Management Consultancy and the British State Antonio E. Weiss,2018-10-26 This book traces the emergence and development of the relationship between management consultancies and the British state It seeks to answer three questions why were management consultants brought into the machinery of the state how has state power been impacted by bringing profit seeking actors into the machinery of the state and how has the nature of management consultancy changed over time The book demonstrates the role consultants played in major developments in the postwar period Specific case studies interrogate how consultancies influenced the policy fields of health service reform and social security benefits This book will redefine debates amongst business historians and historians of the postwar British state about the nature of management consultancy and public sector reform

Angels of Efficiency Florian Hoof, 2020-03-02 Angels of Efficiency traces the invention of film and the parallel rise of management consulting telling the story of how these together brought about new forms of information visualization and visual management The period from 1880 to 1930 author Florian Hoof argues saw the genesis of a form of visual knowledge that provided a novel means to intervene in management processes Visual management largely superseded oral and written forms of communication and decision making instituting a strategy for overcoming the mid nineteenth century crisis of control and resulting in a media based form of rationality Focusing largely on early corporate consulting in America by tracing the careers of Frank Gilbreth and his wife and business partner Lillian Gilbreth Hoof examines the rise and lasting effects of corporate consulting as a visual form Framing consulting as a cultural technique that is characterized by media processes in which the boundaries of economic logic and legitimacy emerge Angels of Efficiency forges a new approach to the history of consulting In addition to pioneering a new field of film and media studies Hoof contributes original research to American cultural and economic history such as archival findings concerning Gilbreth's consulting efforts for the German Army during WWI With this distinct and innovative interdisciplinary approach Hoof has marshalled cinema and media studies business history and science and technology studies to make sense of the rise of consulting practices and their remarkable stability to this day

Handbook of Research on Entrepreneurship in Professional Services Markus Reihlen, Andreas Werr, 2012-01-01 Professional service firms are critical agents of contemporary economies and understanding them has become a central focus of recent scholarship This very timely and well organized Handbook brings together several leading scholars who explore how we might think and theorize about professional service firms and their entrepreneurial behaviours The Handbook will become a key source for the growing community of researchers in this area Royston Greenwood University of Alberta Canada For too long both researchers and practitioners have presumed that professional service firms follow the status quo when they should better understand how these professionals set the rules for globalization This Handbook reminds us that professionals are as much the shock troops of capitalism as the multinational corporations that they serve As this Handbook shows the leading firms successfully compete with each other by fostering entrepreneurship and innovation in order to service an institutional system that undergirds the international economy Christopher McKenna University of Oxford UK Professional services are increasingly seen as an important foundation for future economic growth and prosperity Yet research on innovative and entrepreneurial processes in professional services has been surprisingly scarce This Handbook provides a collection of original contributions from leading scholars outlining the current stock of knowledge in the area as well as providing directions for further research The expert contributors discuss entrepreneurship and innovation from a number of different perspectives including the entrepreneurial professional team the entrepreneurial firm and the institutional environment The first part of the book looks at the challenges of entrepreneurship specific to the professional service firm while the second explores the creation and exploitation of entrepreneurial opportunities in the professional service team Part III turns to the organization and Part IV to the management and growth of the entrepreneurial professional service firm The final part discusses the interplay between professions firms and the institutional environment Researchers scholars and PhD students in the areas of entrepreneurship and professional service firms along with advanced students of management will find this volume of great value      Harris' Complete Guide to NAICS Scott M.
