Man The Land:

Populating No Man's Land János Mátyás Kovács, 2018-09-15 This edited volume opening the new series Revisiting Communism Collectivist Economic Thought in Historical Perspective focuses on the concepts of ownership the cornerstone of political economy in Soviet type societies The authors main objective is to contribute to the still unwritten chapter on collectivism in the history books of modern economic thought They trace the lengthy evolution of economic ideas of property reform under communism leading from the doctrine of blanket nationalization to projects of moderate privatization in eight countries of Eastern Europe and China The comparative analysis sheds light upon the tireless attempts of reform minded economists in communist countries to populate the no man s land of social property with quasi private economic actors such as bodies of workers self management and managers of state owned companies For a long time these were expected to crowd out the communist nomenklatura from its actual ownership position without challenging the primacy of collective property rights The fact that even the most radical reformers came to the conclusion that such surrogate owners would not be able to break the power of the ruling elite only on the eve of the 1989 revolutions demonstrates the immense strength of collectivist ideas The authors coin the term trap of collectivism to warn those demanding nationalization or other forms of non private ownership today it is rather easy even with the best intentions to walk into this trap but it may take long decades to break out from it

A New No-Man's-Land Esther Whitfield, 2024-07-15 Guant namo sits at the center of two of the most vexing issues of US policy of the past century relations with Cuba and the Global War on Terror It is a contested extralegal space In A New No Man s Land Esther Whitfield explores a multilingual archive of materials produced both at the US naval base and in neighboring Cuban communities and proposes an understanding of Guant namo as a coherent borderland region where experiences of isolation are opportunities to find common ground She analyzes poetry art memoirs and documentary films produced on both sides of the border Authors and artists include prisoners guards linguists chaplains lawyers and journalists as well as Cuban artists and dissidents Their work reveals surprising similarities limited access to power and self representation mobility restricted by geography if not captivity and immersion in political languages that have ascribed them rigid roles Read together the work of these disparate communities traces networks that extend among individuals in the Guant namo region inward to Cuba and outward to the Caribbean the Americas Europe and the Middle East

("Snapper") McNeile,2019-05-09 Excerpt During the first few days of November 1914 Messines was lost in silence during the first few days of June 1917 Messines was regained and the noise of its capture was heard in London And during the two and a half years between these two events the game over the water has been going on It hasn't changed very much in the time that game to the player To those who look on doubtless the difference is enormous Now they speak easily of millions where before they thought diffidently of thousands But to the individual well Messines is lost or Messines is won and he is the performer It is of those performers that I write of the hole and corner work of the little thumb nail sketches which go to make up the big battle panels so ably depicted over the matutinal bacon and eggs And as one privileged to assist at times in that hole and corner work I offer these pages as a small tribute to those who have done so far more than I to the men who have borne the burden of the days the months the years to the men who have saved the world to the Infantrymen No Man's Land Eric L.
