While there is now a well-defined and growing body of research on the theory and application of designing for values or value-sensitive design, at present the pedagogical dimension remains underexplored. Teaching Design for Values: A Companion is a resource for teachers of design-based disciplines who wish to foreground values more explicitly in their classes. With fourteen chapters written by both TU Delft educators and international contributors, the book aims to examine the concepts, methods and experiences of teaching design for values within a variety of fields including urbanism, engineering, architecture, artificial intelligence and industrial design. Through its multi-disciplinarity, Teaching Design for Values proposes an expanded definition of design to encompass a broad range of disciplines and processes that deal generally with future imagining and future building, including process management. In doing so, it explores the ways that values may be expressed and analysed in a variety of different pedagogical contexts.
