HKPropel Access takes a practical approach for teaching students how to become strong leaders and managers in the world of sport. Organized around the central management functions of planning, organizing, leading, and controlling, and addressing the Commission on Sport Management Accreditation (COSMA) Common Professional Component topics and North American Society for Sport Management (NASSM) guidelines, the fourth edition has been extensively updated with hundreds of new references and sport examples. The text employs a three-pronged approach for teaching management theory, putting theories into practice, and developing students' management skills. Timely discussions and case studies address the impacts of COVID-19, Black Lives Matter initiatives, name, image, and likeness rules, women in executive positions, corporate social responsibility, data analytics, and more. While other texts focus on learning about sport management, Applied Sport Management Skills enables students to apply the principles while developing the skills to become effective sport managers. Interactive online learning tools available through HKPropel complement activities found in each chapter. Flash card activities help students learn key terms. Self-assessments, which ask students to identify their strengths and weaknesses and plan to improve shortcomings, are now assignable, trackable, and automatically scored. Applying the Concepts quizzes, which challenge students to identify management concepts illustrated in various situations, are now trackable and automatically scored. Time Out features, in which students apply management concepts to their personal sport and work experiences, are now assignable instructor-scored assessments. Case studies are now supplemented by 10 question, automatically scored quizzes and include three open-ended discussion questions. Additional assignments, available in downloadable documents for students to complete and submit to the instructor, further facilitate the application of the concepts presented in the text. Sport Management Professionals Work activities provide a cohesive thread to keep students focused on how sport managers use the concepts on the job. Skill Builder Exercises present real-world scenarios designed to help future managers handle day-to-day situations such as setting priorities, conducting job interviews, handling conflict, and coaching employees. Sports and Social Media Exercises introduce students to the role of social media in managing sport organizations. Students review popular social media sites such as Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn and visit sport websites. Game Plan for Starting a Sport Business features ask students to perform managerial tasks such as developing an organization structure and brainstorming ideas for leading employees. With Applied Sport Management Skills, students will be primed for an exciting career in sport management by gaining a thorough understanding of management theories and developing the acumen to apply them. Applied Sport Management Skills, Second Edition (With Web Study Guide) Robert N. Lussier, PhD and David C. Kimball, PhD, Management Skills W.T. Singleton, 2013-03-09. W T SINGLETON THE CONCEPT This is the third in a series of books devoted to the study of real skills. The topic is management. A book on social skills is still to come, and it might seem that the sequence should be reversed on the grounds that social skills are obviously one element in management skills, but it is appropriate to deal with management first on the criterion of increasing complexity Management skills are easier to understand than general social skills This is because the defining characteristic of a skill is a purpose The purpose of organizations in which managers operate and the tasks in which they are engaged are not easy to define but they are certainly less obscure than are the more general purposes of communities and people interactions in which the complete range of social skills is practised Skills like purposes are inherently to do with people It follows that the skills view of management will be as a people based activity Individuals carry out management tasks and these tasks always involve other individuals of whom some are subordinate some superior and some equivalent within the hierarchy of the particular management organization The concept of a hierarchy is as central to management as it is to skills The alternative to hierarchy is anarchy Management is not solely concerned with people
