became writer and coordinator of Title I projects for the Bureau of Indian Affairs During her 22 years of teaching Lucas was the recipient of several teaching awards and was featured in Who's Who Among American Teachers in 1996 In White Woman in a Red Man's World Lucas expounds her philosophy of teaching with the belief that teachers accurate assessments of students needs well devised lesson plans and skillful presentations add to the legitimacy of the teaching profession just as well conceived diagnoses prescriptions and treatments give legitimacy to the medical profession Her inspiration books include The Hanging of Hiram the Hoss a historical novel and In Spite Of Cancer an inspirational book for cancer victims and families back cover

The Acoustics of the Social on Page and Screen Nathalie Aghoro, 2021-09-09 Sound positions individuals as social subjects The presence of human beings animals objects or technologies reverberates into the spaces we inhabit and produces distinct soundscapes that render social practices group associations and socio cultural tensions audible The Acoustics of the Social on Page and Screen unites interdisciplinary perspectives on the social dimensions of sound in audiovisual and literary environments The essays in the collection discuss soundtracks for shared values group membership and collective agency and engage with the subversive functions of sound and sonic forms of resistance in American literature film and TV

Creating the College Man Daniel A. Clark, 2010-05-25 How did a college education become so vital to American notions of professional and personal advancement Reared on the ideal of the self made man American men had long rejected the need for college But in the early twentieth century this ideal began to change as white men born in the U S faced a barrage of new challenges among them a stultifying bureaucracy and growing competition in the workplace from an influx of immigrants and women At this point a college education appealed to young men as an attractive avenue to success in a dawning corporate age Accessible at first almost exclusively to middle class white males college funneled these aspiring elites toward a more comfortable and certain future in a revamped construction of the American dream In Creating the College Man Daniel A Clark argues that the dominant mass media of the era popular magazines such as Cosmopolitan and the Saturday Evening Post played an integral role in shaping the immediate and long term goals of this select group of men In editorials articles fiction and advertising magazines depicted the college man as simultaneously cultured and scientific genteel and athletic polished and tough Such depictions underscored the college experience in powerful and attractive ways that neatly united the incongruous strains of American manhood and linked a college education to corporate success
