Little,2002-07 Congress recently authorized another round of defense base realign and closures beginning in 2005 but many in the Congress continue to have questions about the implementation of the prior rounds in 1988 1991 1993 and 1995 This report updates the status of the 4 prior rounds of defense base realign and closures at the conclusion of the 6 year implementation period associated with the 1995 round The report addresses the magnitude of the net savings accruing from the prior 4 closure rounds and the impact of remaining closure related costs on future savings DoDs progress in transferring unneeded base property to other users and the econ recovery of communities affected by base closures Military Base Closures David E. Lockwood,2003 Approximately 13 years ago in December 1988 the first military base closure commission recommended the closing and realignment of 145 US domestic bases and facilities This action was the consequence of the Department of Defense's broad reevaluation of its mission in conjunction with the weakening and ultimate collapse of the Soviet Union There was little need according to the Pentagon to continue to retain the vast Cold War era infrastructure Funds saved from closing down underutilised bases DOD further noted could be used to enhance development of new weapons and improved readiness Three additional rounds followed the 1988 round of infrastructure reductions in 1991 1993 and 1995 Since then no further rounds of base closures and realignments have been authorised by Congress despite repeated requests from the Department of Defense in recent years for two additional rounds. The reasons for congressional resistance are two fold. First there is concern over a likely backlash from constituents living in or near military installations. Second many Members of Congress remain wary about a repetition of the perceived political intrusion by the Clinton Administration that occurred in regard to the 1995 recommendations to close Kelly and McClellan air force bases. This book reveals the tension in the military facilities that may yet again be up for closure. Also discussed are the issues members of Congress feel need be answered before conducting a new round of base closures when the national security environment is uncertain.

The Roman Military Base at Dura-Europos, Syria Simon James, 2019-02-07 Dura Europos a Parthian ruled Greco Syrian city was captured by Rome c AD165. It then accommodated a Roman garrison until its destruction by Sasanian siege c AD256. Excavations of the site between the World Wars made sensational discoveries and with renewed exploration from 1986 to 2011 Dura remains the best explored city of the Roman East. A critical revelation was a sprawling Roman military base occupying a quarter of the city's interior. This included swathes of civilian housing converted to soldiers accommodation and several existing sanctuaries as well as baths an amphitheatre headquarters and more temples added by the garrison. Base and garrison were clearly fundamental factors in the history of Roman Dura but what impact did they have on the civil population. Original excavators gloomily portrayed Durenes evicted from their homes and holy places and subjected to extortion and impoverishment by brutal soldiers while recent commentators have envisaged military civilian concordia with shared prosperity and integration. Detailed examination of the evidence presents a new picture. Through the use of GPS satellite geophysical and archival evidence this volume shows that the Roman military base and resident community were even bigger than previously understood with both military and civil communities appearing much more internally complex than has been allowed until now. The result is a fascinating social dynamic which we can partly reconstruct giving us a nuanced picture of life in a city near the eastern frontier of the Roman world.

Military Base Closures: Opportunities Exist to Improve Environmental Cleanup Cost Reporting & to Expedite Transfer of Unneeded Property ,2007 While expected environmental cleanup costs for unneeded property arising from the 2005 BRAC round are not yet fully known Department of Defense DOD data indicate that about 950 million will be needed to clean up these bases adding to the estimated 13.2 billion total cleanup cost for the prior rounds. Although DOD's cleanup program has matured compared to prior BRAC rounds there are still many unknowns and the cleanup estimate for the 2005 round should be considered preliminary. In fact environmental cleanup costs are likely to increase as more intensive environmental investigations are undertaken additional hazardous conditions are discovered and future reuse plans are finalized. Furthermore Congress does not have full visibility over the total cost of DOD's BRAC cleanup efforts because none of the four reports DOD prepares on various aspects of environmental cleanup present all types of costs past and future to complete cleanup at each base. Compiling a complete picture of all costs requires extracting information from multiple reports as GAO has done to estimate the total cleanup cost for the four prior BRAC rounds. More complete and transparent cost information would assist Congress in conducting its oversight responsibilities for this multibillion dollar effort.

Military Base Realignments and Closures Phillip Herr, 2010-03 As part of the 2005 Base Realignment and Closure BRAC round the DoD plans to relocate over 123 000 military and DoD civilian personnel thereby increasing the staffing at 18 bases nationwide. In addition DoD and local officials expect thousands of dependents and DoD contractor employees to relocate to communities near the BRAC 2005 growth bases. These actions will greatly increase traffic in the surrounding communities. This report assesses and reports on the impact of BRAC related growth on transport systems and on the responses of federal, state and local governments. This report determined the 1 expected impact on transport in communities affected by BRAC decisions and 2 federal, state and local response to the expected impacts.

The Community of Our Military Base Portia Summers, 2016-07-15 Soldiers, families, teachers and doctors: these are just a few of the people who live and work together on a military base. Young readers will get to know all about these people and their role in this special community through the engaging simple text. Interesting facts and full color photos provide readers with a greater understanding of all aspects of military base life including school, shopping and recreation. A follow up activity helps students engage in critical thinking about the similarities and differences between two kinds of communities.

Military Base Realignments and Closures Brian J. Lepore, 2010-11 DoD's cost estimates to implement recommendations from the most recent Base Realignment and Closure BRAC round have steadily increased each budget year since 2005. This BRAC round is the fifth such round undertaken by DoD since 1988 and it is the biggest, most complex and costliest BRAC round ever. To implement BRAC 2005 DoD plans to spend nearly 35 billion. This review of DoD's FY 2010 BRAC budget indicates that DoD plans to spend more to implement BRAC 2005 recommendations compared to last year's BRAC budget. DoD's estimated one time costs to implement this BRAC round increased by almost 2.5 billion from FY 2009 to FY 2010, bringing the total implementation cost estimate for this BRAC round to 34.9 billion.
