Managerialism The Great Debate:

Strategic Choices in Reforming Public Service Employment C. Dell'Aringa, G. Della Rocca, B. Keller, Giuseppe Della Rocca, 2001-09-25 Although many industrialized countries have had to face the same political and economic pressures in reforming their public sectors there have been different reactions and a diversity of solutions to the emerging problems This book examines the most significant initiatives targeted towards the restructuring of public sector employment relations in countries belonging to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development The contributors focus on national and local governments and health education and social services The first section provides an up to date analysis of six European countries The second part considers the USA Canada New Zealand Australia and Japan

Contesting the Australian Way Paul Smyth, Bettina Cass, 1998 Since the 1980s public policy has been perceived as being in a crisis of uncertainty Many argue that consolidating the market imperative in both economic and social policy is the way out of this crisis In this 1999 book a leading group of writers challenge this view calling for reassertion of a mixed rather than a market economy and a reaffirmation of the egalitarianism that has characterised past Australian social policy The book confronts key issues of our time particularly rising inequality and unemployment Attempting to look beyond familiar debates about economic rationalism it discusses the role of industry policy the impact of globalisation and the usefulness of competition models in the public welfare and community sectors Asking whether economic and social policy can be reintegrated in a shared vision this groundbreaking book argues the case for reinventing government rather than marginalising it environmental terms and to more fully engage with the cultural practices processes and theorisation that comprise a social formation More broadly an approach to planning theory and practice that is itself formed through a close engagement with culture is required This Research Companion brings together leading experts from around the world to map the contours of the relationship between planning and culture and to present these inextricably linked concepts and issues together in one place By examining significant trends in varying national and international contexts the contributors scrutinise the theories and practices of both planning and culture and explore not only their interface but significant divergences and tensions In doing so this collection provides the first comprehensive overview and analysis of planning and culture interdisciplinary and international in scope It is comprised of six parts organised around the themes of global and historical contexts key dimensions of planning and cultural theory and practice and cultural and planning dynamics Each section includes a final chapter that provides a case study lens which pulls the themes of the section together with reference to a significant planning issue or initiative social practices as contested teacher professional development is revealed as a complex social practice which exists as policy as a research product and process and as an important part of teachers work The book reveals how PD as policy research and teachers work are inherently contested An extended series of case studies of teacher professional development practices from Canada England and Australia are employed to show how these tensions play out in complex ways in policy and practice
