Self Managed Learning in Action Ian Cunningham, Ben Bennett, 2017-07-05 Over the last two decades the importance of Self Managed Learning SML has become increasingly recognized This book shows how it has revolutionized learning in organizations such as Ericsson PPP Healthcare and Sainsbury s and how it has contributed to wider organizational change The book consists of four Parts Part I places SML against the backdrop of changing global trends and the organizational responses to them It examines how these have led to the need for people to be more self managing and provides an overview of an SML programme Part II shows SML programmes in action by presenting case studies from nine very different organizations which have used this approach Part III looks at SML methods in more depth by concentrating on strategic learning contracts learning groups and how SML can be supported Finally Part IV concludes and looks to the future Rigorously researched Self Managed Learning in Action demonstrates that this important approach can be used in a wide variety of contexts and cultures in the private sector and in the public sector and for a wide range of staff Implementing On-the-Job Learning (In Action Case Study Series) Jack J. Phillips, 2023-05-26 Do You Want to Make Better Use of Your Organizational Resources and Create More Relevant More Effective Training The emergence of the knowledge economy has brought new challenges to most organizations To succeed organizations have to respond quickly to this continuum of change Off the job training requires a sizeable investment in organizational resources with sometimes questionable outcomes This book Implementing On the Job Learning will illustrate how other companies have used and implemented a particular approach to facilitating employee learning in organizations structured on the job learning Structured on the job learning programs have the potential to make better use of your organization s resources and create training that is more relevant and effective This casebook should interest anyone involved in human resource development especially those who make decisions regarding the design and delivery of training programs The primary audience is practitioners who want to implement on the job training programs but have been frustrated in their attempts to find solid real life examples Instructors students in university and seminar settings and researchers will also find this book to be a useful reference Another audience is organization managers who want to make sure that trainers are adequately informed about potential training options No matter how you plan to use this book you will find it a valuable tool as you decide how to best meet the training development and performance goals of your organization ASTD is proud to present the 27th book in the IN ACTION Series offering 13 case studies from a variety of organizations The case study authors are diligently pursuing accountability in their areas of expertise Through their writing they share experiences at the forefront of applying leading edge principles of on the job learning Turning Learning into Action Emma Weber, 2014-03-03 Learning transfer is the missing link in training Using conventional approaches to training an average of just 10 20% of learning makes it back into the workplace and contributes to better business outcomes With the current increased emphasis on efficiency and cost effectiveness such a dismal record is no longer acceptable To improve these statistics and to make training truly valuable we must recognise that successful learning is not just about good content and well executed programmes but also about finding ways to facilitate genuine behavioural change and accountability back in the workplace Turning Learning into Action provides the necessary tools to enable trainers buyers of training and L D professionals to do just this It presents the new proven TLA methodology which acknowledges the important role of ADDIE in the instructional design process but takes learning a step further TLA focuses on the fact that to generate significant behavioural change consistent systematic follow up after the training event is critical Learning in Action David A. Garvin, 2003-03-25 Most managers today understand the value of building a learning organization Their goal is to leverage knowledge and make it a key corporate asset yet they remain uncertain about how best to get started What they lack are guidelines and tools that transform abstract theory the learning organization as an ideal into hands on implementation For the first time in Learning in Action David Garvin helps managers make the leap from theory to proven practice Garvin argues that at the heart of organizational learning lies a set of processes that can be designed deployed and led He starts by describing the basic steps in every learning process acquiring interpreting and applying knowledge then examines the critical challenges facing managers at each of these stages and the various ways the challenges can be met Drawing on decades of scholarship and a wealth of examples from a wide range of fields Garvin next introduces three modes of learning intelligence gathering experience and experimentation and shows how each mode is most effectively deployed These approaches are brought to life in complete richly detailed case studies of learning in action at organizations such as Xerox L L Bean the U S Army and GE The book concludes with a discussion of the leadership role that senior executives must play to make learning a day to day reality in their organizations
