

POSTURE CHANGES IN THE INDO-PACIFIC

During a meeting of the U.S. - Japan Security Consultative Committee (2+2), the leaders agreed on various posture changes that ensure the Marine Corps remains ready to address evolving and global security challenges.

- 3d Marine Division HQ and 12th Marines remain on Okinawa
- 12th Marines will transition to the 12th Marine Littoral Regiment – a ready and capable stand-in force in the first island chain – by FY 2025
- No new units will be added to Okinawa
- Approximately 9,000 Marines will still relocate off Okinawa and be strategically dispersed throughout the Indo-Pacific. The relocation will start in 2024 with Guam

- This agreement is not specifically tied to Force Design 2030 – the Marine Corps' modernization effort. However, it does compliment it by ensuring a ready, stand-in force remains in the first island chain
- This announcement reaffirms the basic tenets of the 2012 force posture realignment plan between the U.S. and Japan
- Current number of aircraft squadrons will remain on Okinawa
- Guam will serve as an important logistics hub

“Our enduring and undivided relationship with the Government of Japan is key to the development of new operational concepts that will ensure we are fully prepared to deter aggression in the region.”

- Gen. David H. Berger,
38th Commandant
of the Marine Corps
