Tokyoids Francois Blanciak, 2022-09-13 A photographic survey of the robotic face of Tokyo buildings and an argument that robot aesthetics plays a central role in architectural history In Tokyoids architect Francois Blanciak surveys the robotic faces omnipresent in Tokyo buildings offering an architectural taxonomy based not on the usual variables size material historical style but on the observable expressions of buildings Are the eyes windows twinkling the mouth door laughing Is that balcony a howl of distress Investigating robot aesthetics through his photographs of fifty buildings Blanciak argues that the robot face originated in architecture before the birth of robotics and has played a central role in architectural history Blanciak first puts the robot face into historical perspective examining the importance of the face in architectural theory and demonstrating that the construction of architecture's emblematic portraits triggered the emergence of a robot aesthetics He then explores the emotions conveyed by the photographed buildings robot faces in chapters titled Awe Wrath Mirth Pain Angst and Hunger As he does so he considers among other things the architectural relevance of Tokyo's ordinary buildings the repression of the figural in contemporary architecture an aesthetic of dismemberment linked to the structure of the Japanese language and local building design and the influence of automation technology upon human interaction Part photographic survey part theoretical inquiry Tokyoids upends the usual approach to robotics in architecture by considering not the automation of architectural output but the aesthetic properties of the robot Teaching at the Bauhaus Rainer Wick, Gabriele Diana Grawe, 2000 Within the space of only 14 years the Bauhaus permanently altered the course of modern design and Walter Gropius's pedagogical approach revolutionised art schools Interest in the Bauhaus and Gropius's methods is as lively today as ever in conscious and unconscious borrowings from his work or in direct criticism of his ideas This publication is the only comprehensive account of the main pedagogical concepts behind the work of the Bauhaus Analytical essays illuminate the various approaches of individual staff members in the Bauhaus which included Gropius Hannes Meyer Mies van der Rohe Itten Moholy Nagy Albers Kandinsky Klee Schlemmer and Joost Schmidt Additional chapters investigate the pre history of the Bauhaus plus its predecessors in matters of art training outlining the development of the institution from 1919 to 1933 and the reception of Bauhaus methods in the Weimar Republic in the Third Reich in both Germanys after the Second World War and the USA drawing on otherwise widely dispersed writings on the Bauhaus as well as on a wide variety of other archive materials

Beyond the Bauhaus Deborah Ascher Barnstone, 2016-06-28 Reclaims the essential role that the city of Breslau played in the origins of aesthetic modernism in the Weimar era

Choreographing Discourses Mark Franko, 2018-12-07 Choreographing Discourses brings together essays originally published by Mark Franko between 1996 and the contemporary moment Assembling these essays from international sometimes untranslated sources and curating their relationship to a rapidly changing field this Reader offers an important resource in the dynamic scholarly fields of Dance and Performance Studies What makes this volume especially appropriate for undergraduate and graduate teaching is its critical focus on twentieth and twenty first century dance artists and choreographers among these Oskar Schlemmer Merce Cunningham Kazuo Ohno William Forsythe Bill T Jones and Pina Bausch some of the most high profile European American and Japanese artists of the past century The volume s constellation of topics delves into controversies that are essential turning points in the field notably Still Here and Paris is Burning which illuminate the spine of the field while interlinking dance scholarship with performance theory film visual and public art The volume contains the first critical assessments of Franko s contribution to the field by Andr Lepecki and Gay Morris and an interview incorporating a biographical dimension to the development of Franko s work and its relation to his dance and choreography Ultimately this Reader encourages a wide scope of conversation and engagement opening up core questions in ethics embodiment and performativity

