Managerialism The Great Debate:

Managerialism Mark Considine, Martin Painter, 1997 Looks at the Australian public sector reforms of the 1980s and 1990s with a critical eye and deals with the major criticism that these changes have resulted in the abandonment of public service ethics

Strategic Choices in Reforming Public Service Employment C. Dell'Aringa, G. Della Rocca, B. Keller, Giuseppe Della Rocca, 2001-09-25 Although many industrialized countries have had to face the same political and economic pressures in reforming their public sectors there have been different reactions and a diversity of solutions to the emerging problems This book examines the most significant initiatives targeted towards the restructuring of public sector employment relations in countries belonging to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development The contributors focus on national and local governments and health education and social services The first section provides an up to date analysis of six European countries The second part considers the USA Canada New Zealand Australia and Japan

New Public Management Jan-Erik Lane, 2002-09-11 New public management is a topical phrase to describe how management techniques from the private sector are now being applied to public services This book provides a completely up to date overview of the main theoretical models of public sector management and examines the key changes that have occurred as more and more public services are contracted out to private organisations as the public sector itself grapples with internal markets Drawing on economics organisational theory and politics Jan Erik Lane presents new public management from an analytical perspective This book uses game theory and empirical studies in order to assess the pros and cons of new public management

Making Australian Foreign Policy Allan Gyngell, Michael Wesley, 2003-06-27 Table of contents

Market Failure, Government Failure, Leadership and Public Policy B. Dollery, J. Wallis, 1999-07-19 A global wave of reform is fundamentally reshaping the role of the state in national economies This book provides a fresh and accessible perspective on the political economy of this megatrend It traces the theoretical roots of the reforms to developments in public economics which emphasize problems of government rather than market failure It then breaks new ground in developing an economic theory of leadership to explain how policy leadership networks can strive to influence the direction of reform processes

Governance and European Civil Society Acar Kutay, 2014-02-24 This book provides a critical analysis of the European Union's approach to governance focusing on the way in which civil society is incorporated within the EU decision making process and arguing that it is not conducive to the democratisation of EU governance Using a governmentality approach Kutay demonstrates that civic actors are not incorporated into EU decision making processes as they are rather they are formed manipulated and guided by political programming The author explains how this acts to prescribe and construct particular types of subjectivities thereby limiting and constraining the types of participation that might emerge as part of European civil society and the process of political participation Governance and European Civil Society will be of interest to students and scholars of European Union politics global governance civil society and democracy

Central and East European studies and political and international theory Managing Public Services Ahmed Shafiqul Huque, Grace Lee, 2018-01-12 This title was first published in 2000 The management of public services is becoming an increasingly difficult task Demands are increasing while funds appear to be decreasing but quality of service must remain high New services are required demands have to be faced activities don't always go according to plan and problems emerge in unexpected places and at unusual times and public managers are expected to deal with these deviations from their regular work patterns While some activities are concrete in nature and can be seen such as medical care and education others are obscured from public view With governments emphasizing areas that produce visible and quantifiable results they often neglect the intangible services that must also be provided to the public Poor performance in these areas can contribute to major crisis in public organizations This volume examines four case studies in the context of the changing political and social environment of the new Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China The use of these cases from the public sector in Hong Kong will hopefully help readers to understand the difficulties faced by modern governments in providing basic services to the public Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) Managing Decentralisation A New Role for Labour Market Policy OECD, 2003-10-24 To ensure that people's needs are met governments decentralise the way policies are designed and implemented This conference proceedings presents the points of view from a variety of countries in the area of labour market policy The Politics of Teacher Professional Development Ian Hardy, 2012 The Politics of Teacher Professional Development Policy Research and Practice provides innovative insights into teachers continuing development and learning in contemporary western contexts Rather than providing a list of how-tos and must-dos this volume is premised on the understanding that by learning more about the current conditions under which teachers and other educators work and learn it is possible to understand and consequently improve the learning opportunities teachers experience Teacher professional development is not simply construed as an isolated series of events such as day-long workshops marking the beginning of each school year or term or individualistic one-off activities focused on new teaching approaches curricula or assessment strategies Rather through application of sociologist Pierre Bourdieu's understanding of social practices as contested teacher professional development is revealed as a complex social practice which exists as policy as a research product and process and as an important part of teachers work The book reveals how PD as policy research and teachers work are inherently contested An extended series of case studies of teacher professional development practices from Canada England and Australia are employed to show how these tensions play out in complex ways in policy and practice Making Public Policy Mark Considine, 2005 This text provides a comprehensive and up-to-date introduction to key issues and contemporary debates in public policy It develops a framework for understanding the way social contexts policy histories and institutional pathways generate opportunities The Routledge Research Companion to Planning and Culture Dr Greg Young, Professor Deborah Stevenson, 2013-09-28 It has become increasingly evident that effective planning for sustainable communities environments and economies pivots on the ability of planners to see the possibilities for culture in comprehensive social historical and environmental terms and to more fully engage with the cultural practices processes and theorisation that comprise a social formation More broadly an approach to planning theory and practice that is itself formed through a close engagement with culture is required This Research Companion brings together leading experts from around the world to map the contours of the relationship between planning and culture and to present these inextricably linked concepts and issues together in one place By examining significant trends in varying national and international contexts the contributors scrutinise the theories and practices of both planning and culture and explore not only their interface but significant divergences and tensions In doing so this collection provides the first comprehensive overview and analysis of planning and culture interdisciplinary and international in scope It is comprised of six parts organised around the themes of global and historical contexts key dimensions of planning and cultural theory and practice and cultural and planning dynamics Each section includes a final chapter that provides a case study lens which pulls the themes of the section together with reference to a significant planning issue or initiative

Developing Communities for the Future 5ed Susan Kenny, Phil Connors, 2016-09-01 Developing Communities for the Future provides a comprehensive introduction to the theory processes and practices of community development It offers insights into the challenges and dilemmas of this demanding field and considers the ways in which it can empower citizens Engaging case studies illustrate how community development practitioners operate in everyday situations This new edition highlights cutting edge issues and new technologies that are influencing practice It demonstrates the dynamic nature of the field and how practitioners can help communities respond to the current challenges they face

The Expansion of Management Knowledge Kerstin Sahlin-Andersson, Lars Engwall, 2002 The past few decades have witnessed a dramatic expansion of management education consulting and the formalization of management practice with a widespread diffusion of management ideas across sectors and continents This book describes and analyzes this worldwide flow of management ideas and the key carriers of these ideas

Development Centre Studies Public-Private Dialogue in Developing Countries Opportunities and Risks OECD, 2007-09-20 This analysis identifies the advantages that public private dialogue can bring while cautioning against the very real dangers it can present to fragile states and recent democracies

Technologies of Learning Ambigapathy Pandian, 2001 The intertwining of education and new information and communication technologies is creating a new multi channelled learning environment where learners study and connect with one another across classroom community and country borders in new and exciting ways Conventional ideas about education institutions as sites for transmitting knowledge efficiently and effectively are currently being challenged as we pave ways to focus on the digital economy knowledge workers and lifelong learning in diverse settings This expansion of new knowledge will demand that workers learn rapidly and keep their skills current In this regard lifelong learning is a fundamental component of the new times where one perseveres to learn and enhance skills in
