reduction She also responds to Nietzsche's challenges about the worth of the concept of evil and she uses her theory to argue that evils are more important than merely unjust inequalities She applies the theory in explorations of war rape and violence against intimates She also takes up what Primo Levi called the gray zone where victims become complicit in perpetrating on others evils that threaten to engulf themselves While most past accounts of evil have focused on perpetrators Card begins instead from the position of the victims but then considers more generally how to respond to and live with evils as victims as perpetrators and as those who have become both
