Kenneth Rubin

Management Of Costs Value And Resources:

Management of Costs, Value and Resources Financial Training Company Limited, 2000-07-01 Management of Costs, Value and Resources: Units 8 & 9, 2005-08 A Mathematical Approach to Human Resources Teena Mishra, 2024-01-19 This book focuses on the requirements of the field of modern human resources HR to develop a new mathematical model that is not only organisational output focused but also employee focused The book presents recommendations for understanding human resource practice and investigates and debates various measurement and evaluation approaches to human resource practice Currently HR professionals only use one or two aspects of HR practice that are linked to good employee performance and emphasise output generating HR practices This book facilitates the adoption of alternative approaches to human resources through its exploration of various measurement and assessment concepts Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1991 Costs of Managing Nontimber Resources when Harvesting Timber in the Northern Rockies Robert Earl Benson, 1985 SMART - IWRM - Sustainable Management of Available Water Resources with Innovative Technologies - Integrated Water Resources Management in the Lower Jordan Rift Valley : Final Report Phase II Klinger, Jochen, Goldscheider, Nico, Hoetzl, Heinz, 2015-10-01 Current Cost-sharing and Financing Policies for Federal and State Water Resources Development Kenneth Rubin, 1983 The Nation's Range Resources United States. Forest-Range Task Force, 1972 A Recommended Renewable Resources Program--1980 Update United States. Forest Service, 1980 Public Comments and Forest Service Response to the DEIS, Proposed Lincoln National Forest Plan, 1986 Proceedings of the 1991 Symposium on Systems Analysis in Forest Resources, 1991 A stochastic model is presented to generate daily values of precipitation solar radiation maximum temperature and minimum temperature Precipitation is modeled by a Markov chain exponential model Solar radiation maximum and minimum temperature are modeled using a multivariate generating model conditioned on the wet or dry state of the day and time period The model is formulated such that outputs can be used in simulation exercises to test the effect of changing climatic conditions on forest ecosystem processes Economic Efficiency and Risk Character of Fire Management Programs Thomas John Mills, 1988 Plan for Development of the Land and Water Resources of the Southeast River Basins United States Study Commission on the Savannah, Altamaha, Saint Marys, Apalachicola-Chattahoochee, and Perdido-Escambia River Basins and Intervening areas, 1963 Report of the Expert Consultation on Identifying, Assessing and Reporting on Subsidies in the Fishing Industry Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2003-01-01 The consultation reviewed an FAO guide for identifying assessing and reporting on subsidies It recommended that FAO support Members in undertaking studies based on the guide The experts considered it important that available methodologies be used to assess impacts flowing from actions taken by recipients of subsidies on environment trade economic growth and social conditions Human Resource Accounting Eric Flamholtz, 1999-05-31 Updating the book

since its last publication in 1985 this new edition of the landmark work on human resource accounting has been substantially revised to reflect the current state of the field through the late 1990s The economies of many nations are increasingly dominated by knowledge or information based sectors driven by highly trained and specialized personnel Whereas physical capital was of the utmost economic importance in the past the distinctive feature of the emerging post industrial economies is an increasing reliance on human and intellectual capital The growing importance of human capital as a determinant of economic success at both the macroeconomic and microeconomic levels dictates that firms need to adjust to this new economic reality Specifically if human capital is a key determinant for organizational success then investment in the training and development of employees to improve performance is a critical component of this success This broad socioeconomic shift underscores a growing need for measuring and analyzing human capital when making managerial and financial decisions Yet important human resource decisions involving hiring training compensation productivity and other matters are often made in the absence of specific information about the different costs and benefits of these particular choices Human resource accounting is a managerial tool that can be used to gain this valuable information by measuring the costs of recruiting hiring compensating and training employees It can be used to evaluate employee training programs increase productivity and improve managerial decision making regarding promotions transfers layoffs replacement and turnover Case studies illustrate for example How an insurance company evaluated a training program for claims adjusters and found that it would return two dollars for every one dollar spent How a human resources accounting study revealed that an electronics firm s losses from employee turnover equalled one year s new income and how the company initiated a program to reduce turnovers The third edition presents the current state of the art of human resource accounting by 1 examining the concepts and methods of accounting for people as human resources 2 explaining the present and potential uses of human resource accounting for human resource managers line managers and investors 3 describing the research experiments and applications of human resource accounting in organizations 4 considering the steps involved in developing a human resource accounting system and 5 discussing some of the remaining aspects of human resource accounting that require further research General

Technical Report PSW. ,1978 A Compendium of Forest Growth and Yield Simulators for the Pacific Coast States Martin W. Aswathanarayana,2001-01-01 Addressing the techno socio economic challenges involved in the protection conservation recycling and equitable utilization of water as an economic good this text explores the linkages and dynamics of interactions involving water and includes the following key topic areas dynamics of interactions involving water water quality augmentation and conservation of water resources wastewater reuse systems use of water in agriculture industrial and municipal uses of water water pollution economics and management of water supplies etiology of water related diseases climate change impacts on water resources and paradigms of water resource management Social and Economic Benefits of Protected Areas Marianne Kettunen, Patrick ten Brink, 2013-09-05 Protected areas PAs contain biodiversity and ecosystems of high conservation value. In addition, these areas provide a range of benefits both direct and indirect to our societies and economies, i.e. so-called ecosystem services. These services include, for example, an ecosystem's ability to regulate floods and climate, purify water, secure the pollination of crops, and create opportunities for recreation, culture, and tourism. This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the socio-economic benefits of PAs and PA networks and provides step-by-step practical guidance on identifying, assessing, and valuing the various ecosystem services and related benefits provided by PAs. It also aims to improve the communication of PA benefits to different stakeholders and the general public. It is shown that identifying and valuing the socio-economic benefits of PAs can be beneficial for several reasons. Demonstrating the socio-economic importance of a protected site can significantly increase political and stakeholder support for the site and resolve conflicts between different interest groups. This can lead to positive changes in policies and decision-making. Insights on PA benefits are also needed to identify a combination of actions and land use practices that best support the sustainable and equitable utilisation of these benefits while retaining a site's conservation goals. Finally, demonstrating different benefits can help to discover alternative and sustainable sources for financing the management of PAs.
