ADMINISTRATIVE THEORY PARDEEP SAHNI,ETAKULA VAYUNANDAN,2009-04-14 This book presents a detailed introduction to the fundamental concepts principles and processes of the field of public administration It provides comprehensive coverage of the major topics of this diverse field Intended primarily for undergraduate and postgraduate students of public administration and political science as well as for civil services aspirants this book will also be a handy reference for professionals in public service and social service The book presents an overview of the field of public administration as well as its fundamental aspects which include the theory of administration and the nature typology and structure of organisations It explains the major theoretical perspectives as well as two major specialised areas of the field public policy and development administration It also provides an extensive presentation of the prominent aspects of the public administration and management process span of control coordination communication authority and responsibility centralisation and decentralisation and accountability and control The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies Donna Strickland,2011-07-11 In this pointed appraisal of composition studies Donna Strickland contends the rise of writing program administration is crucial to understanding the history of the field Noting existing histories of composition studies that offer little to no exploration of administration Strickland argues the field suffers from a managerial unconscious that ignores or denies the dependence of the teaching of writing on administrative structures The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies is the first book to address the history of composition studies as a profession rather than focusing on its pedagogical theories and systems Strickland questions why writing and the teaching of writing have been the major areas of scholarly inquiry in the field when specialists often work primarily as writing program administrators not teachers Strickland traces the emergence of writing programs in the early twentieth century the founding of two professional organizations by and for writing program administrators and the managerial overtones of the social turn of the field during the 1990s She illustrates how these managerial imperatives not only have provided much of the impetus for the growth of composition studies over the past three decades but also have contributed to the stratified workplaces and managed writing practices the field's pedagogical research often decries The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies makes the case that administrative work should not be separated from intellectual work calling attention to the interplay between these two kinds of work in academia at large and to the pronounced hierarchies of contingent faculty and tenure track administrators endemic to college writing programs The result is a reasoned plea for an alternative understanding of the very mission of the field itself
