Self as Method Biao Xiang,Qi Wu,2022-09-30 Despite China s rise to the status of global power many Chinese youths are anxious about their personal future in large measure because the rapid changes have left them feeling adrift This book available in open access provides a manifesto of intellectual activism that counsels China's young people to think by themselves and for themselves. Consisting of three conversations between Xiang Biao, a social anthropologist, and Wu Qi, a rising journalist, the book probes how China has reached its current stage and how young people can make changes. The conversations touch on issues of mobility, education, family relations between the self and the authority centers and margins of China and the world. The Chinese version was named the most impactful book of 2021 by Douban, China's premier website for rating books, films, and music. The English version is translated by David Ownby, who also penned an introduction.

Henry Miller and Narrative Form James Decker, 2006-06-01 In this bold study, James M. Decker argues against the commonly held opinion that Henry Miller's narratives suffer from formlessness. He instead positions Miller as a stylistic pioneer whose place must be assured in the American literary canon. From Moloch to Nexus through such widely read texts as Tropic of Cancer and Tropic of Capricorn, Decker examines what Miller calls his spiral form, a radically digressive style that shifts wildly between realism and the fantastic. Drawing on a variety of narratological and critical sources, as well as Miller's own aesthetic theories, he highlights that this fragmented narrative style formed part of a sustained critique of modern spiritual decay. A deliberate move rather than a compositional weakness, then, Miller's style finds a wide variety of antecedents in the work of such figures as Nietzsche, Rabelais, Joyce, Bergson, and Whitman, and is viewed by Decker as an attempt to chart the journey of the self through the modern city. Henry Miller and Narrative Form affords readers new insights into some of the most challenging writings of the twentieth century and provides a template for understanding the significance of an extraordinary and inventive narrative form.

The Dialectic of Self and Story Robert Durante, 2014-01-14 Informed by selected postmodern theories and cultural criticism, this study argues that while American fiction of the 1980s and 1990s bears the outward signs of a return to realism, it also evidences recurring themes of postmodernism such as alienation, social disintegration, personal despair, historical dislocation, and authorial self-reflexiveness.

Discourse and Narrative Methods Mona Livholts, Maria Tamboukou, 2015-04-14 Discourses and narratives are crucial in how we understand a world of rapid changes. This textbook constitutes a unique introduction to two major influential theoretical and methodological fields: discourse and narrative methods, and examines them in their interrelation. It offers readers an orientation within the broad and contested area of discourse and narrative methods and develops concrete analytical strategies to those who wish to explore both or one of these fields, as well as their overlaps. Illustrated with examples from real life and real research, this book maps the theoretical influence from poststructuralist, postmodern, postcolonial, and feminist ideas on the field of discourse and narrative. Acts as a guide to the most central analytical approaches in discourse and narrative studies, supported by concrete examples of analytical strategies. Presents a variety of oral, textual, visual, and other data for the purpose of analyzing discourse and narrative. Offers deeper insight into discourse and narrative methods within three themes of crucial importance for changing global context: media and society, gender and space, and autobiography and life writing. Acts as a helpful guide to situated writing based on concrete workshop exercises which promotes ethical reflexivity analytical thinking and creative engagement in the study of discourses and narratives

Flavius Josephus' Self-Characterisation in First-Century Rome Eelco Glas, 2024-06-03 The Jewish War describes the history of the First Jewish Revolt against Rome 66-70 CE This study deals with one of this work's most intriguing features why and how Flavius Josephus its author describes his own actions in the context of this conflict in such detail Glas traces the thematic and rhetorical aspects of autobiographical discourse in War and uses contextual evidence to situate Josephus self characterisation in a Flavian Roman setting In doing so he sheds new light on this Jewish writer's historiographical methods and his deep knowledge and creative use of Graeco Roman culture