Watching Weimar Dance Kate Elswit, 2014-07-17 Watching Weimar Dance asks what audiences saw on stages from cabaret and revue to concert dance and experimental theatre in the turbulent moment of the Weimar Republic Spectator reports that performers died or became half machine archive not only the physicality of past performance but also the ways audiences used the temporary world of the theatre to negotiate pressing social issues from female visibility within commodity culture to human functioning in an era of increasing technologization Archives of watching a range of performance artists including Oskar Schlemmer Valeska Gert Kurt Jooss Mary Wigman Bertolt Brecht Anita Berber and the Tiller Girl troupes also revise and complicate our understanding of Ausdruckstanz as the representative dance of this moment in Germany They further reveal how such practices came to be imbued with different significance in the postwar era as well as in transnational context By bringing insights from theatre dance and performance studies to German cultural studies and vice versa Watching Weimar Dance develops a culturally situated model of spectatorship that not only offers a new narrative but also demonstrates new methods for dance scholarship to shape cultural history

Architecture as a Performing Art Marcia Feuerstein, Gray Read, 2016-04-15 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design

Motion and Representation Nicolas Salazar Sutil,2015-05-08 An examination of the ways human movement can be represented as a formal language and how this language can be mediated technologically In Motion and Representation Nicol s Salazar Sutil considers the representation of human motion through languages of movement and technological mediation He argues that technology transforms the representation of movement and that representation in turn transforms the way we move and what we understand to be movement Humans communicate through movement physically and mentally To record and capture integrated movement both bodily and mental by means of formal language and technological media produces a material record and cultural expression of our evolving kinetic minds and identities Salazar Sutil considers three forms of movement inscription a written record notation a visual record animation and a computational record motion capture He focuses on what he calls kinetic formalism formalized movement in such pursuits as dance sports live animation and kinetic art as well as abstract definitions of movement in mathematics and computer science He explores the representation of kinetic space and spatiotemporality the representation of mental plans of movement movement notation including stave notation Labanotation and such contemporary forms of notation as Choreographic Language Agent and the impact of digital technology on contemporary representations of movement in particular motion capture technology and Internet transfer protocols Motion and Representation offers a unique cultural theory of movement and of the ever changing ways of representing movement

Visions of the Human Tom Slevin,2015-05-28 In what ways do the artistic avant garde s representations of the human body reflect the catastrophe of World War I The European modernists were inspired by developments in the nineteenth century yielding new forms of knowledge about the nature of reality and repositioning the human body as the new object of knowledge New visions of the human subject were created within this transformation However modernity s reactionary political climate for which World War I provided a catalyst transformed a once liberal ideal between humanity environment and technology into a tool of disciplinary rationalisation Visions of the Human considers the consequences of this historical moment for the twentieth and twenty first centuries It explores the ways in which the technologies of the self that inspired the avant garde were increasingly instrumentalised by conservative politics urbanism consumer capitalism and the society of the spectacle This is an engaging and powerful study which challenges prior ideas and explores new ways of thinking about modern visual culture

Design in Motion Laura A. Frahm, 2022-07-19 The first comprehensive history in English of film at the Bauhaus exploring practices that experimented with film as an adaptable elastic polymedium With Design in Motion Laura Frahm proposes an alternate history of the Bauhaus one in which visual media and film in particular are crucial to the Bauhaus's visionary pursuit of integrating art and technology In the first comprehensive examination in English of film at the Bauhaus Frahm shows that experimentation with film spanned a range of Bauhaus practices from textiles and typography to stage and exhibition design Indeed Bauhausler deployed film as an adaptable elastic polymedium malleable in shape and form unfolding and refracting into multiple material aesthetic and philosophical directions Frahm shows how the encounter with film imbued the Bauhaus of the 1920s and early 1930s with a flexible notion of design infusing painting with temporal concepts sculptures with moving forms photographs with sequential aesthetics architectural designs with a choreography of movement Frahm considers among other things student works that explored light and the transparent features of celluloid and cellophane weaving practices that incorporate cellophane experimental films social documentaries and critical reportage by Bauhaus women and the proliferation of film strips in posters book covers and other typographic work Viewing the Bauhaus s engagement with film through a media theoretic lens Frahm shows how film became a medium for design in motion Movement and process rather than stability and fixity become the defining characteristics of Bauhaus educational aesthetic and philosophical ethos
