Robin Boyd A Life:

Robin Boyd Geoffrey Serle, 1995-01-01 The Life and Good Works of Robin Boyd, 1954 The Figure of Knowledge Sebastiaan Loosen, Rajesh Heynicks, Hilde Heynen, 2020-10-01 It is a major challenge to write the history of post WWII architectural theory without boiling it down to a few defining paradigms An impressive anthologising effort during the 1990s charted architectural theory mostly via the various theoretical frameworks employed such as critical theory critical regionalism deconstructivism and pragmatism Yet the intellectual contours of what constitutes architectural theory have been constantly in flux It is therefore paramount to ask what kind of knowledge has become important in the recent history of architectural theory and how the resulting figure of knowledge sets the conditions for the actual arguments made The contributions in this volume focus on institutional geographical rhetorical and other conditioning factors They thus screen the unspoken rules of engagement that postwar architectural theory ascribed to Experiments in Modern Living Milton Cameron, 2012-05-01 When a group of brilliant young scientists arrived in Australia's national capital after World War II to take up leading roles in the establishment of national research institutions they commissioned Australia's leading architects to design their private houses The houses that resulted from these unique collaborations rejected previous architectural styles and wholeheartedly embraced modernist ideologies and aesthetics The story of how these progressive clients contributed to the innovative design of their houses brings fresh insights to mid twentieth century Australian domestic architecture and to Canberra's rich cultural history The Architecture of Neil Clerehan Harriet Edquist, 2009

Brutalism Resurgent Julia Gatley, Stuart King, 2018-02-02 Brutalism had its origins in b ton brut concrete in the raw and thus in the post war work of Le Corbusier The British architects Alison and Peter Smithson used the term New Brutalism from 1953 claiming that if their house in Soho had been built it would have been the first exponent of the New Brutalism in England Reyner Banham famously gave the movement a series of characteristics including the clear expression of a building's structure and services and the honest use of materials in their as found condition The Smithsons and Banham promoted the New Brutalism as ethic rather than aesthetic privileging truth to structure materials and services and the gritty reality of the working classes over the concerns of the bourgeoisie But Brutalist architecture changed as it was taken up by others giving rise to more sculptural buildings flaunting their raw materials including off form concrete often in conjunction with bold structural members While Brutalism fell out of vogue in the 1980s recent years have seen renewed admiration for it This volume is consistent with this broader resurgence presenting new scholarship on Brutalist architects and projects from Skopje to Sydney and from Harvard to Haringey It will appeal to readers interested in twentieth century architecture and modern and post war heritage This book was originally published as a special issue of Fabrications the Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians Australia and New Zealand The Many Lives of Kenneth Myer Sue Ebury, 2008 When Kenneth Baillieu Myer's father fell dead on the footpath in 1934 Ken's life changed in an instant As the eldest son of the Jewish immigrant retailing genius Sidney Baeviski Myer who went from pedlar to philanthropist millionaire in fifteen years 13 year old Ken was immediately acknowledged as head of the family Despite a conventional education at Geelong Grammar and a year at Princeton University Ken was an unconventional man He had hit headlines when he was born and continued to make news throughout his life as the powerful Executive Chairman of Myer in his refusal to be Governor General of Australia with his separation and divorce from his wife Prue and remarriage to a Japanese woman half his age Yasuko Hiraoka as Chairman of the Victorian Arts Centre and the National Library of Australia and during his disastrous years as Chairman of the ABC a reward for signing the Myer It s time letter acknowledged by Whitlam as influential in bringing the Labor Party to power in 1972 Ken Myer introduced Australia to the first regional shopping centres with Chadstone changing the face of the Australian landscape Parking meters state of the art information systems at the National Library of Australia ground breaking medical research at The Howard Florey Institute and genetic engineering at CSIRO were all facilitated by him Visionary and romantic he was depressive and driven charming one moment icy the next Unpretentious and a passionate conservationist he was generous both publicly and anonymously giving away his fortune and in doing so founding modern philanthropy in Australia Happiest when finally free of the Store he died with his wife Yasuko in a light plane crash in Alaska in 1992 With unprecedented access to family documents Sue Ebury paints a vivid portrait of the many aspects of Ken Myer s life and the man himself City Dreamers Graeme Davison,2016-08-01 I became an urban historian because I believed that our cities deserved more of our curiosity and idealism In City Dreamers Graeme Davison restores Australian cities and those who created them to their rightful place in the national imagination Building on a lifetime s work Davison views Australian history from 1788 to the present day through the eyes of city dreamers such as Henry Lawson Charles Bean and Hugh Stretton and others who have helped make the cities we inhabit Davison looks at significant individuals or groups that he calls snobs slummers pessimists exodists suburbans and anti suburbans and argues that there s a particular twist to the ways in which Australians think about cities And the ways we live in them This extraordinary book excavates the cultural history of the Australian city by focusing on dreamers those who battle to make and re make our cities It reminds us that for most of us the city is home and it is there that we find belonging Future Practice Rory Hyde,2012-10-12 Designers around the world are carving out opportunities for new kinds of engagement new kinds of collaboration new kinds of design outcomes and new kinds of practice overturning the inherited assumptions of the design professions Seventeen conversations with practitioners from the fields of architecture policy activism design education research history community engagement and more each representing an emergent role for designers to occupy Whether the civic entrepreneur the double agent or the strategic designer this book offers a diverse spectrum of approaches to design each offering a potential future for architectural practice With a foreword by Dan Hill and interviews with Steve Ashton ARM Bryan Boyer Helsinki Design Lab Camila Bustamante Mel Dodd muf_aus DUS Architects Jeanne Gang Studio Gang Reinier de Graaf and Laura Baird AMO

Documenting the Beijing Olympics D.P. Martinez, Kevin Latham, 2013-10-18 This book focuses on the processes of documenting the Beijing Olympics ranging from the visual television and film to radio and the written word and the meanings generated by such representations What were the key stories and how were they chosen What was dramatised Who were the heroes Which clashes were highlighted and how What sorts of stories did the notion of human interest generate Did politics take a backseat or was the topic highlighted repeatedly Thus the focus was not on the success or failure of this event but on the ways in which the Olympics Games as international and historic events are memorialised by observers The key question that this book addresses is How far would the Olympic coverage fall into the patterns of representation that have come to dominate Olympic reporting and what would China as a discursive subject bring to these patterns This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society
