Management Education Robert R. Locke, 1998 Drawn from a 20th century time frame these readings about management education cover a complexity of subjects The key event American managerial capitalism's rise to global hegemony occurred at mid century it focused the world's attention on American management education That story is told in numerous articles about the revolution in business education within the USA about the propagation of American managerial knowhow and its reception abroad But the readings also cover alternate forms of management education rooted in quite different capitalist systems of enterprise governance with emphasis especially on a German tradition that rivaled the American before 1940 and a Japanese that emerged internationally in the 1980s These readings relate not only how the alternative traditions in management education retained their vigor throughout the century but how those mid century predominant American views about management education are being challenged as the century ends in America itself

Practically Academic Mitchell J. Larson, 2003 This work problematizes business school formation during the 1960s as a stage in the professionalization of British business management In reconstructing the political and economic circumstances surrounding the business schools creation the thesis illustrates various contemporary expectations for the field of management education Throughout the thesis the background formative details and subsequent impact on the economy of the first two British business schools are explored in two ways first the study highlights the paradox between industrial support for management education as such and later unwillingness to hire the graduates of business schools Second it suggests that the formation of business schools may be viewed as a case study of post war Americanization The work emphasizes that business school advocates faced entrenched resistance to academic management programs arising from competing methods of preparation for business careers as well as the academic establishment The thesis demonstrates that the creation of American style management education institutions reflected British desires to elevate the social status of business management practitioners and simultaneously improve business performance      Historical Dictionary of London Kenneth John Panton,2001 Panton details London s growth from its foundation in Roman times to its modern place as one of the world s preeminent financial commercial and cultural capitals Entries cover general themes such as immigration housing street markets and health care as well as specific topics including individual historic buildings financial institutions museums transport modes major city center hotels and West End theaters Significant contributors to the city s government such as the legendary Dick Whittington also receive attention along with immigrant groups and major events such as the Great Fire the Great Plague the development of the subway system and the growth of the Stock Exchange In addition a chronology details major events there are lists of Lord Mayors and leading local government officials and a table outlines population growth over the last two hundred years Appendices contain borough council contact information and world wide web addresses which provide access to additional information through the Internet      International Journal of Maritime History ,2007      From Empire to Europe Geoffrey Owen,1999 He analyses the interaction between individual firms industries and countries demonstrating the influence of national institutions and policies on which types of industry are likely to succeed      Business Archives ,1991
