreiber, Kimberly Asner-Self, 2011-08-24 Researchers finally have a resource that focuses on the research question providing them with a unique approach that will help in the field Key Ideas sections presented in each chapter act as an organising mechanism and look at the big picture of that chapter Many of the writing activities are open ended questions that allow them to write questions or what they are thinking about the topic at that point In Text Activities ask them to write down what they are working on such as a research question review of literature or potential sample Case study examples are also integrated throughout to demonstrate how decisions are made and how they affect everything in a study This enables researchers to create the most effective studies The Greenwood Dictionary of Education Bloomsbury Publishing, 2011-07-19 This book defines over 3 000 terms from the field of education to assist those charged with teaching students to become global citizens in a rapidly changing technological society John W Collins and Nancy Patricia O'Brien coeditors of the first edition of The Greenwood Dictionary of Education published in 2003 have acknowledged and addressed these shifts This revised second edition supplements the extensive content of the first through greater focus on subjects such as neurosciences in educational behavior gaming strategies as a learning technique social networking and distance education Terms have been revised where necessary to represent changes in educational practice and theory The Dictionary's focus is on current and evolving terminology specific to the broad field of education although terms from closely related fields used in the context of education are also included Encompassing the history of education as well as its future trends the updated second edition will aid in the understanding and use of terms as they apply to contemporary educational research practice and theory
