Managing Cancer:

Managing Cancer Patricia C. Walter, 2004-12 In the media and medical literature managing cancer as a chronic disease is fast becoming the focus of care. Patients who manage their cancer have the best chance of staying alive, having a good quality of life, or of being cured. They seek second opinions, research all types of cancer treatments, ask the right questions, protect themselves against errors during treatment, and change their lifestyles. This book provides patients with more than 200 things they need to know and elaborates on more than 200 things they can do. Doing only a few of these things may save your life. This book teaches patients how to increase their odds, how to go about making treatment decisions, how to find what they need on the Internet, why research services are worth their weight in gold, and much more. Managing Cancer: Managing to Stay Alive gives patients the following information: about what to do first, forms to help keep track of medical information, lists of questions to use to evaluate treatment options, traditional, integrative, alternative, and experimental questions to have answered before deciding on a treatment, when given a new medication, and before having a biopsy procedure, questions to ask conventional doctors, alternative doctors, the oncologist initially, and yourself before beginning a treatment, information on how to help avoid becoming one of the 50,000 Americans who die from medical errors in hospitals, or one of the 100,000 patients who die from hospital infections each year, and concise listings of symptoms of medical emergencies such as infection, anemia, blood clotting problems, allergic reactions, and adverse reactions to drugs. Compact Clinical Guide to Cancer Pain Management Pamela Stitzlein Davies, Yvonne M. D'Arcy, 2012-09-26 Awarded second place in the 2013 AJN Book of the Year Awards in the Palliative Care and Hospice category. This book provides many options for pain management in cancer patients, including pharmacological and nonpharmacological options, and is well organized and easy to navigate. Score 92.4 Stars Doody's Medical Reviews. Overall, this book is a comprehensive and wide-ranging text that, as proclaimed on the cover, is evidence-based and fully referenced. Practitioners and students alike will find it useful, and it deserves a place on the library shelf where people from a wide range of backgrounds can gain access. International Journal of Palliative Nursing. This text is full of clinical pearls based on the authors' extensive clinical experience with effective and ineffective pain management interventions. The scope of the content in this text is extremely comprehensive: newer content on the effect of opioid polymorphisms, cancer pain emergencies, myofascial pain, and chronic pain in cancer survivors places this text at the forefront in terms of cutting-edge issues in cancer pain management. Christine Miaskowski, RN, PhD, FAAN, Professor and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, American Cancer Society Clinical Research Professor, Sharon A. Lamb Endowed Chair in Symptom Management Research, Department of Physiological Nursing, University of California, San Francisco, CA. From the Foreword: Although the prevalence of uncontrolled cancer pain remains unnecessarily high, research has indicated that 90% of cancer patients with pain can be successfully treated with standard therapies. This concise yet extremely comprehensive guide to managing cancer pain will enable nurses on the front lines of pain assessment and management to incorporate effective strategies into their daily practice. It offers quick access to current evidence based guidelines for busy nurses and nurse practitioners working in all oncology care settings. To facilitate quick information retrieval the text is designed in a consistently organized bulleted format with highlighted key information and tools for assessment and standardized treatment. It also serves as an important review for the ONS and HPNA certification exam. This book focuses on all aspects of cancer pain including assessment and screening tools, pharmacologic and nonpharmacologic treatment options, current national guidelines for pain management, regional anesthesia techniques, patient controlled anesthesia and epidural pain management. It also includes updated information on the effect of opioid polymorphisms, cancer pain emergencies, myofascial pain and chronic pain in cancer survivors. The book covers palliative care and end of life pain management especially for patients who have symptoms that are not managed. Information on chronic pain conditions such as neuropathic pain in cancer and the use of adjuvant medications for pain control are included along with special treatment options for addiction and substance abuse in the cancer population. The text additionally provides information on managing pain with difficult to treat populations. Key Features: Provides current evidence based information on all aspects of cancer pain management. Includes important new guidelines on using a combination of pain management scales for optimal pain assessment and management. Describes interventional techniques for managing severe pain situations. Organized for speedy information retrieval.

Fundamentals of Cancer Pain Management Andrew Leitner, Christine Chang, 2021-09-20. This book presents a timely and multidisciplinary update on the modalities currently available for treating the most feared symptom of patients diagnosed with cancer. The book has been written by a multidisciplinary group of experts reflecting the evolution in pain and symptom management that has occurred in parallel with progress toward more targeted oncologic treatments. Oncologists, palliative care physicians, allied health professionals and other practitioners involved in caring for cancer patients will find Fundamentals of Cancer Pain Management to be a rich source of evidence based insights into effective pain management.

Computational Drug Discovery of Medicinal Compounds for Cancer Management Sibhghatulla Shaikh, Khurshid Ahmad, Mohammad Ehtisham Khan, Faez Iqbal Khan. Cancer is still a major public health concern and it is regarded as one of the leading causes of mortality globally. Despite significant advances in biotechnologies, developing practical and innovative small molecule drugs remains a difficult, time consuming and expensive task that necessitates collaborations from many experts in multidisciplinary fields such as computational biology, drug metabolism and clinical research among others. Therefore, new drug development procedures that save time and cost while increasing efficiency are in high demand. In silico screening in combination with molecular simulations has become an increasingly important aspect of modern drug development processes. Understanding ligand-protein interaction is critical in all areas of drug design and discovery. Computational approaches such as molecular docking, molecular dynamics simulations, pharmacophore modeling, and QSAR etc. are efficient tools for obtaining insights on structure-function relationships for small molecules and/or medicinal compounds with target proteins and are widely used in the identification and optimization of leads. The goal of the drug discovery process is to predict a drug candidate's metabolic fate in order to build a link between pharmacodynamics and pharmacokinetics and to identify the drug candidate's possible toxicity. The advancement of in silico techniques in recent years has enabled researchers to collect more trustworthy data. This Research Topic will focus on the use and application of computational methods that can aid in the drug design of medicinal compounds targeting various proteins for cancer management, which is a critical requirement in the pharmaceutical sectors.
