Role Of Apoptosis In Infection:

Role of Apoptosis in Infection Diane E. Griffin, 2005-08-29 will follow Cell Death During HIV Infection Andrew D. Badley, 2005-11-29 In an effort to go beyond immune based therapies researchers are now considering the implications of apoptosis dysregulation during HIV induced immunodeficiency This work provides the first comprehensive compendium of the progress made in understanding the process of cell death related to HIV and the potential breakthroughs in treatment that offer much promise Combining the work of more than two dozen top researchers this seminal volume provides clinicians and researchers with an excellent reference while also serving as an incubator to stimulate future research It explains the fundamental biology involved with apoptosis explains its clinical impact in HIV and examines the newest therapeutic approaches The inflammasome and its role in infections Amal O. Amer, The Mechanisms of Neuronal Damage in

Virus Infections of the Nervous System Georg Gosztonyi, 2013-04-17 It has been recognized that viruses can induce neuronal damage by a variety of mechanisms This volume summarizes for the first time the various ways that neurons can degenerate under the influence of viral infection ranging from acute necrosis and virus induced apoptosis to chronic damage in persistent infections The mechanisms of neuronal latency are dealt with as well The volume also includes chapters that review the chronic damage caused by viral proteins that interfere with differentiated functions of the neuron including signaling by neurotransmitters and signal transduction by trophic factors Other chapters deal with the controversial role of cellular immune reactions which may be helpful in controlling infection but may also be detrimental to the host nervous system The specific mechanisms of damage involved in retroviral infections and in prion diseases of the nervous system are reviewed and finally how autoimmune diseases can lead to neuronal damage Protective and Pathological Immune

Responses in the CNS B. Dietzschold, J.A. Richt, 2013-11-11 In spite of the protection of the CNS there are situations where immune responses occur due to different disease processes While antigen specific cells of the adaptive immune response are not normally functional in the CNS tissue CNS resident cells respond to infection or insult One mechanism is through the induction of apoptosis in virus infected neurons which may be protective or pathogenic depending on the extent of cell death

Bacteria-host interactions: from infection to carcinogenesis Marco Antonio Hernández-Luna, Maurizio Sanguinetti, 2025-07-31 Bacteria host interactions represent a critical area of research particularly in the context of infection and carcinogenesis Microorganisms such as viruses and bacteria have long been implicated in the development of cancers with notable examples including human papillomavirus HPV in cervical cancer and Helicobacter pylori in gastric cancer Recent studies have expanded this understanding to include a broader range of bacteria both pathogenic and commensal in the carcinogenic process This has sparked significant interest in the role of bacteria in the onset and progression of various neoplasms While much of the research has concentrated on gastrointestinal cancers where dysbiosis and bacterial infections are suspected contributors emerging evidence suggests that bacteria also colonize tumor tissues in organs such as the breast prostate and lung Despite these findings the precise mechanisms by which bacteria influence tumor biology remain poorly understood highlighting the need for further investigation This research topic aims to describe the complex interactions between bacteria and host tissues that contribute to carcinogenesis Specifically it seeks to identify and characterize pathogenic bacteria associated with cancer understand the role of bacterial toxins in carcinogenic activity and explore the impact of dysbiosis in gastrointestinal neoplasms Additionally the research will investigate bacterial colonization in various tumor tissues and the resulting immunological alterations due to bacteria tumor interactions By addressing these questions the research aims to fill critical gaps in our understanding and potentially uncover new avenues for cancer prevention and treatment To gather further insights into the intricate dynamics of bacteria host interactions in carcinogenesis we welcome articles addressing but not limited to the following themes Pathogenic bacteria associated with carcinogenesis Bacterial toxins with carcinogenic activity Dysbiosis in neoplasms of the gastrointestinal tract Bacterial colonization in tumor tissue Immunological alterations due to bacteria tumor tissue interaction Roles of Non-coding RNAs in Infectious Diseases Guofeng Cheng,Pengfei Cai,Yongsheng Liu,2022-11-29 The Belt and Road of Animal Diseases Shao-Lun Zhai,Feng Li,2022-01-05 Insect Infection and Immunity Jens Rolff,Stuart Reynolds,2009-06-25 The study of insect immune systems has accelerated rapidly in recent years is now becoming an important interdisciplinary field This book provides a coherent synthesis is clearly structured around three broadly themed sections mechanisms interactions evolutionary ecology

Host-Parasite Interactions Gert Flik,Geert Wiegertjes,2004-07-01 This volume summarizes current research into the physiology and molecular biology of host parasite interactions Brought together by leading international experts in the field the first section outlines fundamental processes followed by specific examples in the concluding section Covering a wide range of organisms Host Parasite Interactions is essential reading for researchers in the field
