Why Business Government Relations?

The role of companies

Businesses used to focus only on the dynamics happening in the market.

NOW, observing the behavior of the business, the society and the state, what happens in the non-market environment can affect the ability of the business to be profitable and vice versa – even more at the global level. Indeed, this has been exacerbated by globalization, which forces businesses to take into considerations global goals.

→ Blurring boundaries between society, the state and businesses

- Recognition that companies are social actors embedded in a politically and socially shaped marketplace.
- Business power is structurally embedded in the national political economy: threat of country relocation or reduced investment may suppress policy debates and proposals.

From the 70s to present, there have been an increased power and leverage of MNCs (Multinational Companies) vis-à-vis the state.

BUT simultaneously, MNCs have become more vulnerable to the direct challenges of society: globalization has exposed MNCs to the global dynamics (e.g. companies are asked to take an active position w.r.t. environmental issues).

→ they cannot focus only on the market dynamics, as they are affected and affect also the non-market dynamics!

How does business interact with government?

McKinsey Global Survey results: how businesses interact with governments, from the perspective of the business. They interviewed different CEOs in different sectors – to understand their perception concerning the role of the government.

Economic impact of government activities:

Assumption: Governments, and the decisions and activities taken by the governments (non-market environment), can affect the economic activity of companies – their ability to be profitable.

Some policies can facilitate profits, others may have a negative effect.

List of engagement activities: e.g.

- Gathering intelligence about government actions: anticipate the actions of the government and not be passive.
- Providing key government stakeholders with key facts on how its decisions will affect companies: policy evaluation in order to produce evidence.

Managing Business-government Relations John Ronald Fox,1982-01-01 What Entrepreneurs Need to Know about Government Wesley B. Truitt,2004-08-30 No business operates in America today under purely market forces Myriad rules and regulations govern every area of business conduct from establishing the firm to ensuring protection of the environment to hiring and firing policies More than half of all startups that fail in the first year do so not because they produce inferior products or neglect to analyze the competition but because they do not understand the regulatory environment in which they operate In What Entrepreneurs Need to Know about Government Wesley Truitt presents the most comprehensive overview of government regulation and its impact on business management to date Covering all levels of regulation federal state and local municipal and all stages in a firm s growth cycle establishment expansion and liquidation Truitt shows entrepreneurs and managers of established business alike how to navigate the minefield of rules and policies that oversee business activity Drawing from a wide variety of primary data sources and his own extensive experience in the public and private sectors Truitt clearly explains how government regulation of business has evolved and analyzes its positive and negative implications for management Featuring descriptions of all the key agencies and summaries of major laws Truitt offers practical guidance through a huge array of issues including intellectual property protection legal incorporation product safety and liability taxes mergers and acquisitions employee benefit programs divestiture and much more He identifies common pitfalls to avoid ways to benefit through government assistance programs and methods for influencing the policymaking process Including practical checklists and extensive listings of informational resources What Entrepreneurs Need to Know about Government is an essential guide for any business competing in the not so free market Teacher's Manual to Accompany Managing Business-government Relations, Cases and Notes on Business-government Problems John Ronald Fox,1982 Housing and Planning References ,1983 Harvard Business School Core Collection 1995 Baker Library,1995 Government Regulation and Business Response Lee E. Preston,1990

Supercapitalism Robert B. Reich,2007-09-04 From one of America s foremost economic and political thinkers comes a vital analysis of our new hypercompetitive and turbo charged global economy and the effect it is having on American democracy With his customary wit and insight Reich shows how widening inequality of income and wealth heightened job insecurity and corporate corruption are merely the logical results of a system in which politicians are more beholden to the influence of business lobbyists than to the voters who elected them Powerful and thought provoking Supercapitalism argues that a clear separation of politics and capitalism will foster an enviroment in which both business and government thrive by putting capitalism in the service of democracy and not the other way around The Role of Universities in the Europe 2020 Strategy Alessandra Ricciardelli,2017-10-31 This book provides a unique study of the role of universities as organisation systems in the pursuit of the Europe 2020 strategy While Europe 2020 focuses on creating the basis for the advancement and cohesion of the EU's member states it also has an important role in influencing the development strategies for potential candidate states In this regard the book examines two new member states Slovenia and Croatia and two potential EU candidate states Serbia and Kosovo in the Western Balkans Based on these cases the author argues that the operationalization of the Europe 2020 strategy depends to a great extent of the role and contribution of tertiary organisations such as educational institutions i.e public and private universities and therefore requires the formulation of an economic development strategy at the national level that is capable of duly allocating the available financial resources The study suggests that the paradigm shift represented by Europe 2020 has helped to forge a new academic identity adding to the relevance of university organisations as fundamental agents for the promotion of economic development in addition it shows that an intensive learning process involving major structural changes is underway in the four countries discussed as well as many other EU member states
