Managerial Applications Of Multivariate Analysis In Marketing:

Managerial Applications of Multivariate Analysis in Marketing James H. Myers, Gary M. Mullet, 2003 Multivariate statistical analysis techniques are now an integral part of most large scale strategic market studies so marketing practitioners must learn what these techniques can do and how to apply them However most marketers have little or no formal training in complex analytical methods and many have neither the time nor the interest in acquiring this knowledge If you are one of them this book is for you Managerial Applications of Multivariate Analysis in Marketing is written for marketing research practitioners even those who don't have time to read it cover to cover Each chapter is as self contained as possible so that researchers and decision makers can more quickly understand the fundamentals of any one statistical technique It is a reference book not a textbook so it does not focus on the statistical techniques themselves and leave you to wonder how they apply to marketing Most of the calculations in this book can be done by a personal computer so the authors only cover the math you need while focusing on the marketing implications

Leeflang, 2013-12-01 The observation that many models are built but few are used has almost become a commonplace in the management science and operations research literature Nevertheless the statement remains to a large extent true today also and perhaps even more so where marketing models are concerned This led Philippe Naert now about four years ago to write a concept text of a few hundred pages on the subject of how to build implementable marketing models that is models that can and will be used One of the readers of that early manuscript was Peter Leeflang He made suggestions leading to a more consistent ordering of the material and proposed the addition of some topics and the expansion of others to make the book more self contained This resulted in a co authorship and a revised version which was written by Peter Leeflang and consisted of a reshuffling and an expansion of the original material by about fifty per cent Several meetings between the co authors produced further refinements in the text and the sequence of chapters and sections after which Philippe Naert again totally reworked the whole text This led to a new expansion again by fifty per cent of the second iteration The third iteration also required the inclusion of a great deal of new literature indicating that the field is making fast progress and that implementation has become a major concern to marketing model builders Management, 1968 Market Structure
