Management Of Upper Gastrointestinal Cancer:

Surgical and Oncological Updates in the Management of Gastric Cancer: the Role of Neoadjuvant Therapy and Minimally Invasive Surgery Aurel Ottlakan,Andras Papp,Dezso Toth,Aiwen Wu,2023-11-24      Early Gastrointestinal Cancers Florian Otto,Manfred P. Lutz,2012-11-05 This Recent Results in Cancer Research volume contains the majority of the invited expert contributions from the First St Gallen EORTC Gastrointestinal Cancer Conference held on 22-24 March 2012 in St Gallen Switzerland Written by some of the world's leading experts in the field the volume constitutes a comprehensive update on recent developments in the imaging molecular biology pathology and multidisciplinary management of early cancer of the gastrointestinal tract The latest recommendations regarding diagnosis and treatment are provided and areas of consensus and controversy identified While the principal focus is on esophageal and gastric cancer advances in the treatment of colorectal and pancreatic cancer are also discussed in some detail This book will be of interest to every clinician involved in the care of patients with gastrointestinal malignancies      Surgery in the Multimodal

Management of Gastric Cancer Giovanni De Manzoni,Franco Roviello,Walter Siquini,2012-02-04 Although there has been a slow but steady decrease in incidence gastric cancer remains the second leading cause of cancer death worldwide Several aspects of the oncological and surgical management are still controversial and so gastric cancer represents a challenge for the surgeon This book aims to delineate the state of the art in the surgical and oncological treatment of gastric cancer describing the new TNM staging system the extent of visceral resection and lymphadenectomy focusing on the different open and minimally invasive surgical techniques and discussing intraoperative chemohyperthermia and neoadjuvant and adjuvant treatment Operative endoscopy and endoscopic ultrasonography are also discussed as these now have an important role in both diagnostic work up and palliative care of gastric cancer patients Only a multidisciplinary approach involving the surgeon gastroenterologist and oncologist can produce the comprehensive and integrated overview that today constitutes a winning strategy for the optimization of results What we hope we have achieved is a flexible up to date exhaustive publication rich in illustrations and consistent with evidence based medicine      Lewis's Medical-Surgical Nursing E-Book

Cancer of the Upper Gastrointestinal Tract Mitchell C. Posner, Everett E. Vokes, Ralph R. Weichselbaum, American Cancer Society, 2002 Collectively cancer of the esophagus stomach and small intestine represent the second most common site and cause of death amongst the digestive system cancers These disparate malignancies have one thing in common consistently effective treatment remains elusive This book is a comprehensive guide to diagnosis management and post treatment care Epidemiologic factors molecular and biologic determinants diagnostic staging methods and treatment modalities are described for each organ site The text is thoroughly supported by color illustrations a key feature of the American Cancer Society Atlas of Clinical Oncology series The expert contributors from medical surgical and radiation oncology examine the advances in imaging interventional gastroenterology surgical technique and combined modality therapy and discuss their impact in the management of this challenging group of cancers Daily Clinical Practice and Patterns of Care in Upper Gastrointestinal Cancer Treatment Nadia Haj Mohammad, 2016 Upper gastrointestinal GI cancers esophageal gastric and pancreatic cancer have a dismal prognosis Despite treatment with curative intent randomized clinical trials report 5 year survival rates of only 47% in esophageal cancer 36 % in gastric cancer and 21% in pancreatic cancer In population based series 5 year survival rates of patients treated with curative intent are even lower and range from 19 25% in esophageal cancer 20 31% in gastric cancer and 11 16% in pancreatic cancer Besides the poor results of treatment management of upper GI cancers is further complicated by the occurrence of side effects of oncological treatment This is more prominent in upper GI cancer due to the extent of upper GI surgery with potentially severe complications as well as the use of multimodality treatment radiation chemotherapy which cannot always spare vital organs This may severely impact quality of life and functional outcome of these patients The poor prognosis the potentially severe toxicity of treatment and late presentation of the disease together with the relatively low incidence pose a great challenge to the optimization of outcomes of patients with upper GI cancer The main aim of this thesis is to investigate toxicity and functional outcome of treatment of locally advanced esophageal cancer and to investigate treatment strategies for metastatic esophagogastric and pancreatic cancer with a special focus on differences in management and survival between Dutch hospitals in daily practice
